I believe that it wouldn't make any difference if you had the most efficient SRA setup in the country and the most efficient county welfare department, there would still be a wastage in the duplication, because you can see where we have an aged mother getting old age security and she has an unemployed son age 25, we have two case-workers, one from the county and one from the SRA going out to visit that family. There is a duplication of case workers, of stenographic work, of traveling time and traveling pay, and all the way through there is duplication and even if both of them are very efficient, you have got that thing to consider. I think that if we had local administration administered under the Board of Supervisors with a strong State central supervision similar to what we have under the categorical aids and under the supervision of the State Department of Social Welfare, where the budgets are set up by the State and there is a leeway which could be taken care of corresponding to the needs of that particular locality, then we would be sure of the right kind of personnel, that the aid would be administered similarly all over the State, but that you would take into account the differences in each vicinity and then your taxpaying groups, the farm bureaus, the granges the chambers of commerce, would be able to appear before the Board of Supervisors as they do now in the cases of county welfare departments, and protest certain expenditures which they might think are unwarranted or acceptive. I believe it would be more efficient and savings in both state and county overhead."

County, for instance, they had in the four categorical aids for February 1940, 690 cases and they paid out \$24,000. The administrative cost was \$423 for the \$24,000 and they had four employees. In Calaveras County they had 338 cases, of the four categorical aids and there were two employees—this is in the county office—and they paid out for the year \$124,000 at an administrative cost of \$3,000. In Marin County, for the month of March, 1940, they had 1037 cases of the four categorical aids, and they paid out \$32,856 with an administrative overhead of \$1800. That is representative of what we found in those counties with three and four people handling as many as 1,000 cases in the four categorical aids—around  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent to 3 per cent.

Further:

“Sonoma County, as of March, 1940, had 442 case loads, SRA and the total amount paid to the recipients was \$12,222.29. They had 22 employees. Their administrative cost was \$3,058.92. The County of Sonoma, handling old age security, blind, children’s aid, indigents, for the month of March had 2587 cases, expended \$92,811.80 at an administrative cost of approximately  $2\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. I believe the administrative cost of Sonoma County SRA is about 43 per cent, if my figures are correct. That is an example of many of the counties through which we traveled. I just grabbed that one at random.”

SECTION 10

THE HOEHLER STATEMENT

(Perhaps no more important hearing was conducted by the committee than the one in San Francisco on April 24th at which Mr. Fred K. Hoehler of Chicago, Director of the American Public Welfare Association, appeared. In addition to giving a comprehensive statement on “the relief problem,” Mr. Hoehler answered questions of the committee in a round-table discussion. The committee would prefer to include the complete transcript of the hearing in this report, but because of its length there follows only a part. The complete record of the hearing is to be found in P-5 of the transcript.)

MR. HOEHLER: If there is any one item which has appeared in the newspapers about California more frequently than another, it is the situation in SRA. The more conservative newspapers have used it as a critical attack on relief and public assistance by saying, “Here relief is thrown into politics.”

I have followed that up and I found out some of the actual circumstances. I am not going to discuss that, but I do want to be helpful to you and pull out of my experience those things that might be useful.

I was interested in the discussion here before the hearing started on the single man, and, off hand, with the reservation that I may want to change it after I listen to more discussion about your local situation, I think the Senator is right; the unsettled person, the person without domicile in any of your counties, or the single person who is not located in a home of his own, becomes pretty much of a State problem, largely because the housing of those people in homes in the County would be extremely costly, to set up a home or a domicile for each individual. That would be just impossible to finance in the counties.

STATE RELIEF CAMPS FOR SINGLE MEN

If it is a State problem, there ought to be some responsibility for the State to make decisions as to the character of people who would be accepted in the camps. I hesitate to suggest that you go into camps that would be in the nature of a concentration camp, such as some of us have seen in Europe. Therefore, to make this mandatory on the individual to go to a camp is a little bit difficult. It ought to be handled through persuasion and discussion, but if it is made mandatory it would put California in the position of being criticized as setting up a concentration camp if it was mandatory in your legislation. If every person who had a single status and no home would be required to enter one of those camps—and I throw this out as a caution—it would be misinterpreted.

The camps should be set up for single men, if you are going to do it that way, with the understanding that those people who are responsible for administration would see to it that as many of those single men be sent to those camps for work projects, or treatment, if necessary, as possible.

Now, the Hooide Gibson Camp may be a camp that is necessary in this State for taking care of people who are called "unemployable," whether they are unemployable or not, because they don't fit into any existing jobs.

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: They are rheumatic cases, arthritic cases, and there are baths and warm springs at Camp Gibson.

MR. HOEHLER: There is a camp that needs institutional management, it does not need work management, and there should be on hand somebody who has practical nursing experience to look after that. I had not known about the Hooide Gibson camp and I am not qualified to talk about it, but I think the suggestion made by the Senator of State-run camps is the right line of thought.

The question as to who should decide who goes to the camps is another matter. If—and I am stating a hypothesis here—if you decide to turn the general relief program back to the counties with State supervision then I think it is necessary * * *

UNSETTLED PERSONS IN OTHER STATES

About single people or unsettled people; in New York State, which I will discuss first, where you have a situation that is fairly comparable to your own State here, the counties take care of these people, all of the single and unsettled people. They take care of them in homes, they take care of them by arranging for boarding them out if they are single men not eligible for old age assistance, and the State then reimburses the County for the people who have no domicile or who are unsettled in the County but are State residents. The State pays for it by reimbursement to the counties. Then if the person happens to be a resident of any other state, the State takes the responsibility, the State Social Welfare Department, of seeing that that person is moved back to their own state.

Now, of course, their problem of non-residents is about three per cent of their total case load. Yours would be a much larger percentage.

Now, to get to a discussion of handling SRA in various states, in the State of Ohio there is an extremely complicated system of handling the general relief program. The township trustees are responsible, the cities are responsible, and the counties are responsible, so you have a situation that is even more complicated than what you have here. It is not shown up as much because you don't have the thing centralized in one place where the attacks will be directed, because you have them scattered over something like 1300 different units. Of course that is a situation that must be corrected, and I have been in conference with the Governor there and others about the need for it, because they see the need. It is a question of getting the proper legislation.

The State of Ohio provides some money for general relief. That money is given to the counties or to the cities on the basis of a percentage allotment, and the counties and the cities then make up the difference themselves.

DISTRIBUTION OF RELIEF COSTS

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: How is the percentage derived? You say it is on a percentage allotment?

MR. HOEHLER: It is 40/60, 40 per cent from the State and 60 per cent from the county, or it might be 50/50. That is a matter of administrative discussion. The township trustees take care of their so-called pauper poor out of the money which they raise in taxation and they get no assistance from the State.

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Those are our indigents?

MR. HOEHLER: Those are your indigents. Now, in the State of Pennsylvania the State handles the entire job. There is a State Department of Public Assistance which gets State money entirely, and that money is spent in the counties for public assistance, old age assistance, or assistance to children, and for general relief.

The county organizations, however, are administered by boards of social welfare in the counties, or boards of public assistance in the counties—they call them Boards of Welfare or Boards of Assistance—those boards are appointed by the Governor. The Administrator of the County is appointed by the Board of Social Welfare in the county from lists which are made up after civil service examination. • • •

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: The cities and the counties pay the 60 per cent?

MR. HOEHLER: Yes, and the State pays 40 per cent.

SENATOR DEUEL: What state is that?

MR. HOEHLER: New York.

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Compare that with our proposal that the State shall pay 70 or 75 per cent here.

MR. HOEHLER: Well, I think that your State of California is different from the standpoint of the wealth of the counties and the tax set-up in the counties. The city of New York, the city of Buffalo, and the city of Rochester—most of those counties are fairly well off. There are only one or two impoverished counties in the State of New York, and they are able to do a larger percentage of the job than you can do here.

If the State pays 60 per cent in New York, as they have done in various times in the past—the thing fluctuates depending upon what the Legislature thinks or what pressure is brought on the Legislature—if the counties pay 40 per cent they can well afford to pay that, or they can pay 60 per cent whereas here you have a number of counties that could not afford to do the job on their own, or even 40 per cent of it, because the tax basis is so limited and your tax structure is not the same as it is in New York. The State has a wider range for taxation.

STATE AND COUNTY COOPERATION.

The State Department of Social Welfare in New York has supervisory authority over the counties, or the cities, as the case may be. The actual administration of this money is done in the local government, but the State Department will say, "You shall have certain standards for personnel, you shall have certain standards of relief, and certain procedures," and the counties are required to keep records as set forth by the State Department and to report to the State Department on forms.

Then the State Department has authority to go into the county periodically and do what they call a case review or make spot checks of what is actually happening in the county. That enables the State Department to give adequate supervision and to say to a county, "You are not doing this job," or "Two-thirds of your people are on here because of political pressure which has been brought on the county and you have got to reduce this load continually until you get to the people who are really there on the basis of need and not on the basis of political preferment or because of personal preferment."

There are instances, of course, where personal politics can play a more important part than partisan politics, so the State Department has to check on that constantly. That is what they call supervision. Supervision is merely a method by which the State will get some information from the counties as to what the counties are doing with their money. If they think that the county is not expending the State's money properly, the State then can crack down on the county with its restrictions. The State could even go to the point of refusing to give the county their 60 per cent or their 40 per cent, as the case may be, which the State now allocates to the counties.

In that state, as I said before, if the county takes care of the unsettled person, the person without domicile, the county then requests the State for reimbursement and that becomes a State case handled by the county organization for the purpose of efficiency and economy. The State could send in a duplicating organization paralleling the county organization, but they prefer not to do that. They prefer to assign responsibility to the county and then keep a rigid control on those cases for which they pay 100 per cent.

I may be taking a lot for granted, and in case you don't understand, please ask questions.

SENATOR DEUEL: Doesn't that result in a great deal of controversy between the county and State authorities?

MR. HOEHLER: No. For instance, the county will send a payroll up to the State, and they will indicate that on that payroll there are 50 people in the county who are so-called State charges. The State then goes back, sends its auditors back and checks those from the standpoint of eligibility. For instance, they will take out case No. 1 and they will find out why the county determined that case No. 1 was a State case, and if the auditors say that that is not a State case, that it is a county case, then the county has full responsibility for that and it is thrown out and there is no reimbursement. They can do that either by a careful check of individual cases or they can do it by spot check. New York prefers to do it by checking the individual cases.

Then that case is carried for a number of months, and the State will go back and make a check after, say, three months, they will check the same cases to find out whether the cases should continue to be State or county cases.

SENATOR DEUEL: Of course, you understand that in California, as I understand it, we approach the subject on a different basis.

MR. HOEHLER: You say that the employable unemployed are State charges regardless of where they live, and that the indigents and unemployables are county charges.

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: How many states in the Union, Mr. Hoehler, have a duplication of the offices and personnel in the State and County units?

MR. HOEHLER: About 15 or 20 states. That duplication sometimes is more complicated than what you experience here.

SENATOR MIXTER: You are familiar with the system used in California for raising revenue for State purposes, Mr. Hoehler?

MR. HOEHLER: I think I am.

SENATOR MIXTER: It is not clear to me how revenue for operating the State Aid in New York is raised. Would you explain that?

TAXES FOR RELIEF FUNDS.

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: Our county tax is an ad valorem tax on land, and all other taxes are used by the State. We have some thirteen or fourteen types of taxation in the State.

MR. HOEHLER: The situation in New York is about the same as it is here, except that the counties are permitted—for instance, the City of New York has a special tax on sales and a cigarette tax, and some of the counties put on amusement taxes, and the cities put them on, to raise additional revenue, but for the most part it is an ad valorem property tax.

SENATOR MIXTER: For State purposes?

MR. HOEHLER: For county purposes.

SENATOR MIXTER: Is there any ad valorem tax applied in the State of New York for raising State Revenue at all?

MR. HOEHLER: There are excise taxes on utilities, but no property tax.

SENATOR MIXTER: Not on common property?

MR. HOEHLER: No, but there is a State income tax in the State of New York.

SENATOR DEUEL: No state sales tax?

MR. HOEHLER: No.

COST OF ADMINISTERING RELIEF.

SENATOR MAYO: What is the percentage of administrative overhead in the State of New York? Do you have any idea on that?

MR. HOEHLER: Yes; 13 per cent.

SENATOR PHILLIPS: What would you say in other states?

MR. HOEHLER: It is 13 per cent in New York. It is awfully hard to compare percentages because New York has a total welfare and relief budget of nearly $70,000,000, and when you get up into huge figures your percentages fall down a little bit. If other states did the job as thoroughly as New York does it from the standpoint of social workers and investigations and office equipment, the percentage might run as high as 17 to 20 per cent.

In the State of Illinois, for instance, where they have got a situation very much like yours, with a State Relief Administration operating throughout the State and paralleled by a State Welfare Department operating the categories, the percentage is 10 per cent in the State of Illinois. Now they are having extreme difficulty in making that 10 per cent do a good job, and in the city of Chicago the Governor's Commission, which was made up of business men, went into this thing and they found—they set up what they called an experimental station, in which they put the best trained people they could get, and they reduced the case load so that each worker was handling a hundred or less, and they saved $14,000 in three months. They published a report which we reprinted and sent around to the states. The title of the report was, "Adequate Service Brings Economy."

ASSEMBLYMAN LORE: That is, they ran their percentage of administrative cost up?

MR. HOEHLER: They ran it up but saved in total cost.

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: How much did it run it up? You said it was a ten per cent administrative cost before that; what would you say it came to, 13 or 14 per cent?

MR. HOEHLER: They ran it up to 14 per cent, but they saved $14,000 in three months. That report is available to your committee. You can wire for it. It is a business man's report. Those men decided they would get rid of social workers.

15 PER CENT ENOUGH "TO DO A GOOD JOB."

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: I think the interesting thing for this Committee is that we set in the bill a limitation of 15 per cent.

MR. HOEHLER: Fifteen per cent ought to enable the department to do a good job. I say that with some reservation, but on the experience in other states I would say that a program such as the one you have here could be handled on a 15 per cent administrative cost basis. Ten per cent is too low. This business man's committee requested the Legislature to remove the limitation on administrative cost and to make it a matter of administrative discretion. The Legislature chose not to do it, and they are operating under 10 per cent. In fact, in the rural districts they are operating under 8 per cent.

SENATOR DEUEL: You made the statement that these business men were determined to get rid of social workers. Did they do so?

COMPETENT WORKERS SAVE MONEY.

MR. HOEHLER: No, they decided that if they did so it would cost them more money. They ran this experimental station and then they had a control station in two districts, one which was handled by competent people, trained people, with a good administrator, a man with some administrative experience. They got that fellow out of one of the business houses where he was doing some personnel work, something closely allied to social work. In the other station they took away all the trained people and put in a lot of people who said, "We know how to do this because we have been helping people all our lives." The difference was just unbelievable. They did demonstrate that they needed competent people to do the job and they demonstrated that they could save money.

SENATOR DEUEL: How are these administrators appointed, by political classification or upon merit, or how?

POLITICS IN RELIEF "MOST DANGEROUS."

MR. HOEHLER: For the most part that administration has been free from politics completely. Governor Horner has been importuned constantly to make political appointments in his Relief Administration, but he has said it is the most dangerous thing we can do, that anybody who has any sense, or a wise politician, will keep politics out of this thing because it has got a kick-back that will ruin any politician or anybody with political ambitions.

The same thing was discovered in the State of Pennsylvania. The present Governor, Governor James, said to me, "After I looked over what my predecessor did in political manipulation in this relief program, I am determined that I am not going to commit political suicide by interfering in the administration of relief." Whether he is doing that or not is a question of opinion, and whether Governor Earle, who preceded him did or not is a question of opinion. That was the Governor's statement for public consumption.

SENATOR DEUEL: Of course, that is merely a matter of the mental attitude of the executives?

MR. HOEHLER: Yes.

SENATOR DEUEL: If he wants to make political appointments there is nothing to stop him from doing so?

MR. HOEHLER: I am enough of a politician myself to recognize that. . . .

WELL TRAINED PERSONNEL AVAILABLE.

MR. HOEHLER: After all, these programs are with people and the question is, what are the effects of our modern economy on people, what is done to people, what has happened to industry that so many people are out of work, and how can those people be retrained or readjusted or reoriented, or any other change in their lives that will make them more available for jobs, and in the meantime what should be our attitude toward people? Should we look on people as we do on machines, or should we look on them as people who must be able to help themselves through the operation of their mental capacities and their physical capacities, and if so, what does the meager relief allowance do to those people: Does it make them less employable or more employable? What does an adequate relief allowance do for those people, does it keep them off from work when work is available? What is the relationship of work to the dole, if you please? That kind of study can be presented to the schools of social work today and I am confident that that is the thing that is going to be done.

SENATOR DEUEL: But they are not as yet turning out any graduates under that system you have outlined there.

MR. HOEHLER: You would be surprised how many people who have graduated from that type of school have changed their approach to this problem.

Now, as an administrator for one county I had about 800 different social workers, and when I handled the State job I was simply doing it temporarily and we had a number of different kinds of social workers. The social workers who came to me had some knowledge and some understanding of the job that they had to do, and they learned more after they walked into our shop than they learned in the previous four years. The reason they were able to learn more after they walked into our shop was because they had some background of training, they knew how to absorb knowledge, and they knew how to change their point of view. If they didn't know how to change their point of view, if they were the kind of people whose training had made them dogmatic and immobile, they soon left our organization. We had ways and means of getting rid of them because they were incompetent.

"THIS JOB" SHOULD BE DONE AT HOME

CHAIRMAN PHILLIPS: It falls back really to the attitude of the State Administration and the attitude of the administrator of public welfare. Now, in California we are facing this practical problem that in the session of the Legislature we passed this bill that I spoke of, and that bill waits for action now on the desk of the Assembly. That bill proposes to return the supervision of relief to the counties and it does not propose any integration of the State level, not because of a lack of interest on our part, but because of the limitations of the Governor's proclamation. Now, we believe, the majority of this Committee believes, that that is a good bill. It believes that we should put the Administration of relief in the hands of the counties as the only possible way of correcting a situation which exists in this State.

Do you believe that in any other state a similarly complicated situation exists and in which they have the difficulties that we are facing in this state?

MR. HOEHLER: Of course I am a local administration man. I believe that this job has got to be done where people work and where people live, and so far as possible the controls for administration ought to be on the local level. There ought to be some state supervision so as to keep your local organization in line with other local organizations, and so that the state would have control to a degree of the money which is being spent, but I don't believe that politics is any worse on the state level than it is down at the local level. I was a precinct committeeman and I know something about how you are high pressured to do certain things. As you know, the precinct committeeman is just about the lowest public office.

SENATOR MAYO: We don't have them here.

MR. HOEHLER: You don't have them here but you do have rotten politics. The city of Kansas City, which I come from, was just about as poorly run as any city in the country for generations. If you had your state supervising and acting as a check on the local communities, the chances are you would reduce politics to a minimum, and that is what has got to happen if these programs are to do anything for the people.

Excerpt from "California Conservationist."

"WARDENS ARE OBNOXIOUS."

TO THE EDITOR:

Please do not send the California Conservationist to our high school library.

It will only be tossed into the waste basket as long as you continue the fat-headed policy of publishing game law violations.

My name has not appeared in the list, and is not going to.

I obey the game laws, and believe that others should be required to do the same, but I feel that the publication of these names is a violation of good sportsmanship such as should not come from a Fish and Game Department.

Besides, game wardens are already obnoxious enough, so why encourage them?

Thousands of Californians would enjoy an open season on game wardens more than one on deer.—A. G. Butzbach, Principal, Lower Lake Union High School, Lower Lake.

Communication.

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE,
SACRAMENTO, May 23, 1940.

*To the Senate of the State of California,
Sacramento, California.*

GENTLEMEN: We have reviewed the report submitted on May 7, 1940, by Price-Waterhouse & Company to the Joint Senate-Assembly Legislative Fact-Finding Committee and printed on pages 458 to 480 of the Senate Journal of May 16, 1940 (first extraordinary session), and submit herein our observations relative thereto:

The comments contained on page 458, especially those concerned with the necessity for making assumptions because of existing accounting methods, are casual and lack a fundamental appreciation of the magnitude of operations. They represent a veiled attempt to relate recording procedures generally adapted to the needs of a corner grocery to those of an establishment which has been disbursing over one hundred thousand dollars daily under specific legal and fiscal regulations.

The differences between the position as at February 15, 1940, reported by the Department of Finance to the Assembly and that established by Price-Waterhouse & Company were explained by accountants of the Department of Finance at an executive meeting of the joint committees of the Legislative Fact-Finding Committee. For purpose of record we desire to reiterate our contentions by a restatement of the reconciling factors which appear on page 461 of the Journal.

Item I. Reversion of unliquidated encumbrances $1,179,423.

It will be well to bear in mind that the estimates which represent this aggregate were in existence and in evidence at close of business February 15. The Legislature had not as yet enacted any provisions with respect to reduced appropriations and limitations of activity. Without any expression of legislative intent, the encumbrances were valid and in line with a continuation of the existing program and prognostication of the relief load. The reversions made by the Relief Administration subsequent to February 15, 1940, were the direct result of curtailed operations enjoined upon it by law.

The note referring to an error of $264,817 and "explained" on page 5 of the report presents a conclusion which is basically incorrect and due to a reprehensible failure of Price-Waterhouse & Company auditors to establish the actual facts. The amount of $1,077,849 reported by the Department of Finance as unliquidated encumbrances for salaries and wages was entirely correct. The distribution of the amount between February and preceding periods was entered on information hastily secured by teletype. The designation actually appearing on the report prepared by the Department of Finance was "Wages and salaries to February 29, inclusive." Since the amount was correct in total as stated, it was not considered essential to rectify the explanatory designation after the resolution had been printed in the Journal. The Price-Waterhouse auditors obtained from some source a detail of one of the component items, and, without verifying the aggregate, arrived at an unwarranted conclusion.

Item II. Exclusion of encumbrances relating to other periods $720,102.

This deals obviously with numerous outstanding estimates covered in some instances by purchase orders for items not yet delivered to warehouses. Provisions for payment had to be reserved without opportunity to utilize the corresponding funds for relief. It must be understood in this connection that Price-Waterhouse accountants also had erroneously excluded from consideration the second half of February with regard to pay roll and contractual obligations which had to be reserved even if the Relief Administration had closed its doors on February 15.

Item III. Exclusion of "back log" of emergency relief orders $170,000.

The reasoning for such exclusion as developed on pages 459 and 460 is faulty and again demonstrates a misunderstanding of actualities. The referrals represent inchoate obligations which can not readily be converted into recordable figures. Obviously, no posting could be made of amounts until the values of professional services were later ascertained. Since the medical program was heavily curtailed upon the effective date of the new legislation, the fact that only $10,000 of such referrals were reported outstanding as of March 31, 1940, has absolutely no bearing on the situation as at February 15.

Item IV. Material and supplies on hand $506,000.

In a development of the cash position, it would seem that an inventory of supplies on hand has no place whatsoever. Inventories do not fluctuate to any great extent and government accounting, generally, removes such inventories from cash consideration, on the assumption that they are practically the same at the beginning and at the end of a fiscal period.

The considerations which govern our discussion of the Price-Waterhouse statement with respect to the position as at February 15, apply with even greater force to the statement of position as of March 31, reflected on pages 462 and 463 of the report. Your attention is invited to the reconciliation appearing herewith:

Reconciliation of SRA Records to Price-Waterhouse Audit Report for Available Balance at March 31, 1940.

Salaries and wages-----	$658,000 00
Service and expense-----	249,000 00

Cash balance available March 31, 1940		$1,838,356 55
Corresponding balance Price-Waterhouse Report -----		$2,856,000 00

Retirement deduction reservation disregarded by PW	162,000 00
Service and expense underestimated by PW-----	4,000 00
Purchases not delivered disregarded by PW-----	348,000 00
Total -----	$1,108,000 00
Less abatements applicable to March disregarded by PW	90,000 00

Please note in particular that Price-Waterhouse accountants excluded from consideration any reservation for retirement deductions which on ruling of the Attorney General is a rather "live" commitment and entirely overlooked the asset represented by abatements filed in April but applicable in March. These two items, aggregating in excess of a quarter of a million dollars, are cited, not in disparagement of the effort exerted by the Price-Waterhouse accountants. We are pointing out, however, that the magnitude of the task is such that many pertinent factors escape the attention of the best of technicians who can not be expected to be as conversant with the situation as accountants of the Department of Finance, who are charged with the duty of keeping in continuous touch with State activities.

In this connection, it appears pertinent to express some comment on that portion of the report of the Joint Legislative Fact Finding Committee which appears in the Senate Journal of May 13, 1940, under Item J, since it touches on the sincerity in meeting provisions of Chapter 12, Statutes of 1940.

The tabulation appearing hereunder shows that the reductions made by the administration which, as of March 31, 1940, resulted in a cash balance of $1,838,000, were made possible only because of the budget cuts.

Statement of Comparison Between Original Budget and Revised Budget as at March 31, 1940.

	Original budget	Actual and estimated	Increase or decrease (-)
State -----	$626,600 00	$493,965 03	$-132,634 97

Administration -----		$375 00	$375 00
Advances to cooperatives -----	$421,700 00	118,100 81	-303,599 19
SRA work projects -----	133,100 00	34,992 82	-98,107 18
Total work program -----	$554,800 00	$153,468 63	$-401,331 37

Contributions to employees' retirement September -----		57,719 92	57,719 92
Total -----	$19,696,036 00	$14,229,479 62	$-5,466,556 38

As evidenced by the foregoing, the amount of $5,466,556.38 represents the aggregate reduction in State Relief Administration expenditures from those originally contemplated. Items contributing to the reduction are segregated as follows:

Unanticipated reduction in case load -----	$2,146,000	39.26%
Budget cuts -----	1,335,000	24.42%
Property and equipment -----	253,000	4.63%
SRA work programs -----	98,000	1.79%
Advances to cooperatives -----	304,000	5.56%
Contributions to WPA -----	4,000	.07%
Surplus commodity distribution -----	274,000	5.01%
Medical program -----	43,000	.79%
Single men's camps -----	394,000	7.21%
Administration -----	673,000	12.31%
Less increase in provision for retirement deduction -----	(58,000)	(1.05)%
Total -----	$5,466,000	100.00%

It will be noted that the budget cuts amounted to less than a quarter of the reductions effected. Furthermore, were it not for the unanticipated reduction in load, the State Relief Administration would have operated as of March 31, 1940, with a deficit exceeding $300,000, even after institution of all economies established under legislative pressure. Before the trend of the relief load could be observed, the budget cuts authorized under section 3a of Chapter 12, Statutes of 1940, appeared then as the only available means to meet the situation and would have so appeared to any intelligent executive not endowed with the gift of prophecy.

Very truly yours,

JOHN R. RICHARDS,

Reports.

PART VII.

Part VII of the Fact-Finding Committee's Report on Employment represents a gathering of various reports, statistical data and exhibits which in the bound pamphlet to follow will probably be inserted in appropriate places in connection with previously submitted material.

The reports of three subcommittees which have been submitted to the Joint Committee have been approved only as to general form but have not been approved finally nor as to their recommendations. It is believed that these can be completed in time to be included in the pamphlet referred to above. These are the reports of those members of the Committee who were gathering material to be submitted to the Joint Committee on the following subjects:

1. Cooperatives (Senator Mixter)
2. Surplus Commodities (Assemblyman Lore)
3. Youth Movement (Assemblyman O'Day)

In addition to these, the items in this seventh part include the following:

1. A letter from a former recipient of relief, who had been returned to his home State and now wants to come back to the more attractive conditions of California.

2. A chart showing the difference between the amount of money actually spent for relief since the beginning of this biennium and the amount which would probably have been needed if the present case number represents a truer picture than the case totals during previous months.

3. Two forms, A-1 and A-2, which suggest the influence of political backgrounds in the selection of SRA employees.

4. One of many cards found in the SRA offices in San Francisco after this department had moved to Los Angeles.

5. A reproduction of the interesting "Waiver" required of SRA employees who were taken on the rolls before any job existed for them.

6. Four statistical tables showing monthly expenditures in the SRA, the monthly case loads, comparative expenditures and per capita costs between California and other states, and the basis for the appropriation contained in Senate Bill No. 90.

The Joint Committee submits these items as the final part of its report. All of the material will be gathered together, and in a short time will be ready for distribution in more convenient form. The Committee, if it is continued, will attempt to keep statistical matter up to date and to review other material already in its files but which it was impossible to work upon in the short time between sessions.

Subject: WAIVER.

It is expressly understood that I accept my assignment to work within the State Relief Administration, Los Angeles County, with the full understanding that there is considerable doubt as to the availability of money to be used for payment of the position which I am accepting, and that in the event such money is not available, I will make no claim against either the State or any individual for the time which I spend on such assignment until status of position is definitely ascertained.

This waiver is voluntarily signed with the full knowledge of the conditions prevailing, and it is my personal desire to assist in instituting the program to the extent that I am perfectly willing to volunteer my services without compensation, if necessary.

The question of the return of Relief to the Counties now agitating the Legislature is not desired nor endorsed by County Supervisors themselves. Orange, San Diego, and Los Angeles Counties and the State Associations of Supervisors would not endorse this plan.

The Sponsors are a small group of Special Interests who maintain a large Legislative Lobby. They wish to defeat the only sensible plan which has been presented in the State for the handling of this problem, namely; Work Relief. The S.R.A. says "every man should work for his relief".

This special interest group wishes to switch the tax burden to County taxpayers and Property Owners - a group which is not now taxed for unemployment relief.

If Relief Appropriations are cut down or if Administration is returned to Counties a number of things will happen as a severe jolt to all classes of society.

- 1st. County tax rate will jump 41.7 % With an increase of $12 to $15 per year on $3,000 assessed valuation.
- 2nd. Relief will be paid in kind, - grocery orders and rent orders, on the lowest possible scale regardless of suffering and need. County schedules are now held up by State standards.
- 3rd. SRA Sponsored W.P.A. projects including sewing will be discontinued. Distribution of Federal Surplus Commodities will be curtailed as will also the stamp plan and other means of Federal Assistance.
- 4th. All Merchants, Landlords, and Utilities will suffer a severe jolt in the income with the elimination of $125,000 to $150,000 monthly circulation through the S.R.A.
- 5th. Suffering, discontent, and agitation will increase until malnutrition and hunger will cause mass meetings, mobs and riots, as occurred in Cleveland and such as happened frequently when unemployment was originally handled by the cities and counties.

Orange County Assessor, Clyde Watson in the south of the county and Thomas Kuebel in the north of the county, are working with and for the special interests which are trying to defeat an adequate relief program and shift the burden to county political control and the ever changing Boards of Supervisors.

They should be wired, phoned, or written, care of the Assembly at Sacramento, and told in no uncertain terms to support an adequate appropriation so that a common sense program of work and self help can be completed which in a short time will actually save tax-payers money.

56 Counties have nothing now to add to the solution of this problem. A return to them would delay the achievements of the past 5 years.

Republicans and Democrats alike are joining in opposing the rule or ruin program of this small group of self constituted State Dictators.

PART I.

Minority Report of Edward F. O'Day, Assemblyman, 24th District, Member of the Joint Legislative Fact-Finding Committee on Employment.

To the members of the California Legislature.

In submitting this minority report of the Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Employment and Relief, I do so for the reason that there are certain findings and recommendations in the majority report that I can not agree with. On the other hand, the major recommendations contained in the report are recommendations that I concur in.

This minority report contains verbatim, many of the recommendations of the majority report. The language taken from the majority report appears herein in quotation marks.

The question of county administration of relief is a broad one and involves a highly complex problem. The problem of unemployment is a National problem and a State problem and these two agencies of Government are the suitable agencies to solve this problem rather than the smaller political divisions of our Government such as the counties and the cities. I therefore can not concur in a recommendation to return relief to the counties.

It is my opinion that the Joint Legislative Fact-Finding Committee on Employment and Relief has performed a public service in the work that it has done, and that legislative committees investigating and studying the activities of any department of the State Government performs service to the members of the Legislature and to the public.

Recommendations.

"In presenting its recommendations for a coordinated program, the Joint Legislative Fact-Finding Committee on Employment—to which was assigned the study of the relief and employment situation in California—makes this preliminary observation:" (The Joint Legislative Fact-Finding Committee devoted most of its time to investigating and studying the State Relief Administration. It was created with the joint purpose of studying not only relief but also employment. Due to a shortness of time, it became impossible to complete investigation of both relief and unemployment and because the matter of relief was pending before the Legislature and was so vital an issue, it took the committee's full time and the problem of employment was not so thoroughly studied. If a committee is created to function in the future, the problem of employment should be given greater study.)

"The complexity of the situation and the rapidity with which it has grown to be the major problem in California, have resulted in what can only be called muddled thinking. We have lost sight of basic principles. Constant reiteration of the gravity of the relief situation has obscured the fact that relief is a single phase of the problem of unemployment.

Removing the now recognized relief difficulties would leave the unemployment problem still unsolved. Removing unemployment, on the other hand, would eliminate much of the need for relief, except for indigency due to old age; the loss of one or both parents; disease, and similar conditions preventing self support."

I concur with the committee's emphasis that the major question with which the Legislature has to deal is the problem of unemployment.

I

Reorganization Program.

I believe that the complete reorganization of all functions of State Government dealing with employment, unemployment, and State aid of every type would be advisable. The consideration, however, of this matter is one that should not be attempted at a special session of the Legislature, as the problem is so complex it would be more advisable to consider it during a regular session when the Legislature is convened for a longer period. Under this program, a director of a new department of employment "would correlate and direct all these affiliated activities. Responsible to him would be division heads in charge of the following divisions:

- (a) Division of aid to the Aged, Blind and Dependent Children;
- (b) Division of Employment, including or coordinating the work of the State Employment Service;
- (c) Division of Unemployment Insurance, taking over or coordinating the functions of the present California Employment Commission;
- (d) Division of Direct Relief, supervising and coordinating the activities of the county welfare departments, and conducting State administration of direct relief, and such functions as may be placed with the Department of legislative action."

Single men's camps should, in order to efficiently operate, have control over their own intake.

"(e) Division of Cooperatives, supervising all self-help organizations."

Director of Employment.

"The Director of Employment must be the most capable man obtainable, and his compensation should be fixed by the Legislature commensurate with the importance of the job he is given to do. The committee emphasizes the necessity of finding an executive of exceptional ability and special qualifications. He should be appointed by the Governor, subject to a two-thirds approval by the Senate.

The appointment of a competent Director of Employment would bring the good business management essential in the solution of the unemployment problem.

Elimination of Certain Existing Commissions.

"With the creation of a Department of Employment, the State Relief Commission, the State Social Welfare Commission and the Unemployment Reserves Commission will go out of existence and their functions, jurisdictions and powers will be transferred to the Director of Employment."

Detailed Recommendations Should Be Unnecessary.

"The committee could make detailed recommendations relative to changes and improvements in almost every function and division of the State Relief Administration. It is apparent, however, that abolishing the present SRA, which was created as an emergency agency of State government, and placing its functions under regularly established department, or the creation of the Department of Employment, already recommended, would cure most of these difficulties." The Legislature has the power to effect such a reorganization. It seems very impractical to consider any major reorganization of the departments dealing with employment and relief at this special session. Such a great change in our governmental structure should receive a more careful study before such a move is attempted.

Extension of Public Works.

"The committee suggests that it should be possible for the State and the counties to create work at a wage fair to the unemployed but not so attractive as wages in private employment.

Projects undertaken on this basis would (1) permit the State and counties to acquire physical improvements; (2) benefit the unemployed by providing them with work at wages higher than the dole; (3) benefit private enterprise by stimulating private employment through large scale purchases of material and increased purchasing power of those employed on these projects.

State work should be handled, the committee believes, under the Department of Public Works, the Department of Natural Resources, the Department of Education, the Department of Agriculture, or any regularly constituted department capable of supplying work of this kind. County work should be handled by such county agencies as are provided by law. Such work should not be confused with, nor designated as, 'relief work'."

II.

Mobilization for Employment.

"The major factor in solving California's relief problem must be a 'mobilization for employment.'

Mobilization for employment can be made a reality in California. Business should support a plan on tangible and practical grounds. Research to develop new products, new markets, and consequently new jobs must be expanded, and in this the State, which hitherto has done little or nothing, must become an aggressive leader.

Business must be made to understand the choice is between cooperation and taxation; between mobilization to meet an emergency as serious as war, and moral and financial bankruptcy.

Mobilization for employment can be California's contribution to the solution of an aggravated national problem." Private industry must be made to realize that it has always been, in America, the major employer group, and if it does not reemploy, at a decent standard of living wage, the unemployed people, it will be necessary for the State to do so. Private industry receives the benefits of American labor, and it should assume its obligation to employ them.

III.

Return Relief Administration to the Counties.

Unemployment is a national and State problem and these two great branches of our government are more suitable to attempt a solution of this problem than are the 58 counties in our State of California. Local administration by the counties would create different types of administration. The types of administration would result from the attitudes of local public officials which could not be controlled by any rule or regulation or set of standards that the State might set up.

Resentment in certain rural areas exists against unemployed people. It is my belief that if relief were returned to county administration, that the urban centers of San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento would be more attractive to the unemployed and the unemployed people would gradually collect in these centers. County welfare departments are fundamentally social agencies and are especially adapted to the handling of unemployable unemployed people. The problem of unemployable unemployed people, however, is not a social problem. Their problem can be solved by providing work for them. The State is in a better position to cope with this problem than are the counties.

Present Regulations Unsatisfactory.

"The statement has been frequently made by those who oppose the idea of local supervision of relief, that this would result in '58 different kinds of relief administration.' The committee finds that there is no hard and fast regulation at the present time. The SRA administration imposes its regulations upon its county directors, many of them interpret these to suit themselves." Uniform rules should be provided for by the State Relief Administration and a central office should interpret its rules and they should be carried out by the county directors of the State Relief Administration. "On the other hand, the committee has heard complaints that the present regulations, as imposed upon case workers, are too severe. In the past a case worker was given a reasonable power of decision in individual cases. Thus cases in different areas of the State, could be handled according to conditions in those areas, and some distinction could be made between families accustomed to lower or higher standards of living.

Today, rigorous and inelastic regulations appear to apply at this point, while on the other hand, regulations which might justly be expected to be observed, are administered with great elasticity by directors, district supervisors, and case workers." A committee composed of the Attorney General, the Controller, the State Relief Administrator, and the Director of Agriculture should be created to study this problem as this is one of the major problems arising through unemployment relief.

"Employables and Unemployables."

A committee should be created to study the definition of employables and unemployables and recommend a solution to the Legislature. "A simplification of the handling of applicants at the intake is recommended by the committee."

Relief Problem.

The problem of relief is not a social work problem. However, if a person remains unemployed for a great length of time, it oft-times occurs that he becomes a permanent social problem. The basic problem created by unemployment can be solved by providing opportunities for remunerative employment. Relief cases should be divided into two classes:

Those in need of social case work and those in need of employment. The former should be handled by social case workers. The latter should have work provided for them.

A business-like investigation of financial responsibility of the applicants of relief should be maintained and rigorous prosecution of chiselers should be conducted. Law-enforcing agencies and judges should be admonished that for the general welfare of the State, chiseling on relief must be stopped and can be prevented by proper prosecution.

Limitations of the Proclamation.

As previously noted in this minority report, this special session of the Legislature should not consider a general reorganization of the problem of unemployment and relief.

The restrictions in Senate Bill No. 81 making it impossible for the present relief administration to conduct works programs should be stricken out and an opportunity given to this organization to provide a suitable works program to place as many relief cases as possible at some type of work.

IV.

"A stand must be made against 'legislation by regulations,' which is contrary to the intent of the State and Federal constitutions, and against increasing bureaucracy.

The committee recommends legislation authorizing the courts to prevent unwarranted and illegal State interference with local authority."

V.

Establish Three-Year Residential Requirements.

I recommend that the present rule requiring three years residence in California before direct relief may be granted remain.

VI.

Clear Relief Applications Through Credit Agency.

I recommend a study of costs to the SRA or to the counties of clearing of accepted applications through private credit agencies in the same manner as commercial or financial credit applications are cleared.

VII.

A ceiling of $58 for a person on relief is too low and causes many hardships. American people are generally on relief rolls because they can not find employment, not because they do not want to work; not because they do not seek work, but because there is no work available for them. To have them exist on such a meager allowance tends to cut down their general morale and weakens their physical condition and makes them a permanent charge on the public.

PART TWO

Explanatory Report.

"The members of the Joint Legislative Committee on Employment offer no panacea for unemployment.

Two months work on the part of seventeen legislators in all parts of California emphasizes the complexity of the problem.

There is no easy way out of the difficulty. The problem is shared in varying degrees by every State, but affects California peculiarly because of a proportionately large population of indigent migrants and because California is a proving ground of radical and subversive plans to make use of the unemployed. While the problem is complex, it can and will be solved, not in a day, but more rapidly than had hitherto been believed."

Problem Will Be Solved.

"The unemployment problem of California can be solved by a determination to solve it. The solution will not come from those who preach cynical defeatism to further class hatreds, not from pessimists who view democracy with despair.

A relief program emphasizing reemployment and creating work projects rather than a program emphasizing the social aspects of the unemployed people should be inaugurated. A concerted effort to return people to active employment, whether the positions be public or private, offers the solution to the unemployment problem."

A Start Has Been Made.

"The solution will be founded upon fundamental American traditions of economy, honesty, individual effort, and sincere cooperation in working out a problem of the commonwealth.

The committee's belief that emphasis should be placed on employment rather than on relief is supported from a source which the majority of the members of the Legislature have on occasion sharply criticized, the Workers Alliance."

Workers Alliance Confirms Analysis.

"Testifying before the committee headed by Assemblyman A. C. Wollenberg, in Monterey, on March 20, 1940, J. W. Patterson, chairman of the grievance committee of the local Workers Alliance, in response to a request made the following general statement (W-2 page 11, official transcript):

'We have studied this problem from every angle and we feel that the biggest mistake they (the State Relief Administration) made is the fact that they are dealing with it as a social problem. We don't feel that it is a social problem—it is an unemployment problem. I think that 90 per cent of all our trouble is the fact that some of the people try to deal strictly on the basis of a social problem, and it is not.

If it was approached from that angle * * * there would never be any necessity to have a grievance from any organization.'

Again, Mr. Patterson said (page 12 of transcript):

'It is a problem of unemployment, and they approach it from the social angle, and they are supposed to go into the home and try to rehabilitate a man who has lost a job, and all that kind of stuff * * *.

This is not a social problem, it is an unemployment problem, and we feel that if they would try to spend time to work it out, it wouldn't be necessary to have this namby-pamby social idea—that is never going to settle the problem of relief."

The treatment of unemployment relief as a social problem is a production of many years of handling this problem by social workers rather than by men experienced in reemployment projects.

The field of social work has a definite place in certain types of relief cases but is a poor substitute for those whose only problem is their inability to find remunerative employment."

New Approach Is Needed.

"Unemployment is a relatively new problem in the United States. Yet no American is unaffected by it. No American interested in the welfare of his government and the preservation of American liberties can ignore its involvements. No American can tolerate the suggestion that the problem is too big to be solved in the American way by the absorption of unemployed men and women into a revitalized American economy." Private industry must, however, cooperate with the government and should take the lead in a reemployment program.

Subversive Influences at Work.

"Proponents of these schemes are deliberately working, more or less openly, toward a revolution. Others, less vicious in their purposes, but equally dangerous because of ignorance, unwittingly are lending the cause of revolution their names and reputations." The unemployed people offer a fertile field to those who desire to promote Communism and other "isms" in America.

The State Relief Administration, because it is the agency of government dealing with the unemployed, is subjected to attacks from Communists and other subversive groups. It should set up a strong defense mechanism to offset these attacks. The present Relief Administrator is opposed to Communism and to subversive influences and is engaged in a constructive program of separating all radical and subversive elements and personnel from the State Relief Administration.

Relief Is a Palliative.

"Like any medicine which does not remove the cause of the illness, relief is dangerous in itself. Bromides administered over long periods may produce rashes on the patient's body. In the same way, relief is producing red rashes on the body politic. As quickly as possible, and with complete coordination of effort, the cause of the trouble must be attacked and the palliative tapered off.

Relief must continue until the Mobilization for Employment has proved itself successful. It should be repeated that the dole, which is the form in which relief is extended in California, is not a cure for unemployment."

California needs a public works program for people on relief and should inaugurate one and conduct it until such time as private industry absorbs the employable unemployed people.

Works Projects Considered.

"The State should give maximum cooperation to the Works Progress Administration and urge extension of its activities in California. Every effort must be made to obtain sponsorship for projects to the end that the full WPA quota for the State may be utilized. The committee was astounded to learn, from testimony by the WPA Administrator for Southern California (P-2, Pages 46 & 47), that his agency had had an average of over 2,000 jobs monthly which were open to the unemployed, but of which the SRA had never availed itself."

Refusal to Accept Work Condemned.

"There can be no difference of opinion as to the gross dishonesty of any SRA official who condones and abets relief recipients in refusing to take work on WPA or similar projects. No relief recipient should be permitted to refuse suitable employment or to delay the acceptance of work. Any relief recipient refusing suitable employment should forthwith be removed permanently from the relief rolls." A public works program should be set into motion at the earliest possible convenience. Projects that will inure to the general benefit of the State should be inaugurated. A thorough study of work programs with the thought of efficiency, businesslike operation and permanent benefit to the State should be sought. Hastily created projects poorly supervised yield but small benefit to the State as a whole and tend to break down the morale of the relief clientele.

Long Range Outlook Urged.

Conclusions in respect to the problem of unemployment in California.

"(A) This problem will prevail, in greater or less degree, until 'Mobilization for Employment' has won its objective. While the trend of private business and employment is upward at present, the fact that this is due, in part, to the European war should not be overlooked. Recent reports show a 17 per cent improvement in business over a year ago.

(B) The State should do all within its power to foster increased employment in private enterprise.

(C) The SRA has permitted social service theorists and wishful thinkers to run riot in California for years with resultant wastefulness, chiseling and inequities. Social service, as evidenced in the SRA, has presumed that unemployment is permanent and that relief recipients are a permanent class. The SRA social service workers have disregarded the possibilities of re-employment, and have done no good to their own profession.

The committee has respect for altruism, but contends that genuine altruism means employment for every citizen who would work. * * *

Common sense, not a formula, controls effective social service work. In the SRA, social service has been characterized by an exaggerated professional attitude.

(D) Relief budgets should take standards of living into account as well as the number of members of a family, and should consider total income from all sources, especially all State aids.

(E) The problem of youth is one of the greatest problems of unemployment.

Young people today are getting married on relief and their children are being born on relief. Little is being done to foster a spirit of initiative and independence characteristic of so many generations of self-reliant American families. This is a problem for both the Legislature and groups responsible for methods of education. Further study is being given this subject and the committee expects to submit a report. There is hope of solution because American youth still wants work, still seeks to be self-reliant.

(F) The California State Employment Service must be built to a place of real importance.

The personnel and activities of the California Employment Insurance Commission have been directed toward paying unemployment benefit checks rather than obtaining employment for the unemployed.

(G) The unemployment problem has been aggravated because thousands, having gained the comparative security of relief, have been reluctant to accept even temporary employment because of having again to qualify for future assistance. Some effort should be made to encourage relief recipients to accept employment even though it may be temporary. This result will be gained by reducing the amount of red tape necessary for readmittance of the deserving to the relief rolls."

(H) Sincere, honest and efficient administration of relief must prevail.

(I) Politics should play no part in the administration of relief.

(J) The Federal Government should take care of migrants coming into California, until they are absorbed by private industry.

(K) A State camp program operated in conjunction with work programs already referred to and with the requirement that all single men, with certain exceptions, go to them to receive aid, can be constructive factors in rehabilitation and reemployment.

How Committee Functioned.

"The Joint Fact-Finding Committee was appointed in the closing days of the February, 1940, special session. It was charged with several functions. One was to continue the investigation, begun more than a year ago, into abuses within the SRA. Another was to submit recommendations for improving California's handling of the entire employment problem. Still another function was to observe the operation of Senate Bill No. 81, with a view to future legislation.

These duties have been performed by the committee to the best of its abilities within given time. Whatever may be its shortcomings, they are due to physical limitations, not to lack of effort. The members of the committee have conducted hearings in every part of California; personally examined documents, inventories, books and records; and have heard scores of witnesses who testified under oath and whose testimony is embodied in official transcripts."

Special Subcommittees Appointed.

"To facilitate the work of investigation, the nine Assemblymen and eight Senators on the committee arranged for the appointment of subcommittees. Four such subcommittees were designated. They worked on a geographical basis: subcommittees headed by Senators Mixter and Nielsen, and by Assemblymen Houser and Wollenberg, conducted hearings, respectively, in the Central Valley, in Northern California, in Southern California, and in the San Francisco Bay-Central Coast area.

Committee members were designated to prepare special reports to be submitted to the Joint Committee as follows:

Assemblyman Elmer E. Lore, Surplus Commodities;
Senator Frank W. Mixer, The Cooperatives;
Assemblyman Edward O'Day, The Youth Problem;
Assemblyman Norris Poulson, Accounting Procedure in the SRA;
Senator J. I. Wagy, The Migrant Problem;
Assemblyman Clyde A. Watson, The Alien Problem.

The committee also arranged for two independent investigations into vital phases of the employment problem.

The national firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co., certified public accountants, was retained by the committee in an advisory capacity. In addition to advising the committee on general phases of SRA accounting, it was asked to establish, from the SRA records, without making a complete audit, the approximate balances in the funds of that department as of February 15, 1940, and March 31, 1940. The firm was also asked to indicate changes in the financial position of the SRA during this period, with certain expenditures segregated. It has furnished this information, and other information and comments, which the committee submits as a separate part of this report.

The committee received the cooperation of the State Controller, the Director of Agriculture and the State Relief Administrator."

Credit Agencies Investigate Cases.

"To ascertain the truth of reports that chiseling is still rife, the Controller, under authority of the Legislature and with the approval of the Director of Finance, arranged with private credit agencies to investigate more than 10,000 cases on the SRA rolls. The results of this so-called social audit will be made available to the Legislature in a separate report."

Sampling Method.

"The committee, handicapped for time, has made free use of the 'sampling' method now in general use by political polls, and by financial, economic and statistical fact-gathering agencies. Obviously the committee could not check every relief case, every transportation order, every reported instance of waste, extravagance, and incompetency. By methods it did use, the committee believes that it secured a true picture of the relief situation."

In submitting this minority report, I again wish to express my belief that this committee has made a careful study of this, our greatest problem, and have made many recommendations which, if enacted into law, will inure to the benefit of the unemployed as well as to the people of the State as a whole. In principle, I differ with them concerning the matter of county administration of relief.

Yours respectfully,

EDWARD F. O'DAY.

Minority Report of Subcommittee on Personnel and Policy of Joint Legislative Fact-Finding Committee on Employment.

The majority report of the Subcommittee on Personnel and Policy on which I served is, on the whole, a fair summary of the testimony heard by the committee. I file this minority report, however, for the reason that I disagree at several points with the interpretation of testimony.

The majority report errs in listing San Luis Obispo among those counties in which new directors have recently been appointed. The director of that county was one of the old employees in the SRA service who was transferred into San Luis Obispo at the time the committee visited that county.

In so far as my observation went, I felt that SRA was being efficiently operated in all but one of the counties visited. There was some evidence of laxity in Alameda. As stated in the majority report, changes have recently been made there to correct conditions recognized by the Relief Administrator as demanding his attention.

I feel justified in saying a few words in regard to newly appointed directors to which the majority report refers with some disparagement. Prior to the Fall of 1939, practically every county director had been promoted into his position from the Social Service Division. The present State Administration had a feeling shared by many members of the Legislature, that county directors should have a better business background than was possessed by social workers. It was the belief of the Governor, shared, I believe, by the Relief Administrator, that a director with business experience could get better cooperation between the finance and social service divisions of the county offices and avoid dominance by the social service division which it was felt might show unwarranted generosity toward applicants for and recipients of relief.

I did not completely subscribe to this theory at the time the changes were made. I was, however, favorably impressed by the ability and common-sense attitude of most of the county directors visited and it seems unfair to me to state that they were "chosen because of service rendered during the last campaign." To me it appeared that they were men of integrity, business experience and sufficient intelligence to operate the offices to which they were entrusted.

I am not in complete accord with the statement of the "new philosophy" contained in the majority report. Several witnesses appearing before the subcommittee explained that under previous administrations, it had been obligatory upon an applicant for relief to prove his eligibility. Under the "new philosophy," it was stated that case workers were instructed to offer applicants considerable cooperation in determining the facts upon which eligibility hinged.

If this is the much discussed "new philosophy" I completely approve it. I believe it should be the duty of case workers to cooperate in every reasonable way with applicants in determining facts relating to eligibility and not put the entire burden of proof on those who, in many cases, have no knowledge of the technical and legal points involved in the law or in rules and regulations.

I object to a statement in the majority report that members of the Workers Alliance in Alameda were shown preference in the handling of their cases to the prejudice of nonmembers of that organization. According to the testimony, a strike condition prevailed in the county several years ago under the former administration. To prevent a complete breakdown of intake due to hundreds of applications daily that could not be handled under the usual routine, the social service supervisor worked out a plan whereby officials in an organization called the unemployment council might submit names and addresses of members seeking relief and also designate those cases in which it was believed a real emergency existed.

These cases were handled in small groups as they could be absorbed by intake. If some such policy had not been adopted, testimony was to the effect that there would have been two or three hundred applicants per day in excess of the number that could be handled and intake would have broken down to the detriment of all applicants. The great majority of the applications so handled were those of members of the unemployment council, an organization of AFL, CIO and railroad brotherhood unions, and not of the Workers Alliance. To me, this seemed a wise procedure in view of the circumstances and I do not believe that it should be criticized as demonstrating preference to Workers Alliance members.

I would also dissent from the appraisal of the Contra Costa County director contained in the majority report. Complaints against him came from disgruntled ex-employees whom he had laid off when forced to cut his staff. Evidence that competent employees were summarily discharged came from the discharged employees themselves. After listening to the testimony of these people for the better part of the day, I was inclined toward the belief that the director's judgment in making layoffs was good.

I am in complete accord with the closing statement of the majority report to the effect "that the primary problem in the administration of relief lies in personnel" and that employees entrusted with the expenditure of the State money must realize that they are charged with a sacred obligation both to conserve funds of taxpayers and to do justice to the unfortunate on relief. I believe that with few exceptions, SRA employees visited by our subcommittee were equal to this obligation.

Respectfully submitted.

ELMER E. LORE.

Message from the Assembly.

The following message from the Assembly was received and read:

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, May 23, 1940.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and as such shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

This act permits the utilizing of an already available supply of healthful food fish in canned, as well as in a fresh, state. Unless this act takes effect at once no facilities will be available for using for canning purposes the fish taken during the next ensuing fishing season and the people of the State will be deprived of the opportunity of using a desirable food supply for a considerable period. Existing conditions make it necessary that the supply of food fish be utilized as much as possible and, therefore, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately.

Relative to the intention of the Legislature in using the term "Mackinaw cutthroat trout" in section 619.5 of the Fish and Game Code, as added by Chapter 778, Statutes of 1939.

WHEREAS, Some confusion has arisen from the use of the term "Mackinaw cutthroat trout" in section 619.5 of the Fish and Game Code as added by Chapter 778, Statutes of 1939, and certain enforcing officers are reported to have declared an intention to disregard the provisions of said section 619.5 which establish a bag limit of 5 such trout per day regardless of size and to enforce the general bag limit for trout which is 25 trout but not more than 10 pounds and 1 trout; and

WHEREAS, The fish designated as the Mackinaw cutthroat trout is a large fish which frequently attains a weight of 20 or more pounds and under the general bag limit for trout the limit would ordinarily be two fish; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature intended to increase the bag limit as to the fish designated by it as the Mackinaw cutthroat trout to 5 fish per day; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That in using the term "Mackinaw cutthroat trout" in section 619.5 of the Fish and Game Code, as added by Chapter 778, Statutes of 1939, the Legislature intended to designate the fish commonly designated by fishermen fishing in the waters of Lake Tahoe and vicinity as the "Mackinaw trout," which same fish appears to be designated as the "cutthroat trout" on page 60, Fish Bulletin No. 28, published by the Fish and Game Commission as the "Handbook of Common Commercial and Game Fishes of California," said fish apparently being technically designated as Salmo clarkii.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

A long standing controversy over the division of the waters of the Colorado River has hampered the development of the vast water projects in the States of California, Nevada and Arizona. Informal conversations among the responsible officials of these States have led to believe that it is possible to compose this controversy in the near future by interstate agreement. The authority of the Colorado River Board of California and the Colorado River Commissioner to negotiate such an agreement and to submit it to the Governor and the Legislature must be immediately confirmed in order that such an agreement be formulated before the regular session of the Legislature to be held in the year 1941 and in order that the controversy existing between California and its sister States may be quickly terminated to the satisfaction of all States concerned.

installation of motor vehicle engines or motors, to take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California, and shall take effect immediately.

The following is a statement of facts constituting such necessity: Under the provisions of section 232 and 377.5 of the Vehicle Code, a fee of $1 must be collected each time a motor vehicle engine changes hands between persons before it reaches the ultimate consumer. This situation has led to a great deal of dissatisfaction on the part of persons engaged in the business of reconditioning engines. Cooperation of persons so engaged with the Department of Motor Vehicles is essential in order that the records of the department may be kept up to date. It is necessary under the provisions of sections 232 and 377.5 of the Vehicle Code to impose the fee only when the engine is installed in the vehicle since no record of intermediate transactions is kept by the Department of Motor Vehicles. In order to relieve the situation as soon as possible, and to remove this unnecessary burden from those engaged in the business of reconditioning motor vehicle engines or motors, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately.

SEC. 5. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the mean-

The following is a statement of facts constituting such necessity: This act provides for the abolition of permits now issued to nonresident owners of vehicles. #### Urgency Clause.

SEC. 4. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure, necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1, Article IV of the Constitution and as such shall take effect immediately. The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

The collection of use and sales taxes upon the sales, storage, use, or other consumption of live stock and poultry of a kind, the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption has cost more than the revenues received therefrom. Nor, until recently has it been determined that live stock and poultry of a kind the products of which ordinarily constitute foods for human consumption are subject to the sales and use taxes, as a result of which the citizens of the State have been inconvenienced and harassed by their collection. Unless these taxes are immediately repealed, they will result in great hardship both to the citizens of the State and their government, endangering the public peace and safety.

Urgency Clause.

SEC. 6. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution and shall therefore go into immediate effect. The facts constituting the necessity are as follows:

Prior to the adoption of the "Special Assessment Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931" assessments were placed upon properties in this State greater than the ability of such properties to bear. In many of such districts large blocks of lands have been sold to the State for delinquency in the payment of such special assessments. For the past ten years it has been necessary to conduct numerous refunding proceedings to correct these evils and millions of dollars of public funds have been expended in order to rehabilitate these properties which were subjected to excessive assessments. This Legislature enacted the said "Special Assessment Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931" in order to prevent the repetition of such evil. By the amendments to this act adopted at the present session of this Legislature, to wit, Statutes of 1940, Chapter 35, approved February 29, 1940, the scope of this act was broadened to include numerous districts and political subdivisions which are not subject to the "Special Assessment Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931." It is essential, therefore, that proceedings under this statute be immediately made subject to the provisions of the "Special Assessment Investigation, Limitation and Majority Protest Act of 1931" in order to prevent the repetition of the aforesaid evils.

SEC. 3. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety within the meaning of section 1 of Article IV of the Constitution of the State of California and therefore shall take effect immediately.

The following is a statement of facts constituting such necessity:

The orderly marketing of agricultural crops is essential to the welfare of the people of this State. The economic conditions of many agricultural producers throughout the State are such as to require immediate assistance, if their purchasing power and taxpaying ability are to continue and their morale and standard of living are not to be undermined. Seasonal and accumulated surpluses of agricultural commodities which have a seriously depressing effect upon marketing conditions must be directed into channels of trade and consumption through the aid of orderly marketing procedure, including sound advertising and sales promotion plans. To be of maximum benefit, the provisions of this act must be made available for application during the current harvest season; hence, it is necessary that this act take effect immediately.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 26 ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

Report.

The following report by special committee, was received, and on motion of Senator Crittenden ordered printed in the Journal:

Preliminary Report of the Senate Building and Loan Expenditure Investigating Committee.

To the Members of the Senate of the State of California.

Your committee appointed pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 22, which appears in Senate Journal of February 12, 1940, and also pursuant to the supplemental amendment thereto, begs leave to respectfully report as follows:

The said resolution provided for the investigation of expenditures and other activities of the Building and Loan Commissioner of the State of California.

After the adoption of said resolution, your committee was regularly and duly appointed, and consisted of Bradford S. Crittenden, chairman, William P. Rich, John F. Shelley, and John D. Foley.

Meetings Held.

Your committee has held open sessions in the cities of Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Four sessions were held in Sacramento on the following dates, February 15, 16, 20 and 22, 1940. Two sessions were held in San Francisco on March 7 and 8, 1940. Two sessions were held in Los Angeles on April 1 and 2, 1940. One session was held in San Francisco on May 2, 1940. The session held in San Francisco on May 3, 1940, was an executive session for the purpose of beginning the preparation of a report.

Public notice in the press of the State was given of all hearings. Witnesses appearing, either voluntarily or by subpoena, were mostly sworn, and a transcript was taken of their respective statements and testimony. Numerous exhibits have been filed with the committee, and made exhibits after being properly marked for identification.

Your committee realized from the beginning that its real purpose was to determine whether or not the present building and loan law, as it appears on the statute books, and as it has been interpreted by the Building and Loan Commissioner, and by the various State and Federal courts, is working to the best interests of the people of the State of California. We have not attempted in any way to make a judicial decision relative to the merits of any pending trials in any of the courts growing out of the building and loan activities.

Whatever testimony was taken by the committee was accepted for the purpose of aiding the committee in solving the problem contained in and reaching the solution of unsatisfactory conditions, if any there be, growing out of the present condition of the law.

Policies Set Forth.

Your committee agrees that a primary purpose in government is to protect and make secure private investments, private ownership of property, and private operation of privately owned business, whether corporate or personally owned and operated.

We are not unmindful of the fact however, that where there has been fraud, mismanagement, impairment of corporate property, and the interested parties, whether creditors or investors, are helpless, that the State should step in and aid in protecting the interests of all of such persons.

Facts Found

Your committee has had neither the time, nor the money, to investigate the activities of the State Building and Loan Commissioner, only in a limited way. His duties are very far reaching. His activities may affect the securities of all building and loan associations throughout the State. From what investigation we made however, we find the law permits the following:

Building and loan associations in California are now engaged in a great variety of activities, never contemplated when the building and loan laws were originally enacted.

Originally they were organized to make long time loans to home builders. They were considered helpful to the borrower because payments were made on the installment plan on easier terms than the usual bank loan. They were considered safe for those who desired to invest their money at rates of interest somewhat more than the banks paid on savings accounts, and such investments were secured by the mortgages or deeds of trust held by the building and loan association on the property of the borrower.

Conservative building and loan associations in those days usually had sufficient deposits on hand so that the investor could draw out his money at any time.

A public misunderstanding grew up from this situation, and many looked upon the building and loan as a bank, from which they could draw their deposits at will. A change in the economic condition, which caused a stringency in the money market, and an impairment in the value of the properties held by the building and loans as security, changed the situation, and caused much trouble. Certificate holders were unable to withdraw their deposits. Impairment of assets and lack of deposits prevented many from making loans, and since 1932 a great variety of problems have developed.

The Legislature in years past has been called upon to extend leniency to building and loan associations, so that they could make payments of interest to depositors at a less rate than was originally either agreed upon, or represented to the depositors that would be paid. This was done to prevent the rapid liquidation of such associations.

The Legislature was also called upon to change the statutes affecting building and loan associations, so that the Building and Loan Commissioner would have more power, and so that he could, without any restrictions, take over for liquidation, building and loan associations.

The purpose of the act was to provide quick action on the part of the State, and complete control over the management of such association. This has raised problems which should be carefully studied.

The present building and loan associations frequently invest their assets not simply by loaning to the home builder, but in almost every type and kind of property. They own large agricultural and live stock ranches, apartment houses, hotels, etc. Their investments are located sometimes in several States.

The investments in building and loan associations run into several hundred millions of dollars. Probably two hundred thousand certificate holders in the State of California have some of their savings invested in these associations.

The economic picture changes rapidly from year to year. The building and loan associations present, therefore, one of the most important financial problems of the State. Since 1932 there have been some twenty-four building and loan associations taken over by the State, most of which have been liquidated by the various building and loan commissioners. He, however, not like other private trustees, is not required to make an accounting until final liquidation.

The final accounting has not yet been made by the commissioners upon some of the building and loans which have been in the process of liquidation for many years. Many of the properties which may be operated during the time of liquidation by the commissioner, make only accountings to the commissioner, when he requires it.

The certificate holders are the real parties interested in any building and loan association. However, they have no say in regard to the operation of, or the policy to be followed by the building and loan association, or the commissioner. They have no prescribed manner of appeal to the commissioner as to their wishes in regard to management, policy or liquidation, and they have no prescribed statutory method of appealing to the courts to right wrongs that may have been done either by the association management, or by the commissioner. They have no voice in any of the legal proceedings, although the company and commissioners frequently shout loudly that they are working in the interest of the certificate holders.

The court's hands are tied, and can be of very little assistance to the real parties of interest, the certificate holders.

Neither the certificate holders, nor the building and loan association, have any statutory right to reorganize after seizure exists—in fact an effort to reorganize an association not in the custody of the commissioner might possibly be made the reason for a seizure by the commissioner.

Should 75, 80 or 100 per cent of the certificate holders desire to assume the responsibility of liquidating the assets of an association in their own behalf, they have no statutory remedy, but must abide the opinion of whoever is commissioner, who may never have had any wide experience in finance, and who may insist on liquidation.

The certificate holder has no statutory right to compel the association, or the commissioner, to give him a detailed account of receipts and expenses.

The Building and Loan Commissioner is a public official. He acts, however, similar to a private trustee when acting in his liquidation capacity. This results in an unusual situation. He either directs personally, or is himself the manager of millions of dollars of property, hundreds of different pieces of property and going business concerns, and there is no one who can check on the detail of the receipts and expenditures of such properties of building and loan associations, and from whom and to whom property is received or paid during liquidation, except in transfer of real estate.

Power to Make Rules.

Under the statute the commissioner has the power from time to time to amend, supplement, revoke, or make rules and regulations governing the exercise of his power. It would be quite interesting and surprising to make a study of how far reaching the law is in this regard. It can be used to great detriment of the associations, and of course, it may be used for more efficient conduct of his office. One important thing about it is the uncertainty of what might be done by the commissioner. This is always a cause of anxiety and worry to the associations.

Power to Take Possession of Associations.

The statute on building and loan associations, section 13.11, grants almost unlimited powers to a commissioner in the matter of taking possession of building and loan associations. He may, without appraisal of the property, without auditing of the accounts of any given association, without written findings of fact justifying the taking of possession of any building and loan association, without the order of any court, and without the filing of any adequate bond, take possession of building and loan associations, whether they be small, or whether they may own fifty millions of dollars worth of property, and hundreds of going concerns, without any notice at all.

The original statutes governing building and loan associations carried many protective provisions which are not now in the statutes. This situation in the law permits the Building and Loan Commissioner to incur great liability, which the building and loan association will have to pay before the court can determine whether the take-over is right or wrong.

After take-over has been accomplished, even though not justified, the building and loan association taken over is prohibited from using its own funds to defend itself against any such arbitrary action. A commissioner, however, can pile up expense in a very brief period of time, chargeable to the association, for the prosecution of proceedings of taking possession.

This prosecution is not carried on by the chief prosecuting officer of the State, but the commissioner is empowered to hire all of the law firms he desires, and pay them all large fees for handling the one matter, and building and loan associations may be subject to unlimited extravagance incurred by any State Building and Loan Commissioner.

Of course, as said before, the purpose of providing these broad powers was in the interest of direct and immediate action on the part of a commissioner; however, it has the danger of permitting great waste, long delays, and rendering favoritism to personal and political friends.

It would appear that under the statute the commissioner could ruin an otherwise solvent building and loan association by expenditures incurred in the take-over, and by declaring liquidation dividends at a time when it would prevent the association from ever becoming a going concern.

The statute is not clear as to policy in regard to the taking of possession of building and loan associations. It is left entirely to the commissioner in office. Should a commissioner believe that private associations should be permitted as far as possible to work out their own problems, he probably can do so. But he can also prevent refinancing, refunding, or reorganization, no matter how much all interested persons desire to do so.

Because there is so much litigation pending in regard to liquidation of various building and loan associations, and also because various officials of the building and loan associations are also involved, we have refrained from mentioning in this report specific incidents shown in the transcript upon which we are basing largely this preliminary report. We are setting forth tentatively, recommendations for changes in the law, to be considered from now until future meeting of this committee.

Proposed Changes to Present Law.

We propose that a commissioner should, as a part of the procedure in the handling of building and loan associations under liquidation, make an annual report and statement of account to the superior court in the county where such association has its principal place of business.

That said report and accounting shall set forth the detail of all receipts and expenditures of such association thus taken over, and a detailed report and account of each and all of the several business concerns of properties owned and operated by such building and loan association, or by the Building and Loan Commissioner when he is acting as a liquidation officer.

That it shall be the duty of the Building and Loan Commissioner to publish notice of the filing of said report and account, and at the time of hearing, whether the report or account is protested or not, make proof to the satisfaction of the court that all proceedings taken by the commissioner have been for the best interests of such building and loan associations, their investors and creditors, and that the payment of any money from the funds of such building and loan associations, and the incurring of any liability to be paid out of the funds of the building and loan associations, are just and reasonable.

That it shall be unlawful to give property or service chargeable to any of the properties, or out of any of the funds belonging to the building and loan associations, without adequate remuneration.

The law should further provide that any interested person, including certificate holders, stockholders, and those who were officers, including directors, of such building and loan association at the time of the take-over, shall have the right to compel the commissioner to file such report and account by a proper proceeding in the aforementioned court, and that after said account or report has been filed as herein provided, may file a protest to any and all of the facts, data, and accounts set forth by the commissioner in such report, and may at the hearing hereinbefore provided for, introduce evidence, both written and oral, in support of their protest, and the court after such hearing, will have the right and power to require the commissioner to file supplemental reports when he deems it just, to all of the interested parties.

The court shall, after the hearing, upon such petition or protest, make an order approving the report, or requiring the report to be amended, or denying the petition of the commissioner in whole or in part.

No expenditures by a commissioner shall be chargeable against such building and loan association, unless approved by the court.

Proceedings Before Take-over.

We believe the law should be amended so that before the taking over of any building and loan association under the authority of the act by a commissioner, he shall, excepting as hereinbefore provided, file a verified petition with the superior court in the county in which the principal place of business is located of the association about to be taken over; that the said petition shall set forth in detail the facts he relies upon to justify the taking, and the court shall, if such petition appears to be sufficient upon its face, make an order authorizing the taking over of such building and loan association, and thereafter within ten days, the Building and Loan Commissioner shall present to said court sufficient proof of the facts set forth in said preliminary petition to satisfy said court that the facts set forth in said preliminary petition are true, and upon the court finding that said facts are true, the court shall make an order permitting the taking over temporarily such building and loan association.

That at said hearing any interested person may present evidence in opposition to the petition of a commissioner.

That in event no protest is filed against said taking within thirty days, the order providing for temporary taking shall become final and permanent.

If there are protests filed by any certificate holder, corporation stockholder, or by any of the officers of such association, then the matter of the petition for taking over shall be set for final hearing before said court, at which time all interested parties may be heard, and the burden of proof shall be upon the commissioner to justify the said taking.

If the court shall find that the commissioner has failed to make proof to justify such taking, then the court shall make an order returning all of said properties to those from whom the commissioner received or took them.

If, on the other hand, the court finds that the facts set forth in the original petition of the commissioner are true, then the temporary order shall become final.

Costs.

We believe that the Building and Loan Commissioner should be authorized to employ an attorney whose salary should be fixed by the Legislature. Should the commissioner desire other counsel, then we think it should be the duty of the Attorney General of the State of California to furnish to the commissioner all legal assistance that he needs in the conduct of his office.

Should the court decide that the commissioner was justified in taking over an association, all court costs in connection therewith should be charged against the association. On the other hand, if the court found that the commissioner should not take over the association, then the costs should be paid out of the funds of the Building and Loan Commissioner.

If the commissioner's original petition is denied by the court, then the protestors, if any, shall be allowed their costs, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court in such proceeding.

Rights of Associations to Refund.

The committee feels that the Building and Loan Act should be amended to provide a procedure for the reorganization of a building and loan association in financial difficulties, and also a procedure whereby such an association might be liquidated by the parties in interest.

The committee believes that a careful study of the entire Building and Loan Act may indicate the desirability of other amendments thereto, for the protection and benefit of the certificate holders.

Custodian.

The committee further recommends that the appointment of any custodian of the assets of a building and loan association taken over by the commissioner shall be approved by the Superior Court of the county in which such association has its principal place of business, and the court shall require of such custodian a bond in an amount commensurate with the value of the assets so taken over.

We believe there is no reason why investments in building and loan associations should not be considered among the most secure, and we believe that proper amendment to the present building and loan statute will greatly add security to these investments.

It should be understood that this Preliminary Report is not in any way an attempt to reduce the suggestions herein to the form of a bill, or bills, and

That your committee intends to continue a study of the status of building and loan associations in the State, both those under liquidation, and otherwise.

Respectfully submitted.

2. No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken desires to speak.

3. When two or more Senators arise at the same time to address the Senate, the presiding officer shall designate the Senator who is entitled to the floor.

4. No Senator shall be interrupted when speaking, and no question shall be asked him except through the presiding officer.

5. The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

Right to Address the Senate.

41. No person other than a member of the Senate or the President thereof, shall address the Senate while it is in session but the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and while sitting as such committee may be addressed by persons other than members.

Amendments to Bills.

42. When amendments to a bill are reported by a committee or offered from the floor, such amendments shall be submitted in triplicate.

Motion to Lay on the Table.

43. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

Division of a Question.

44. If a question in debate contains more than one distinct proposition, any Senator may have the same divided.

The Previous Question.

45. The previous question shall be put in the following form: "Shall the question be now put?" It shall require a majority vote of the Senators present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate except that the author of the bill or the amendment shall have the right to close, and the question under discussion shall thereupon be immediately put to a vote.

Call of the Senate.

46. Upon a motion being carried for a call of the Senate, the President shall immediately order the doors to be closed, and shall direct the Secretary to call the names of the absentees as disclosed by the last previous roll call. Thereupon, no member shall be permitted to leave the Senate Chamber except by written permission of the presiding officer. Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and then taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms wherever found, or by special messenger to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a roll call of the Senate and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided.

A call of the Senate may be ordered after the roll has been called and prior to the announcement of the vote.

No recess can be taken during a call of the Senate. During a call, the Senate may consider and transact any matter or business that the Senators then present shall unanimously decide to consider, but no call of the Senate shall be had during a call of the Senate. When a call of the Senate is ordered, pending the announcement of the vote upon the completion of a roll call, the pending roll call shall become unfinished business, the consideration of which shall be continued until further proceedings under the call of the Senate are dispensed with, when it will forthwith become the order of business before the Senate.

Reconsideration.

47. On the day on which a vote has been taken on any question a motion to reconsider the vote may be made by any member.

The motion may be considered on the day made or on the succeeding legislative day but may not be further postponed without the concurrence of twenty-seven members.

No vote on a Senate bill may be reconsidered on or after the last day fixed for the consideration of Senate bills prior to adjournment and no vote may be reconsidered on the last day of the session.

When reconsideration of the vote by which any bill was passed has been demanded the Secretary shall not transmit it to the Assembly until the demand has been disposed of or the time for reconsideration has expired, but if the bill has already been transmitted to the Assembly the demand for reconsideration shall be preceded by a motion to request the Assembly to return the bill. This motion shall be put to vote immediately without debate and if not adopted shall preclude a demand for reconsideration.

A demand to reconsider the vote on any debatable question opens the main question to debate and the vote on the reconsideration shall be on the merits of such main question.

Voting by Senate.

Voting on Roll Call.

48. Whenever a roll call is required by the constitution or rules, or is ordered by the Senate or demanded by three members, every member within the Senate shall without debate answer "Aye" or "No" when his name is called.

Unless the Senator is excused from voting he shall be required to vote.

Voting by Presiding Senator.

50. When the President pro tempore or any other member of the Senate is presiding over the Senate he shall vote on roll call the same as though he were not presiding.

A swelling stream of traffic over the highways of this State has created problems that require an early solution.

Traffic accidents have increased to alarming proportions, reckless and careless driving have taken a huge and appalling toll in life and property, traffic law enforcement has become more and more complicated. In desperation citizens everywhere are calling out to the Legislature for succor and relief.

The gravity of the situation necessitates a thorough study and complete investigation of its underlying causes, on the basis of which this Legislature can act wisely and judiciously in framing corrective legislation in 1941. STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF THE CONTROLLER,
SACRAMENTO, September 18, 1940.

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.*

GREETINGS: Your resolution of September 13th requested me to submit a statement of the expenditures made from and the balance remaining in the Emergency Fund created by the Budget Act of 1939. This statement has been prepared, and is attached.

The amount appropriated to the Emergency Fund in the Budget Act of 1939 was $1,750,000. The present unallotted balance is $745,802.02. Thus, the allotments made since July 1, 1939, from this fund have totaled $1,004,197.98. These allotments are classified into two general groups. These groups are non-repayable allotments and repayable allotments. Allotments in the latter group are made as loans, and according to the terms of the allotment, are to be repaid to the Emergency Fund. The non-repayable allotments, net after certain cancellations, total $549,006.37; the net repayable allotments total $455,191.61.

Loans to the State Relief Administrator in the amount of $350,000, for the purpose of establishing Federal Food stamp and cash revolving funds, constitute a great part of the repayable allotments. According to the terms of the amendments made by the Legislature on September 13, 1940, to the Unemployment Relief Appropriation Act of 1940, these loans are not to be repaid by the State Relief Administrator until on or about March 31, 1941.

The Director of Finance may have promised to set up allotments out of the Emergency Fund to cover certain contingencies, if such allotments become necessary. If so, these promises are not reflected upon the Controller's records, and are not included in the attached statement. The unallotted balance in the Emergency Fund, as shown on our records, will have to be reduced to the extent that these promises, if any, require the issuance of an executive order creating an allotment.

Respectfully submitted.

HARRY B. RILEY, Controller.

Enclosure.

WHEREAS, There appears to be a potential field for the utilization of relief labor in the construction of this prison; and

Report.

The following report was received, and on motion of Senator Phillips, ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN OF SUBCOMMITTEE ON EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

Adopted by Legislative Advisory Committee on Defense and Employment.

Mobilization for Employment.

In the report of the Joint Legislative Fact-finding Committee on Employment it was pointed out that "The major factor in solving California's relief problem must be a 'Mobilization for Employment'." And that "in this the State, which hitherto has done little or nothing, must become an aggressive leader. Business must be made to understand the choice between cooperation and taxation; between mobilization to meet an emergency as serious as war, and moral and financial bankruptcy." It then comments on the plan developed in Pennsylvania and continues "The committee recommends that the Legislature keep constantly in touch with the Pennsylvania mobilization."

It is the purpose, therefore, of this report (1) to give an account of the Pennsylvania Plan; (2) to report on the unemployment problem in California; and (3) to recommend a plan of mobilization for employment to be carried out in the State.

The Pennsylvania Plan.

History—When the Pennsylvania Plan was introduced, relief costs in that State had risen from $7,500,000 for the year 1931-1932 to $132,000,000 for the year 1938-1939. By mid-September of 1939, more than 273,129 cases were on relief (828,195 persons were included in this number).

At this point the Joint State Government Commission, a nonpartisan board of State Legislators, agreed that the relief burden must be reduced and that EMPLOYMENT was the soundest method.

This Legislative Commission and the Governor (Arthur H. James), and members of the Governor's Cabinet agreed the responsibility of any reemployment effort should rest upon those best fitted to know about the subject, to wit: The business men of the State. They, therefore, proceeded to take the following steps.

A subcommittee of the State Legislature called on Mr. Walter D. Fuller, President of the Curtis Publishing Company, and urged him to organize and head a reemployment movement. This was agreed to on the three following conditions:

- 1—That the "grass roots" methods be applied and the solution found in the local knowledge and responsibility of unemployment, relief and taxation.
- 2—That business be encouraged and stimulated in every proper way so as to create jobs in private business in contrast to temporary expedients such as "give-a-job" pleas or high-pressure ballyhoo.
- 3—That no one be misled into expecting a miracle, but that the campaign be an honest and hopeful effort to do as much good as possible, in view of the business recession and other handicaps.

The following is a copy of letter dated September 12, 1940, from Mr. Walter D. Fuller, explaining the exact organization of the Mobilization Plan:

"This is in reply to your recent letter relative to the Pennsylvania Job Mobilization Movement.

"This particular activity was not created by act of the Legislature, nor did we have any appropriation to meet the cost. It was started by a so-called 'Joint Legislative Committee of the House and Senate,' who asked me to form a committee to see what could be done about reemployment. The Governor joined with the Joint Legislative Committee in this connection.

"A very large organization was then built up and it became quickly evident that we must have money. About $12,000 was raised among businessmen by a Finance Committee which I established. This paid the salaries of the director and of certain of his most active assistants, that is, a publicity man, radio specialist, statistician, etc. It also covered my traveling expenses and a few other items of this nature.

"We secured a loan of employees from the Department of Public Assistance and a further loan from the Labor Department, which controls the employment offices of the State. These people were loaned to us and the Department of Public Assistance paid the bills for printed matter, office equipment, postage, etc. Altogether, about $44,000 of the State's money was spent, this money being part of the appropriations of these two departments, and in addition we spent the $12,000 which we raised. Since the matter was handled in this fashion, there were no legislative enactments of any kind.

"Thank you very much for the kind things you say about the Pennsylvania effort. It was really remarkably successful—far more so than any of us thought possible when we began."

Result of Pennsylvania Plan—Five months' work resulted in at least 100,000 new jobs in private industry. "That the effect on the relief situation of this movement, which benefited all types of unemployed, was great is indicated by the fact that at the end of the first four months of 1940 there were 51,508 fewer cases, or 154,240 fewer persons on the State's general assistance rolls than for the same period of 1939, and the monthly cost was $1,483,325 lower. The net reduction in relief expenditure during these four months in 1940 compared with the same period a year ago amounted to $5,722,331."

It was found that although there were more than a million unemployed in the State, 12,000 job opportunities could not be filled as no qualified workers were available through the State Employment Service. Studies indicated a definite shortage of skilled workers in Pennsylvania in approximately 300 occupational classifications. Vocational training was stimulated—a little known plan in use in Williamsport was brought to light and followed in other districts.

The Pennsylvania Committee found that the State was in great need of "a more complete placement service in the local or county offices of the Department of Public Assistance to supplement the work of the State Employment Service."

They recommended too that such employees be given "a merit rating on the basis of placements made." "And that stress should be placed on securing employment for the relief recipient rather than focusing major attention on the purely administrative detail of disbursing assistance funds."

They also stressed vocational training, and because of the over-supply of teachers in that State, suggested that from three to six of the teachers colleges be turned into junior vocational colleges.

They recommended that the Department of Labor should inaugurate a field service to facilitate and expand the Pennsylvania Apprenticeship Council and to encourage the reopening of apprenticeship training opportunities in industry.

They asked for a complete retraining study of employables on relief and a study of so-called "unemployables" to determine who among them might be rehabilitated for employment.

They advocated a State Employment Council composed of Secretaries of Labor, Commerce, Public Assistance and Public Instruction which council would have under it local councils made up of private citizens and representatives of public departments to serve as a clearing house for all matters relating to employment and relief.

The California Problem.

A plan such as that put into effect in Pennsylvania could be somewhat modified to meet present needs in California where the problems are in some respects simpler and in others far more complex than they were in Pennsylvania last November.

Due to the increased employment and industrial expansion going on at this time, the program as it relates to industry would be far easier here today as actual jobs would not have to be created as they were in Pennsylvania. The program would, therefore, consist of an educational campaign among employers to employ persons on relief in this State wherever possible. This could be done by an explanation of the tax and social problems which will be created if, under this vast defense program which will require such heavy taxation, the relief costs are not reduced to a minimum, and if thousands of our citizens remain idle. It appears that industry in this State has been allergic to persons on relief—probably with good reasons when the slack eligibility rules allowed people to be supported with no effort made to get them to work and when relief costs always rose, no matter what industry did.

A program also would have to be instituted within the SRA, vigorously to place relief recipients in private employment, through the California State Employment Service and through other means. At present the SRA has little or no reemployment program, and while it is true that relief recipients are registered with the Employment Service, it is generally believed that they are not frequently offered the available jobs since the applicants who are more eager to get work are deemed better suited to employment. Out-of-state people, therefore, not yet eligible to relief, often get jobs instead of State residents.

There is no need in this report to prove that the relief problem in California is one which is in dire need of a solution. The very excellent and comprehensive report of the Legislative Fact-finding Committee shows that the Legislature is keenly aware of the evils in the present system, many of which the Legislature has already taken steps to correct. It appears, however, that a program of this kind is greatly needed to shift the emphasis from relief to work and to introduce into the program a new philosophy of work and self-reliance.

The principal problem is one of how the securing of private employment can best be accomplished and in this regard I submit the following recommendations:

(1) That the Joint Legislative Committee appoint an outstanding California industrialist to head a mobilization for employment campaign and, with his approval, a group of competent men and women representing various activities such as organized labor, education, business, etc., to serve with him;

(2) That the SRA and the State Department of Employment be asked to cooperate in this plan and wherever necessary to assign certain workers to carry it out;

(3) That local committees be formed to develop the program to suit the local communities under supervision of the State group;

(4) That such State committee report its findings to this committee in December so that changes in the Employment Service and the SRA can be recommended to the Legislature in 1941.

MILDRED PRINCE, Chairman.

WHEREAS, It has been reported that certain officers and employees of the Executive Department of the Government have threatened to deprive certain districts of the State of certain benefits normally supplied by the State and in which benefits such districts are by-law entitled to participate, unless the legislative representatives of such districts act in their capacities as legislators in a manner compatible with the desires of certain officers and employees of the Executive Department of the State irrespective of the best interests of the State as a whole; now, therefore, be it

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS,
SACRAMENTO, October 1, 1940.

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate of the State of California,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.*

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to the provisions of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 5, 1939 Session, I have the honor and pleasure to transmit herewith the report of a survey and study made of the best possible and feasible routings for traffic in the following described area, lying and being in the county of Los Angeles, viz.:

The Arroyo Seco and adjacent areas, from State Highway Route 205 in and near the northerly city limits of the city of Los Angeles to State Highway Route 9 in the general vicinity of Devils Gate Reservoir.

Conclusions and recommendations may be summarized as follows:

It is quite obvious in our opinion from studies made there is a manifest lack of any evidence indicating an urgent or pressing need for an extension of Arroyo Seco Parkway up the Arroyo Bottom to Devils Gate Reservoir. As a matter of fact the data accumulated seems to conclusively prove that neither now, nor for many years to come, will such an expensive improvement be justified.

In direct answer to the wording of the Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 5 "to study and report on the best possible and feasible route for traffic in Arroyo Seco and adjacent areas from State Highway Route 205 in and near the northerly city limits of Los Angeles to State Highway Route 9 in the general vicinity of Devils Gate Reservoir," it is submitted that the best and most feasible solution consistent with good engineering judgment and the economic factors involved, is to use the present existing streets and highways, with the proviso that the present State highway and street system in this area is in need of improvement at many points, and should be improved as soon as funds are available for such purpose.

Very sincerely yours,

FRANK W. CLARK,
Director of Public Works.

Report of Standing Committee.

The following report of Standing Committee was received, read, and on motion of Senator Seawell adopted:

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, December 3, 1940.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Rules, to which was referred the Governor's messages of December 2, appointing Chris Merchant, Dr. W. Earle Smith, Hugh Lovett Spears and George A. Briggs to the State Board of Prison Directors, has had the same under consideration and, acting upon the advice of the Committee on Governmental Efficiency, to whom previous like communications regarding these appointments were referred for consideration, reports them back and recommends that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to return said communications to the Governor without prejudice, advising him that the Senate does not believe it advisable to act upon these appointments because a court case is now pending to determine the legality of this board.

Respectfully submitted.

SEAWELL, Chairman.

Senate Resolution No. 70.

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Mayo:

WHEREAS, It appears that efforts have been and are being made to interfere with the independence of the Legislative Department during this and other sessions of the Legislature; and

WHEREAS, The Senate Investigating Committee on Interference with the Independence of the Legislative Department was created by Senate Resolution No. 60 adopted this session to investigate this interference with the freedom of the legislative process; and

WHEREAS, It appears that the best interests of the people of this State will be served by permitting that committee to function after final adjournment of this session; and

WHEREAS, The people on November 5, 1940, adopted an amendment to the Constitution of this State authorizing the Legislature or either house thereof to provide for the appointment of committees to act after final adjournment of the session creating them; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That a committee of the Senate, designated "The Senate Investigating Committee on Interference with the Independence of the Legislative Department" is hereby created, which committee consists of those persons who on December 1, 1940, were members of the Senate Investigating Committee on Interference with the Independence of the Legislative Department created by Senate Resolution No. 60 adopted this session, and shall have and exercise all of the powers, duties and functions conferred upon said former committee by said Senate Resolution No. 60 adopted this session, and all of the provisions of said Senate Resolution No. 60 are incorporated herein by reference and made applicable to the committee hereby created except as herein otherwise provided; and be it further Senate Resolution No. 70 read and ordered held at the desk.

Senate Resolution No. 71.

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Seawell:

WHEREAS, The laws of this State require the Senate to confirm and approve a considerable number of appointments to State offices made by the Governor; and

WHEREAS, In submitting such matters to the Senate it has heretofore been the practice of the Governor to transmit to the Senate only the name and address of the person appointed with his request that the Senate advise and consent to the appointment; and

WHEREAS, The members of the Senate frequently have little or no personal information as to the qualifications of such appointees to fulfill the duties of the offices to which they are appointed, and it therefore becomes necessary, in order for the Senate adequately to fulfill the duty imposed upon it by law, to delay action with reference to such appointment until such time as adequate information regarding the appointee can be obtained; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate hereby requests the Governor to transmit with all requests for confirmation of his appointments such information as he may have regarding the experience and qualifications of each appointee, and particularly the facts regarding the appointee upon which the Governor bases his belief that the appointee is qualified for the particular position to which he is appointed and as to which the Governor requests confirmation of his action by the Senate.

Resolution read, and on motion of Senator Seawell adopted.

Communication.

The following communication was received, and on motion of Senator Seawell, ordered printed in the Journal:

Memorandum re Interpretation of Advice and Consent.

"By and with the advice." This phrase and others of similar import, when used in constitutional, statutory or testamentary provisions, as where authority or power is given to a person to do something "by and with the advice," or "by and with the advice and consent," or "with the advice," or "with the advice and consent" of another person, or body of persons, have been uniformly construed as conferring the power to act, and laying the primary responsibility for the action, upon the person so first authorized, subject to the restriction that such act, once he has determined upon it, is to receive the approval of the second person or body referred to, whose connection therewith is purely advisory and to whom is not given a coordinate authority or power to initiate the action.

Norcum v. D'Ench, 17 Mo. 98, 119;

Commonwealth v. Lane, 13 Wkly. N. C. (Pa.) 29, 32. 2 C. J. S. 892.

"Where the Constitution declares that the power to act is in the Governor or that the act may be done by the Governor 'by and with the advice of council' or 'by and with the advice and consent of the council,' we are of opinion that the responsibility rests primarily upon the Governor to determine, as the supreme executive magistrate, whether any action is called for and what act, if any, is desirable, and that the provision for advice of council is a requirement that their approval and concurrence shall accompany the affirmative act and enter into it before it becomes complete and effective. We do not think that these different phrases, used in different parts of the Constitution, namely, 'by and with the advice of council,' 'by and with the advice and consent of the council,' 'with the advice and consent of the council,' 'with advice of council,' and 'with advice of the council,' differ at all in legal effect. They all recognize the fact that the act first of all, and afterwards for all time, is to be the act of the Governor. The only connection that the council can have with it is advisory. Whether the Governor takes advice or not, his conclusion must rest finally upon his own judgment. Inasmuch as the responsibility for his determination, with or without advice, must rest upon him, both in the beginning and forever after, the natural course of proceeding would seem to be that he would seek such aid as he might desire from any proper source and not be obliged to ask advice, in the first instance, from an official body whose opinion could never relieve him from the duty of deciding." In re Opinion of the Justices 78 N. E. 311, 312, 190 Mass. 616.

Advice and Consent.

Under statute providing that a public officer, if appointed by Governor with the advice and consent of council, may be removed by Governor for cause, with council's advice and consent, the words "advice and consent" do not infer that before giving or refusing its sanction the council is compelled to hold hearings and to listen to the testimony of witnesses, but the council may adopt any reasonable methods of forming a proper judgment on the matter before it, including the holding of a hearing at which witnesses are called. ### Report.

The following report was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

FINAL REPORT TO THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA BY THE COMMITTEE ON HORSE RACING.

Your Committee for the Investigation of Horse Racing on May 15, 1940, in its preliminary report to the Senate, made the following recommendation:

"It is the province of the Legislature, not the Executive, to raise the revenues of the State, and order their expenditure by budget appropriation. However, during the past year the Racing Commission, at the request of the present Governor, has arbitrarily insisted that the various tracks donate the proceeds of certain days to the general funds of the State. The purpose back of this move may be entirely laudable but purity of motive can never justify a deed that is evil in effect. This move has set the stage for imposition of similar 'extra-legislative' taxes upon other 'privilege' businesses—liquor, fishing, et cetera. Confidence of those who would invest in such business is destroyed since they are deprived of the safeguard of the constitutional provision that the Legislature alone may impose taxes."

The committee is now pleased to report to the Senate that at a meeting of the committee held in San Francisco on November 28 and November 29, 1940, the Honorable Jerry Giesler, Chairman of the Racing Board, testified that the future policy of the Racing Board would follow these recommendations of the committee, to wit:

1. That no more "Charity Days" would be imposed by the board upon California tracks as a condition to their operation, and

2. That money hitherto set aside by the tracks, as the result of the imposition of "Charity Days" upon them, would be ordered deposited in the General Fund of the State of California subject to the appropriation of the Legislature, and not to the uncontrolled disposal of Executive power.

The committee is gratified at this action by the Chairman of the Racing Board and, believing that this action removes further necessity for its continuation of its investigation regarding "Charity Days."

THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON HORSE RACING,
D. JACK METZGER.

Report of Standing Committee.

The following report of Standing Committee was received and read:

On Rules.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, December 4, 1940.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Rules has examined:

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 26—Approving certain amendments to the charter of the county of Alameda, State of California;

And reports that the same has been correctly enrolled and presented to the Governor on the fourth day of December, 1940, at eleven o'clock a.m.

SEAWELL, Chairman.

Report.

The following report was received, and on motion of Senator Phillips ordered printed in the Journal:

Report of Senator J. I. Wagy, on hearings held by a Congressional Committee on National Migratory Problems; in San Francisco, September 24th and 25th, and continued in Los Angeles on September 28, 1940.

Personnel of the Committee:

Honorable John H. Tolan, Chairman, California;

Claude W. Parsons, Illinois;

John J. Sparkman, Alabama;

Frank C. Osmer, Jr., New Jersey;

Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska.

The committee had sent out special field investigators who seemed to have covered midwestern and Pacific Coast States pretty thoroughly and brought in some thirty-four witnesses from various parts of the territory covered, who testified as to why they came to California. The great majority of these migrants were farmers or farm workers who stated that on account of drought, and other economic factors in their locality, they just starved out and had to go somewhere else or starve to death where they were. Many of them migrated to other States before coming to California, while others admitted they came directly to California as they had been informed by friends and relatives residing here that wages were much better in California.

One man stated that he received 45¢ per hundred pounds more for picking cotton in California than he received at home and that he could pick nearly double the amount of pounds of cotton here per day, and remarked, "Why should I not come to California when I could do so much better here in earning sufficient money to take care of my family?" None of the witnesses would admit that the easier and higher relief checks in California influenced them to come here; however, it was very apparent that the field investigators had picked their witnesses and did not bring any of the professional relievers, to testify before the committee. None of the witnesses had seen or heard of any "help wanted" advertisements from California.

There were a number of prominent people that appeared and testified before the committee and they were all agreed on one phase of the subject, namely, that the migratory problem was a national one and could not be considered as a local problem, but were very much divided as to method of solving the problem.

Governor Olson presented his ideas on the subject and made the following recommendations:

- I. A unified legislative program to be organized through cooperation of the 11 western States or those affected by migration.
- II. Planned resettlement through Farm Security Administration, using the U. S. Housing Authority to do away with the slums and prevent the spread of the slum evils.
- III. Investigate the private employment services and labor contractors.

- IV. Inclusion of agricultural labor under proper legislation through wages and hours, social security and the National Labor Relations Act.
- V. Maintenance of border stations to check the flow of migrants from east to west through affected States.
- VI. Uniform provisions as to residence requirements and relief standards.
- VII. Works program jointly by the States and Federal Government.

PHILIP FERNANDEZ, a licensed labor contractor for cannerymen, stated that he usually employed migrant help and found them very satisfactory when not dominated by agitators; that general run of migrant help was not easily influenced in joining the agitator group, but were afraid of them and often left their work through fear of bodily harm for themselves and members of their family.

VARDEN FULLER, expert from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of Berkeley, stated that the migrant to California was merely the latest stage of a westward migration.

WILLIAM S. HOPKINS, Associate Professor of Economics, Stanford University, stated that the migratory labor problem we now have is directly related to the disorganized labor market, and also stated that agricultural labor should have the right to organize as industrial labor.

HELEN GAHAGAN, wife of movie actor Melvyn Douglas, gave quite a lengthy discourse on migratory labor and its problems which dealt with the problem more from a sentimental or Utopian aspect, than from a business or practical standpoint.

JOHN S. WATSON, President of Associated Farmers of California, criticized further encouragement of the bureaucratic method of administration of Federal aids, such as the Farm Security Administration and migrant camps, claiming that the migrants are set apart from the community, with no chance of assimilation and that the camps are placed in communities without consulting the residents and that these camps become a rendezvous for radical and subversive elements. Mr. Watson also stated that California farmers are not opposed to assimilating these migrants but that we can not assimilate them fast enough under present economic conditions.

MRS. WALTER KNAPP, of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, pointed out the educational responsibility to the migrant children.

WILLIAM P. SHEPARD, western chief of the American Public Health Association, claimed that the migrants' living conditions created the greatest health problem.

R. B. ROBERTSON, associate director of industrial relations for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, Burbank, stated that from 35 to 50 per cent of job applicants are out of State people and that 75 per cent of these people are unemployable and that the company is compelled to recruit the majority of its skilled workers from eastern centers.

DEAN CLAUDE B. HUTCHISON of the University of California College of Agriculture, stated that it was useless to split up California's huge industrial farms into family size farms to aid in solving the migrant problem, stating that family sized farms can not succeed in California if the State continues to grow specialized crops.

ROY T. PIKE, a practical farmer on a large scale, takes issue with Dean Hutchison and stated positively and emphatically that the family sized farms succeed and compete with the large industrialized farms especially in times like the present as the family can grow practically the greater portion of their food supplies and by doing their own work their overhead costs are practically nil.

There were many statements filed with the committee by individuals and organizations giving their views on various aspects of the subject and I was able to procure a copy of a portion of them which I attach hereto and make a part of this report.

STATEMENT OF S. G. RUBINOW, the problem of interstate migration as it affects the California State Relief Administration.

Statement of the migrant situation by Thomas W. McManus.

Statement of the Farm Security Administration by Dwain Pearson.

Statement relative to the effect of interstate migration on California community life by Rev. Clarence Wagner.

Statement by California State Chamber of Commerce.

Respectfully submitted.

(signed) J. I. WAGY, Chairman Subcommittee of the Legislative Fact-Finding Committee.

Consideration of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 27.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 27.

Relative to Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly.

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly concurring That the following be, and the same are, hereby adopted as the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California for the Fifty-third (first extraordinary) session:

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY.
COMMITTEES AND COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Standing Committees.

1. Each house shall appoint such standing committees as the business of the house may require, the committees, the number of members and the manner of selection to be determined by the rules of each house.

Joint Committees.

2. The Rules Committees of each house shall constitute the Joint Standing Committee on Joint Rules of the Senate and the Assembly.

Joint Meeting of Committees.

3. Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its committees, and the same or a like bill has been referred by the Assembly to one of its committees, the chairmen of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interests of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, shall arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Definition of Word Bill.

4. Whenever the word "bill" is used in these Rules, it shall include constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions.

Concurrent and Joint Resolutions.

5. Concurrent resolutions relate to matters to be treated by both houses of the Legislature.

Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the Federal Government.

Resolutions Treated as Bills.

6. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that they shall be given only one formal reading in each house and that they shall not be deemed bills within the meaning of section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution, and shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction. As in the case of bills, they shall be engrossed in the house in which they originate before being voted upon.

PREPARATION AND INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Title of Bill.

7. The title of every bill introduced shall convey an accurate idea of the contents of the bill and shall be indicative of the scope of the act and the object to be accomplished. In amending a code section, the mere reference to the section by number shall not be deemed sufficient.

Division of Bill Into Sections.

8. A bill amending more than one section of an existing law shall contain a separate section for each section amended.

Bills which are not amendatory of existing laws shall be divided into short sections, where this can be done without destroying the sense of any particular section, to the end that future amendments may be made without the necessity of setting forth and repeating sections of unnecessary length.

Restrictions as to Amendments.

9. A substitute or amendment must relate to the same subject as the original bill, constitutional amendment or resolution under consideration.

Changes in Existing Law to Be Marked by Author.

10. In a bill amending a code section or a general law, any new matter shall be underlined and any matter to be omitted shall be in type bearing a horizontal line through the center and commonly known as "strikeout" type. When printed the new matter shall be printed in italics, and the matter to be omitted shall be printed in "strikeout" type.

In any amendment to a bill which sets out for the first time a section being amended, any new matter to be added and any matter to be omitted shall be indicated by the author and shall be printed in the same manner as though the section as amended were a part of the original bill and was being printed for the first time.

Printing of Amendments.

11. All bills amended by either house shall be immediately reprinted; in the case new matter is added by the amendment such new matter shall be printed in italics in the printed bill, and in the case of matter being omitted, the matter to be omitted shall be printed in strikeout type. When a bill is amended in either house, the first or previous markings shall be omitted.

Printing and Distribution of Bills—Manner of Printing Bills.

12. The State Printer shall observe the following directions in printing all bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions:

(a) The body of such bills shall be printed in solid unspaced form in ten-point Roman type so that the same type shall be used both before and after enrollment. Concurrent resolutions approving city or county charters or amendments thereto may be set in smaller type.

(b) All titles of bills shall be set in italics, statute form and the length of the lines used in the titles shall not exceed that of the body of the bill.

(c) The lines of all printed bills shall be numbered by page and not by sections, and amendments shall be identified by reference to title, page and line only.

Distribution of Legislative Publications.

13. All requests for mailing or distribution of bills and legislative publications shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the Assembly. Each member of the Senate and Assembly shall be permitted to submit a list of ten libraries, chambers of commerce or individuals. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall order a sufficient number of bills and legislative publications to supply this list together with such number as may be necessary for legislative requirements.

Except as hereinabove provided, no complete list of bills shall be delivered except upon payment therefor of the sum of $45, nor shall more than five copies of bills or other legislative publications be distributed free except to members of the Legislature, the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly for the proper functioning of their respective houses; the Legislative Counsel Bureau; Attorney General's office; Secretary of State's office; Controller's office; Governor's office; the Clerk of the Supreme Court; the Clerk of the District Court of Appeal for each district; the Library of Congress and to libraries of the University of California at Berkeley and at Los Angeles; and accredited members of the press. The State Printer shall fix the cost of such bills and publications, and such moneys as may be received by him, shall after deducting the cost of handling and mailing, be remitted on the first day of each month, one-half each to the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly for credit to legislative printing. Unless otherwise provided for, the total number of each bill to be printed shall be not more than 2,500.

OTHER LEGISLATIVE PRINTING.

Printing of the Daily Journal.

14. The State Printer shall print in such quantity as directed by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly, copies of the Journal of each day's proceedings of each house. At the end of the session he shall also print, as directed by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly a sufficient number of copies properly paged after being corrected and indexed by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly, to bind in book form as the Journal of the respective houses of the Legislature.

What Shall Be Printed in the Journal.

15. The following shall always be printed in the Journal of each house:

(a) Messages from the Governor and messages from the other house, and the titles of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when introduced in, offered to, or acted upon by the house, and the titles of joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments when adopted by the house.

(b) Every vote taken in the house, and a statement of the contents of each petition, memorial or paper presented to the house.

(c) A true and accurate account of the proceedings of the house, when not acting as a Committee of the Whole.

Printing of the Daily File.

16. A daily File of bills ready for consideration shall be printed each legislative day for each house.

The material to be printed in the File and the form and arrangement shall be determined by the respective houses.

Printing of History.

17. Each house shall cause to be printed once each week, during the session, a complete History of all bills, constitutional amendments, concurrent, joint and house resolutions originating in or acted upon by the respective houses. A regular form shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly. Such History shall show the action taken upon each measure up to and including the legislative day preceding its issuance. For each legislative day intervening there shall be printed a Supplementary History showing the action taken upon any measure since the issuance of the complete History.

Immediately following the adjournment for the constitutional recess, the History shall be compiled and printed to date of recess by the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly.

Authority for Printing Orders.

18. The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for use of either house nor charge to legislative printing any matter other than provided by law or by the rules, except upon a written order signed by the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the Assembly. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly may, when necessity requires it, order certain matter printed in advance of the regular order, by the issuance of a rush order.

The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly are hereby authorized and directed between sessions to order and distribute for the members stationery and legislative publications for which there is a demand, and, subject to the Rules of their respective houses, to approve the bills covering such orders. All bills for printing must be presented by the State Printer within thirty days after the completion of said printing.

RECORD OF BILLS.

Secretary and Chief Clerk to Keep Records.

19. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a complete and accurate record of every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill.

Secretary and Chief Clerk Shall Indorse Bills.

20. The Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly shall indorse on every original or engrossed bill a statement of any action taken by the Senate or Assembly concerning such bill.

ACTION IN ONE HOUSE ON BILL TRANSMITTED FROM THE OTHER.

After a Bill Has Been Passed by the Senate or Assembly.

21. When a bill has been passed by either house it shall be transmitted promptly to the other unless a motion to reconsider or a notice of motion to reconsider has been made or it is held pursuant to some rule or order of the house.

The procedure of referring bills to committees shall be determined by the respective houses.

Messages to Be in Writing Under Proper Signatures.

22. Notice of the action of either house to the other shall be in writing and under the signature of the Secretary of the Senate or the Chief Clerk of the Assembly from which such message is to be conveyed. A receipt shall be taken from the officer to whom such message is delivered.

PASSAGE AND ENROLLING OF BILLS.

Passage of Bills Preceding Final Adjournment.

23. No Senate bill shall be passed by the Senate, and no Assembly bill shall be passed by the Assembly within the time specified in the resolution prior to the adjournment sine die of the two houses of the Legislature at a regular session, unless permission to vote on such bill shall be granted by a three-fourths vote of the house of its origin after being recommended by the Committee on Rules (if it be a Senate bill) or by the Speaker of the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill).

Enrollment of Bill After Passage.

24. After a bill has passed both houses it shall be printed in enrolled form, omitting symbols indicating amendments, and shall be compared by the Engrossing and Enrolling Clerk and the proper committee of the house where it originated to determine that it is in the form approved by the houses. The enrolled bill shall thereupon be signed by the presiding officers of both houses and the Secretary of the Senate and Chief Clerk of the Assembly and presented without delay to the Governor. The committee shall report the time of presentation of the bill to the Governor to the house and the record shall be entered in the Journal.

AMENDMENTS AND CONFERENCES.

Amendments to Amended Bills Must Be Attached.

25. Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one house shall be amended in the other, it shall immediately be reprinted as amended by the house making such amendment or amendments. Such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "adopted" and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the house in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Chief Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly as the case may be; provided, however, that an amendment to the title of a bill adopted after the passage of such bill shall not necessitate reprinting, but such amendment must be concurred in by the house in which such bill originated.

To Concur or Refuse to Concur in Amendments.

26. In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments. If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Chief Clerk shall notify the house making the amendments and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

Concurring in Amendments Adding Urgency Section.

27. When a bill which has been passed in one house is amended in the other by the addition of a section providing that the act shall take effect immediately as an urgency measure, and is returned to the house in which it originated for concurrence in the amendment or amendments thereto, the procedure and vote thereon shall be as follows:

The presiding officer shall first direct that the urgency section be read and put to a vote. If two-thirds of the members elected to the house vote in the affirmative the presiding officer shall then direct that the question of whether the house shall concur in the amendment or amendments shall be put to a vote. If two-thirds of all the members elected to the house vote in the affirmative, concurrence in the amendments shall be effective.

If the affirmative vote on either of such questions is less than two-thirds of all the members elected to such house, the effect is a refusal to concur in the amendment or amendments, and the procedure thereupon shall be as provided in Joint Rule No. 28.

When Senate or Assembly Refuse to Concur.

28. If the Senate or the Assembly refuse to concur in the amendments, the Committee on Rules (if it be a Senate bill) or the Speaker of the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) shall appoint a committee of three (3) on conference and the Secretary or the Chief Clerk shall immediately notify the other house of the action taken and request the appointment of a like committee. Two of the members comprising such committee from each house shall be selected from those voting with the majority on the point about which the difference has arisen, and the other member from each house of such committee shall be selected from the minority, in the event there is a minority vote. The first Senator named on the Conference Committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Senate, and the first Assemblyman named on such committee shall act as chairman of the committee from the Assembly and the chairman thus selected shall arrange the time and place of all meetings and prepare or direct the preparation of reports. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

Report of Committee on Conference.

29. The report of the Committee on Conference shall not be subject to amendment, and if either house refuse to adopt such report the conferees may be discharged and other conferees appointed; provided, however, that no more than three different Conference Committees shall be appointed on any one bill.

It shall require the affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the committee to agree upon a report. No member who has served on a Committee on Conference shall be appointed a member of another Committee on Conference on the same bill.

When Conference Committee Report Is in Order.

30. The presentation of the report of a Committee on Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or during roll call, and, when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed upon, and shall be determined without debate.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

Authority When Rules Do Not Govern.

31. All relations between the houses which are not covered by these Rules shall be governed by Mason's Manual.

Press Rules.

32. (a) Desks may be assigned to the representatives of the press in the Senate and Assembly in such manner as shall be directed by the house or by the Rules thereof.

(b) One or more rooms shall be assigned for the exclusive use of correspondents during the legislative session, which room shall be known as the Press Room. The Press Room shall be under the control of the Chief of the Bureau of Building and Grounds; provided, that all rules and regulations shall be approved by the Senate Committee on Rules and the Speaker of the Assembly.

Adjournment.

33. Adjournment for the constitutional recess and adjournment sine die shall be made only by concurrent resolution.

Dispensing With Joint Rules.

34. No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by a vote of two-thirds of each house; and Joint Rule No. 23 can be dispensed with only in the manner provided for in said Joint Rules. If either house shall violate a joint rule a question of order may be raised in the other house and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the Rules of such house; and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violations shall be returned to the house in which it originated, and such disputed matter be considered in like manner as in Conference Committee.

INVESTIGATING COMMITTEES.

35. In order to expedite the work of the Legislature either house, or both houses jointly may by resolution provide for the appointment of committees to ascertain facts and to make recommendations as to any subject within the scope of legislative regulation or control.

The resolution providing for the appointment of a committee shall state the purpose of the committee, and the scope of subject with which it is to act and may authorize it to act either during sessions of the Legislature or after final adjournment.

In the exercise of the power granted by this Rule, each committee may appoint a secretary and adopt such Rules as may appear necessary and proper to carry out the powers granted and duties imposed under this Rule. It may employ such clerical, legal and technical assistants as may appear necessary when money has been made available therefor.

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate or Assembly, or other person designated by such Sergeant-at-Arms or by the committee, shall serve any and all subpoenas, orders and other process that may be issued by the committee, when directed to do so upon a vote of the majority of the membership of the committee.

All officers of the State, including the Legislative Counsel and the heads of each department, agency and subdivision thereof, and all employees of such departments, agencies and subdivisions, and all other persons whether connected with the State Government or not, shall give and furnish to these committees upon request such information, records and documents as the committees deem necessary or proper for the achievement of the purposes for which each such committee was created.

Each such committee may either during the session or during the constitutional recess, meet at the State Capitol or at any other place in the State of California and do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and perform the duties herein granted to it and may expend such money as may be made available to it for such purpose; but no committee shall incur any indebtedness unless money shall have been first made available therefor. Members shall not be entitled to any salary because of membership on any such committee but shall be entitled to actual necessary expenses, not to exceed eight dollars per day and actual travel expenses which shall be deemed to be five and one-half cents per mile. The chairman of each committee shall audit and approve the expense claims of the members of the committee and shall certify the amount approved to the Controller, and the Controller shall draw his warrants upon the certification of the chairman.

The following reports were received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

Report to the Senate of the State of California by the Committee Created by Senate Resolution Number 59, September 22, 1940, for the Purpose of Making an Investigation of the Napa State Farm.

The Napa State Farm has been slaughtering the cattle since 1917 for the institutions in the State, viz.: Folsom Prison, San Quentin Prison, Napa Hospital, Veterans' Home, and other institutions. They have been farming the low lands on the farm and, like most all other farming operations for the past ten years, they show that it has not been a profitable venture.

Your committee learned from the witnesses heard that the farm had not been using their slaughtering establishment for the last year and because of this the institutions heard complain that the meats that they have been receiving on their contracts were far inferior to the meats received when animals were being slaughtered at the farm. In other words, it is your committee's opinion, from the testimony, that slaughtering of meat animals at the Napa State Farm, and keeping the slaughterhouse in repair and ready for operation is economically sound even though it does not show a profit, but the hidden profit comes from the millions of pounds of meat contracted for by the institutions and a safeguard against prices that may be out of line; therefore, your committee recommends that the slaughtering of meat animals be continued at the Napa State Farm.

With reference to the farming land itself, this can be let on shares as a dry-farm, and if and when a dam is constructed in Napa County and the farm is furnished with adequate water for irrigation purposes it can be operated at a profit to the State. The water at present is being sold to other institutions and no credit has been given the farm. If the credit was forthcoming to the farm's account, the farm account would not show such a discouraging statement.

If the 500 tillable acres of the farm were leased on shares, the State's take of its share would pay for any loss incurred by keeping the slaughterhouse in readiness for operation. Six hundred head of cattle can be fattened on the balance of 2,400 acres and sheep and cattle can be fattened on the by-products of the stubble of the 500 acres of tillable land, stubble or by-products should at all times be retained for pasture by the State and should be a part of the lease to the share cropper. This would permit the State to prepare live stock for slaughter at very little expense, and it is your committee's opinion that a trial should be given the above recommendation.

COMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATION OF THE NAPA STATE FARM,

PETER P. MYHAND, Chairman.
D. JACK METZGER.
R. R. CUNNINGHAM.
F. L. GORDON.

Minority Report to the Senate of the State of California by the Committee Created by Senate Resolution Number 59, September 22, 1940, for the Purpose of Making an Investigation of the Napa State Farm.

I desire to make a minority report on the Napa State Farm in Napa County, California, for the following reasons:

I do not agree with the majority of the committee on the grounds that I think it is impossible for the State to run a farm profitably and pay wages and salaries under civil service; I do not think it is possible for the State to run this farm where they take the water needed from the farm lands of the farm to other institutions for drinking purposes.

It is my thought that this farm should be run as a penal farm and for the same purposes for which it was purchased in 1917 by the State. The farm is ideally situated and could be run profitably by using prison help and in this way men could be released from our crowded prisons and be rehabilitated, and the various institutions could be supplied vegetables and meat at a price lower than they are now purchasing it.

I also feel that prison labor could be used in constructing a dirt dam at Rector Canyon and in this way money could be saved for the State, and at the same time the water could be supplied to the institutions for drinking purposes.

I also object very strenuously to the present use of the water of Rector Canyon that belongs to the Napa State Farm being used by the other institutions and being taken away from the land belonging to the Napa State Farm. The reason for my objection to this is that taking the water from this farm might jeopardize the water rights of the State and it certainly jeopardizes the productivity of this farm and keeps it from being a profitable farm. The water belongs to this farm and should be used entirely on the farm, except in the case where Rector Dam is built, and the surplus water could then be piped to the institutions.

It is my observance that one of the reasons why this farm is not showing a profit is that the Veterans' Home and the Napa State Hospital are taking the majority of the water from this farm and using it for drinking purposes, consequently the farm at present is being farmed as a dry farm while the property should be farmed as an irrigated farm.

Hoping that the Legislature will have the Napa State Farm in the future used as a penal farm and a place to raise vegetables and meats for the use of the State institutions.

Respectfully submitted.

RANDOLPH COLLIER,
One of the Committee on Investigation of the Napa State Farm.

Subject: Confirmation of Appointments.

Request: No. 8585.

DEAR SENATOR SEAWELL: You have requested that we advise you if the persons appointed to the State Board of Education when the Legislature was not in session, and whose names have been submitted to the Senate for confirmation, continue to serve as members of the State Board of Education if the Senate fails to confirm or reject such appointments prior to its adjournment sine die.

It is our opinion that the persons appointed to the State Board of Education when the Legislature was not in session will continue to act as members of the board should the Senate adjourn sine die without acting upon the appointments. The remainder of this letter will consider the principles upon which our conclusion is based.

Under section 2.1370 of the School Code, members of the State Board of Education are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of two-thirds of the Senate. Section 2.1371 of the same code fixes the term of office at four years and requires that the members of the board shall hold office until the appointment and qualification of their successors. In the School Code no provision is found for appointment to the Board of Education on vacancy occurring while the Legislature is not in session or appointment upon the expiration of a term while the Legislature is not in session. It would therefore appear that Political Code section 1000 is applicable, with the result that the persons appointed were lawfully appointed and hold office until the adjournment of the next session of the Legislature. Political Code section 1000 reads as follows:

"Whenever an office, the appointment to which is vested in the Governor and Senate, or in the Legislature, either becomes vacant or the term of the incumbent of which expires during the recess of the Legislature, the Governor has power to appoint a person to such office; but the person so appointed can only hold the office until the adjournment of the next session of the Legislature."

When the appointments were made to the State Board of Education, section 2.1371 of the School Code operated to extend these interim appointments until such time as successors are appointed and qualify in accordance with law. (People vs. Tyrrell (1891), 87 Cal. 475.) Until the unexpired terms for the three offices now filled by appointees are filled by appointment by the Governor with the consent of the Senate, the interim appointees are required by law to perform all the duties of the office of members of the State Board of Education.

It would appear that the law contemplates that the unexpired terms should be filled at the next session of the Legislature pursuant to section 1000, and at that time it would be in order for the Governor to submit names for confirmation by the Senate. Likewise, it would appear to be in order to submit the names of the persons appointed and now holding the offices as interim appointees. This was the procedure followed in submitting to the Senate for confirmation at the fifth special session the names of the persons appointed to the State Board of Education after the third special session of the Fifty-third Legislature failed to act upon the appointments of the same persons which were submitted to it.

Yours very truly,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.
By NORMAN MELLER, Assistant Counsel.

Speech by Speaker Gordon H. Garland.

Members of the Assembly:

You have seen fit to place me in the Speaker's chair to preside over the Assembly during this extraordinary session—for which I am grateful to you.

I am mindful of the obligations the office imposes. Be assured I shall be as fair and impartial as it is humanly possible to be. Petty partisan politics should have no place in our deliberations or actions. Rather, our conscientious beliefs should alone control.

Our task is no easy one. We are to consider important problems affecting the entire State and everyone in it. There must of necessity be differences of opinion. I trust they shall be honest differences. For honest differences of opinion bring debate of great benefit and help in solving our problems. Out of the crucible of such debate come better understandings and better legislation.

Let us set about our work with a steadiness of purpose and a determination that will not be denied.

In the realm of governmental activity, there are many proper functions of the State. We should resolutely determine to prevent any State agency from embarking upon any improper functions—that is, any activity not properly a function of government. In my opinion there has been too great a trend in government toward collectivism and regimentation. Industry and labor are already overburdened with taxation and paternalistic regulation and supervision. They should not further be harassed by governmental interference.

We must not be unmindful of our duty toward the unfortunates who can not sustain themselves. But we must distinguish these from those who will not sustain themselves, nor make an honest effort to do so.

That politics should have any place in the administration of relief is unthinkable. Yet evidence strongly points to the existence of such vice. It is my sincere hope such legislation as we pass will reduce the possibility of this to an absolute minimum. I strongly believe the relief problem should be considered an emergency situation and a greater effort made by the S. R. A. and State Employment Service to return to private employment as many as possible from relief rolls. Unless this is done we face not only financial bankruptcy but moral and spiritual bankruptcy as well—for there can be little hope in the hearts and minds of people on relief rolls for any great length of time.

We should jealously guard our legislative prerogatives and never suffer them on any pretense to be infringed upon by any other department of the government.

Let us set about our work with a resoluteness and determination not to be swerved from the course we believe to be proper. To this end I bespeak your friendly cooperation so that we may complete our work here at the earliest possible date.

Again I thank you for your confidence.

Olson, Governor of the State of California.

Presentation of Governor Culbert L. Olson.

Hon. Gordon H. Garland, Speaker of the Assembly, presented Governor Culbert L. Olson to the Joint Convention. The Governor delivered the following message:

Governor's Message to Legislators.

Members of the Senate and Assembly of the California Legislature:

Your special session, called to convene on this date, is held in accordance with your own plans at the conclusion of the regular session last year in recognition of the fact that the funds you appropriated for unemployment relief would be exhausted at about this time and of the State's inescapable need for new revenue, which you failed to provide at the regular session.

Unemployment Relief.

In considering and determining the amount of your appropriation to the Relief Administration and the Relief Commission for continuation of unemployment relief during the remainder of the present biennium, it is my duty to present to you the following information and carefully considered estimates:

During the 90th fiscal year, ended June 30, 1939, there was expended for unemployment relief the sum of $42,577,872.71. The corresponding figure for the first six months of the current fiscal year was $27,152,279.75. The unexpended balance of the $35,000,000 appropriated for relief at your regular session last year, as of December 31, 1939, was $7,847,720.25. Although this balance is sufficient to carry a portion of the present case-load for the next twenty days, because of the time required for administrative operations, audits and check writing by the State Controller, no new intake or further relief payments can be made after February 5. If your appropriation of funds for the remainder of the biennium can not be made before that date, it will be necessary for me to ask for an emergency appropriation.

Based upon carefully prepared estimates of need, an appropriation of $95,500,000 for relief is necessary to carry on for the balance of the biennium. This estimate is predicated upon the continuance of the same basic rules of eligibility as to destitution and residence and the same minimum budgetary standards that have been in effect since the inauguration of the program pursuant to the Unemployment Relief Act of 1935. It is also predicated upon a continuance of the present scope of Federal W.P.A. employment and all other factors involved.

While the total sum to cover existing needs for which this appropriation is urged appears large, it should be understood that approximately 350,000 persons within the State draw their entire subsistence therefrom. This large proportion of our population faces starvation unless these funds are provided.

Only 4 per cent of the entire amount of the appropriation required is proposed for expenditure upon our works program designed as an attack on the whole dole system by way of gradually making the unemployed self-supporting.

Economies in administering the program have been instituted. Others are in the process of development, such as a continuous independent audit of the relief rolls by the Department of Finance, which I am recommending, and the efficient functioning of the S.R.A. Personnel Standards Board, which I have recently appointed.

From time to time restrictions have been urged with a view to decreasing the total cost of unemployment relief. Included among these have been the fixing of a ceiling of $65.00 for monthly family budgets, the establishment of a three year State residence requirement for relief, and the establishment of still more rigid rules for eligibility than have heretofore been adopted. Should the Legislature adopt all these restrictions, I am advised that a saving of as much as $30,000,000 may be effected. If this should be your action, the appropriation necessary for the remainder of the biennium will be $66,000,000.

However, I submit that no such reduction is possible without causing untold misery and hardship.

These estimates are shocking to me, as they no doubt are to you. In my budget message last January the total amount estimated for unemployment relief during the current biennium was $73,660,000. That estimate did not contemplate the drastic W.P.A. curtailment which followed, throwing back onto S.R.A. 30,000 case-loads. The W.P.A. case-load was thereby decreased from 67 per cent to 46 per cent of the total unemployment relief load of the State, while the S.R.A. case-load further augmented by all normal increases due to population rise and from other employment, has increased from 33 per cent to 54 per cent of the total aid. On December 14, 1938, its case-load was 59,000; on December 13, 1939, it was 100,000.

We would all condemn any laxity in accepting relief cases; any relief generosity inspired by political consideration; any waste or inefficiency in the administration of relief. But, obviously, if sporadic instances of such things are found by our intensive drives to prevent them, the total of increased or unnecessary costs attributable to such instances would be negligible and infinitesimal. They can not truthfully be considered a factor in accounting for the tremendous increase in the S.R.A. case-load and in the cost of unemployment relief.

As to costs of the administration of relief, I have insisted that continuous effort be made to reduce the same to not more than 15 per cent, which is considerably below the cost thereof during the previous administration. Progress has been and is being made in lowering the administrative costs to that level or below it. I do not believe the cost of administration need be higher. As an aid in keeping the cost within that limit, I recommend that provision be made in your appropriation that the costs of administration shall not exceed 15 per cent.

In considering the extent to which the relief load may be decreased by a pick-up in business activities and employment opportunities, we should bear in mind the highly important fact that the number of unemployed who receive relief is the smaller part of the total number of employable unemployed men and women in the State who are seeking jobs. Available statistics show that on November 30, 1939, approximately 176,000 cases, representing 228,000 workers in California, were receiving unemployment relief from all unemployment relief agencies—the S.R.A., the W.P.A., and the Farm Security Administration. At the same time there were in the State between 550,000 and 600,000 unemployed workers, approximately 350,000 of whom were receiving no relief at all.

It is these unemployed workers, not on relief, who are the first to return to private employments during any upswing in industrial activities. Their resources are generally greater, which is one important reason they are not on relief; their employment records are more recent, their health is better, and in a general way they are more employable than those on relief and thus have the advantage in competition for a limited number of jobs.

The State's Need for Additional Revenue.

The State's need for additional revenue is, of course, well known to you, as it is to all persons familiar with the fiscal condition of the State. We face serious financial problems in meeting the fixed charges of the Constitution, the requirements of the laws passed by the Legislature, the operating expenditures which you have budgeted, and your appropriations for unemployment relief.

On June 30, 1939, the General Fund deficit was $38,711,723. Since adjournment of your regular session last June without providing additional revenue, that deficit has been and is still increasing at the rate of $2,400,000 per month.

An appropriation for relief of $66,000,000, the minimum and inadequate figure already mentioned, when added to budgeted appropriations and fixed charges now in force, will bring authorized General Fund expenditures for the 1939-1941 biennium to a total of $397,797,173. Existing revenue laws, on the other hand, are estimated to yield only $351,486,923 to the General Fund during the same two year period. This leaves a current budget deficiency, or shortage of revenues, with which to meet required expenditures for this present biennium amounting to $46,310,250. This sum, added to the carry-over deficit of $38,711,723, inherited from previous administrations, means unless you provide new revenue at this session, that on June 30, 1941, the State would be confronted with an accumulated deficit in excess of $85,000,000. This would be by far the largest deficit in the history of the State and would seriously threaten its credit.

Thus far the deficit has been financed through the sale of General Fund warrants to banks and other financial institutions. Nearly $92,000,000 of these warrants are now outstanding. It is expected that the total will amount as high as $108,000,000 by the end of the biennium, unless you enact new revenue measures at this session. I am competently advised that we are rapidly approaching a saturation point beyond which it will be difficult, if not impossible, to find a market for the State's warrants. If our warrants can not be sold under the present system, the State will be forced to return to the procedure of issuing registered warrants to each of its State employees, and to merchants, contractors, and other individual creditors, who would find difficulty in converting them into cash, except at heavy discounts. Such a situation in the State's financial affairs would be chaotic.

Moreover, the interest charges alone on this mounting registered warrant debt constitutes a heavy burden on the taxpayer. Such charges with amount to $3,800,000 during the present biennium, equivalent to the entire receipts from the State's tax on beer and wines.

Ordinary prudence and common business sense in the management of the State's fiscal affairs imperatively demands that measures be adopted now which will at least balance the budget for the current biennium and prevent any further increase in the accumulated deficit. Common sense should induce the wisdom and economy of immediately adopting a relatively moderate additional revenue program rather than facing the necessity of making the radical increases which would be necessary eighteen months hence, if you continue this mounting deficit.

Estimates by the Department of Finance of receipts to be derived under existing law have been carefully prepared. Every effort has been made to foresee probable trends of economic conditions and to make allowance for continued improvement in California business. It is anticipated that tax receipts under existing laws will be the largest in the history of the State. These anticipations agree almost exactly with forecasts made independently by the State agencies administering the respective taxes, and are considerably in excess of estimated General Fund revenue receipts as projected by the State Controller. It is possible, of course, that a marked and prolonged increase in business and prices since the levels of 1937 would result in greater revenue than is now estimated. There is no positive assurance at the present time, however, that the business pickup will attain any such proportions, unless induced by demands arising out of intensified war activities abroad. In the latter event the State should prepare for the inevitable dislocations which would accompany the cessation of such a war. We should husband any additional receipts occurring by reason of war-time prosperity, to wipe out all past deficits and to cushion the certain shrinkage in the State revenues that would result from an ensuing depression. Those who claim the State's budget will be balanced through increased prosperity must prove their case. They must be prepared to take the responsibility for any policies adopted as a result of accepting their views. Responsibility for failing to balance our budget can not be escaped by accepting assertions made in behalf of those who would avoid their just share of the tax burden. It is unstatesmanlike and unbusinesslike to gamble with the financial soundness of the State.

I, therefore, emphasize that you are called in this special session to enact such revenue measures as will produce, in the remaining seventeen months of the current biennium, receipts sufficient to balance the 1939-1941 budget, and to reduce the carry-over deficit by approximately $4,000,000. On the basis of the minimum mentioned as your possible appropriation for unemployment relief, additional revenue amounting to $50,000,000 in the present biennium would be required to accomplish that objective. If you make provision for any further appropriations at this session, as for instance further old age security assistance, the amount of additional revenue required therefor must be added to these figures.

Before suggesting or recommending to you definite sources of new revenue and specific measures to obtain it, I wish to restate my concept of the fundamental principle which should control taxation. Taxes should have a direct relationship to ability to pay. Governments should, so far as possible, avoid those levies which fall with particular severity upon low income groups, and should utilize taxes which increase in accordance with the income of the taxpayer. In keeping with this principle, it is obvious that the State of California should not increase its present retail sales tax nor enact a general gross receipts tax. It should not levy a property tax for State revenue. Each of these possible means of raising additional revenue would throw the State tax system further out of balance on the side of regressive taxation. It would operate to further curtail consumption, and increase unemployment.

Sound, equitable and progressive principles of taxation require that additional revenue, needed to continue the essential services of government and maintain the State's credit, be obtained through adjustments in: net income taxes; a severance tax on the depletion of our rich and irreplaceable natural resources; levies upon luxuries and non-essential items of consumption. Such measures, together with legislation to close loopholes in our existing tax laws, and increases in horse-racing license fees, will provide ample revenue to meet the State's current fiscal emergency. Therefore, I suggest to you the following revenue sources and recommend the enactment of tax measures which will yield therefrom the funds necessary to balance the current State budget.

In order to expedite your consideration of such measures I have had bills prepared for introduction, specifically responding to the suggestions outlined in the following paragraphs.

Personal Income Tax.

Adjustments in Rates.

A comparative analysis of State personal income taxes in the United States shows that the tax imposed in California upon annual incomes of $50,000 or less is well below the average tax in other States. Today the California taxpayer with $5,000 of taxable net income pays a State income tax of only $50. This is extremely low when compared with the $245 required in Oregon, $210 in New York, or $139 in Minnesota and Iowa. An adjustment can be made in the present rate schedule sufficient to produce from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year in additional State revenue without placing an undue hardship upon the citizens and residents of California.

Personal Deduction.

The present income tax law allows the taxpayer a flat exemption of $1,000 if a single person, or $2,500 if married or the head of a family, and a credit of $400 for each dependent. Personal exemptions and credits for dependents are, of course, entirely equitable features of any income tax. However, under our existing law they operate as a deduction from net income in computing the amount subject to taxation, with the result that the smallest taxpayer is granted a reduction in tax liability equivalent to $10 if he is single, or $25 if married, and the equivalent of $4 for each dependent. The largest taxpayer, on the other hand, is granted a reduction in tax liability of $150 if single, $375 if married or head of a family, and a credit equivalent of $60 for each dependent. California might well follow the lead of five other income tax states by providing a credit against tax in the amount of $10 for each single person, $25 for each married person or head of a family, and $4 for each dependent. If this change were made, all taxpayers would be treated impartially, and the State would receive from $2,000,000 to $7,000,000 additional tax revenue per year, depending upon the rate schedule adopted.

Under the present law many taxpayers are allowed to take large deductions on account of interest and taxes with respect to the purchase and ownership of expensive pleasure yachts and cars, valuable jewelry, and expensive residences and estates, thereby greatly reducing the amount of income taxes they pay. Such expenditures are personal or living expenses and should be disallowed as are other personal or living expenses in the computation of income taxes. In order positively to assure that the equitable feature of this change in the law would not operate to impose additional burdens upon the ownership of homes by persons of moderate means, any taxpayer should be allowed a deduction from gross income in the amount paid out for interest and taxes, but not to exceed $500 for any taxable year. It is estimated that this revision in the law would produce approximately $700,000 additional revenue per year under the present rate schedule, and substantially in excess of this amount if the tax rates were increased.

Treatment of capital gains and losses is a perplexing problem in determining an equitable method of taxing incomes. Approximately $900,000 in additional taxes could be obtained by amending the present law to provide that gains from the sale of capital assets shall be accorded the same treatment as other gains, that capital losses may be deducted from capital gains, and that the excess of losses over gains in a particular year may be deducted from gains in a subsequent year. While immediate additional revenue would result from such a change as that outlined, it should be observed that a decrease in revenue below that obtaining under the existing law would result during periods of great financial crisis and deep depression. At such a time losses would offset gains, with the result that the State would receive little revenue from investment operations of its income taxpayers.

Two further amendments to the personal income tax law should be considered, although in each instance the amount of additional revenue realized would be extremely small as compared with that which would result from the changes above outlined. Income from trusts established by parents for the support of their minor children should be taxed to the parent; and deductions for gifts and donations should be limited to gifts and donations actually made during the taxable year, and, where consisting of property, the deduction should be limited to the cost of such property to the taxpayer. The former amendment will close one of the loopholes most frequently utilized by wealthy taxpayers; the latter involves only a strengthening and simplification of the present law with respect to gifts and donations. Sufficient information is not available from which an accurate estimate could be given of the additional revenue that might be thus realized; but its amount would be comparatively small.

It should be pointed out that any upward adjustment in the present rate schedule would result in corresponding increases in the income to be derived from these loophole-closing amendments.

Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax.

Tax Rates.

Banks and corporations operating in California pay a franchise tax in accordance with the amount of net income earned on their operations. In keeping with the principle of taxation according to ability to pay and in view of the present financial needs of the State, the Legislature should re-appraise the present rates imposed under this tax law. An increase from 4 per cent to 5 per cent in the rate on general corporations and from a maximum of 8 per cent to a maximum of 9 per cent in the bank tax rate would produce approximately $5,000,000 in additional revenue annually.

Minimum Tax.

Under the Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act, corporations, regardless of their size and the extent of their operations, are required to pay a minimum tax of only $25 per year. With such a provision in effect, if no net income is realized, a corporation having an investment of many millions of dollars in this State pays the same for its operating franchise as a small firm with an investment of only a few thousand dollars. The privilege of doing business as a corporation is of immense value to the company with large holdings, regardless of the temporary condition of its current income. It is recommended, therefore, that the minimum tax provision of the franchise tax act be amended to require a minimum tax of $25 per year or an amount equal to one-twentieth of 1 per cent of the corporation's assets situated in California, whichever is the larger, but such minimum tax in no event to exceed $10,000. This change in the existing law would result in additional taxes amounting to $2,200,000 per year.

Loophole-Closing Amendments.

Three loophole-closing amendments should be considered with a view to strengthening the present Bank and Corporation Franchise Tax Act. These, in brief, are as follows:

1. Provide that inter-corporate dividends should be treated in the same manner as other income in computing the franchise tax, except where the subsidiary corporation is at least 95 per cent owned by the taxpayer corporation. Present provisions of the law with respect to the taxation of dividends received by corporations present one of the most vexing problems of administration of this tax. An amendment such as that outlined not only would produce approximately $400,000 additional yearly revenue at the present tax rate and $500,000 with a 1 per cent increase in rate, but also would materially reduce the cost of administering this tax.
  2. Disallow the deduction for interest on notes or other evidence of indebtedness if the obligation to pay interest upon such indebtedness is conditioned upon or measured by the amount of earnings or profits of the taxpayer corporation, or if the evidence of indebtedness has no fixed date of maturity.
  3. Strengthen the existing law to prevent avoidance of tax by contractual arrangements between affiliated corporations.
  4. Amend the franchise tax act with respect to gifts and donations as outlined above for the personal income tax.
- No accurate estimates of additional revenue that may be realized from the last three amendments itemized are available.

Alcoholic Beverage Taxes and License Fees.

In comparison with similar taxes in other States the present State excise taxes on distilled spirits, beer and wine are very low. An increase in the tax on distilled spirits from the present rate of 80 cents per gallon to the national average of approximately $1.00 per gallon would produce an additional $2,000,000 per year, while an increase in the tax on beer from 3 cents to 5 cents per gallon (the national average) would result in $2,400,000 more revenue than is now received from that source.

With respect to the tax on wine, the present California rate is below that of any other State. An increase to the lowest rates in effect elsewhere, namely 5 cents per gallon on dry wine and 10 cents on sweet wine, would produce annually $1,300,000 more in sorely needed State revenue. Certain of the present liquor license fees can be adjusted with equity. It should be possible to obtain at least $1,400,000 per year for the State General Fund through adjustments in the charges for these licenses. In connection with the increases recommended here, it should be noted that these excise taxes and fees are levied upon non-essential items of consumption from which the taxpayer may well abstain, at least to the extent that he believes his indulgence is overtaxing himself.

Inheritance and Gift Taxes.

An amendment of the inheritance tax law involving a moderate increase in the rates on all inheritances except those under $25,000 received by direct heirs was proposed at the regular session last year. This recommendation merits reconsideration, and if adopted, it would produce additional revenue to the extent of $2,000,000 per year.

The gift tax enacted in 1939 should also be amended to provide rates paralleling those now recommended under the inheritance tax. If this is done, at least $175,000 more can be anticipated from this source.

Severance Tax.

Petroleum, natural gas, and natural gasoline are our richest natural underground resources. They are fugitive substances subject to capture and drainage from the reservoirs and structures containing them wherever they extend. They are irreplaceable and will be exhausted in a comparatively few years, probably during this generation. The consumer now pays heavy sales taxes on gasoline and other petroleum products, but the producer and royalty owner pay no tax to the State in their exploitation and depletion of these natural resources. The principal argument of representatives of large oil producing interests, even before legislative committees, in opposition to a severance tax on oil, natural gas and natural gasoline, has been that it can not be passed on to the consumer. All recognized authorities on taxation approve severance taxes on mineral resources, such as oil, natural gas and natural gasoline as a sound and equitable tax base. Nineteen States now have severance taxes on one or more of their natural resources, and in many of these States this is the source of a substantial amount of revenue. With one exception, all other major oil-producing States have a severance tax on petroleum production. California is the second largest oil- and gas-producing State. A 2 per cent tax upon petroleum, natural gas and natural gasoline as produced, would yield revenue amounting to approximately $6,000,000 per year, while a 3 per cent tax would amount to $9,000,000.

Tobacco Tax.

In selecting sources of additional State revenue, consideration should be given to the enactment of a cigarette and tobacco tax in California. At the present time, twenty-five of the forty-eight States have imposed levies either upon cigarettes alone or upon all tobacco products. It is estimated that a tax of 2 cents per package on cigarettes, 1 cent per ounce on smoking tobacco, 1 cent on each cigar retailing for over 5 cents, and varying rates on other tobacco products, would return $8,250,000 in State revenue per year. Of this amount, approximately $5,800,000 would come from the 2 cent tax on cigarettes and the remainder, $2,450,000 from the tax on other products.

Motor Vehicle Transportation License Tax.

The present 3 per cent gross receipts tax upon motor carriers applies only to operations upon State highways and does not extend to operations conducted within city limits. This appears to be an entirely arbitrary limitation, and this tax might well apply to all commercial operations in the State. In addition to the $1,200,000 of annual State revenue which would be obtained by extending this tax to city carriers, the administration of the existing law would be greatly simplified with respect to the determination of tax upon operations partly within and partly without city limits.

Insurance Gross Premiums Tax.

In view of the fact that the existing tax was established in 1921 and revisions in taxes upon other types of business have been made since that time, the insurance tax should be analyzed with a view toward obtaining an increase in the yield. This could be done by raising the existing 2.6 per cent tax rate or by eliminating certain deductions allowed under the existing law. An increase in the present rate to 3 per cent could yield approximately $1,300,000 annual revenue. At present, insurance companies offset taxes paid upon real property located in California against the gross premiums tax imposed by the State. The original intent of this provision was to encourage and assist California insurance companies. In actual practice, however, the larger part of the benefit accrues to out-of-State companies having extensive real estate holdings here. Furthermore, this benefit accrues to relatively few companies. In view of this fact, it would seem logical to amend the State Constitution to eliminate the so-called real estate offset. Although no additional revenue would be received during the current biennium, if this constitutional amendment were approved by the voters, approximately $1,500,000 more General Fund revenue would be received annually in subsequent periods. It has been held that dividends paid to policy-holders may be deducted in computing taxable gross premiums. An amendment to the law disallowing this deduction would result in a $250,000 increase in the annual tax.

Horse Racing License Fees.

At the present time the license fee for conducting horse race meetings is 4 per cent of the money handled in the pari-mutuel betting pools operated in connection with such meetings. The revenue from this source is expended principally for the support of agricultural fairs throughout the State, and for the maintenance of agricultural schools. At your regular session last year, it was recommended that the State obtain a part of its needed General Fund revenue by imposing a graduated fee ranging from the present 4 per cent to 8 per cent, depending upon the volume of money handled at any particular race track. It is estimated that a graduated fee of this type requiring 8 per cent of all amounts in excess of $10,000,000 would return approximately $1,500,000 in revenue for the General Fund each year, and if the State takes all or any part of the "breakage," this return would be further increased very substantially.

$50,000,000 in New Revenue.

From the sources here outlined, a tax program to yield the $50,000,000 necessary to balance the State budget during the current biennium can be obtained without violating the principle of taxation according to ability to pay and without having an unduly burdensome effect upon business or upon taxpayers generally.

Golden Gate Exposition Appropriation.

In order to assist the exposition on Treasure Island, in San Francisco Bay, to continue in 1940, I recommend that an appropriation be made to the California Commission for the Golden Gate International Exposition. The only way, perhaps, that any of the $5,000,000 appropriated and already expended by the State in the building and conduct of this fair will be realized, is in increased revenues from sales, gas, and other taxes which are augmented by the expenditures of fair visitors. There remains unexpended the sum of $550,000 of the $5,000,000 originally appropriated for this exposition. The commission has presented a budget which calls for an appropriation of $591,756 in addition to this balance on hand of $550,000.

I am convinced that $430,000 in addition to the balance on hand is sufficient, and recommend such appropriation, and also an additional $85,000, which the commission may expend for maintenance and operation of county exhibits which the county budgets have not included this year. These recommendations are made with the proviso that sufficient revenue be raised to meet such appropriations.

The San Francisco Convention and Tourist Bureau and other interested civic and business groups have requested me to allow the consideration of an additional appropriation to the commission to be expended for the purpose of bringing political conventions to the State during the fair. I am informed that an appropriation of $150,000 for this purpose might result in the success of their efforts to bring such conventions to San Francisco. I am assured that this would undoubtedly bring large numbers of people to the fair, contribute to business activities and aid the fair's success in 1940. Such an appropriation, if made, should be earmarked so that it will be returned to the General Fund in the event a convention of either of the two major political parties is not held in California in 1940.

Old Age Pensions.

Another subject submitted for your consideration is that of amending our old age security law so as to cancel and remove authority to secure liens or other claims against the small property holdings of recipients of old age assistance.

The present provision authorizing boards of supervisors, in administering this aid, to require agreements imposing such liens when exercised is, I am advised, of little net value to the State, county or Federal government, considering costs of its enforcement. Besides it places an unnecessary hardship upon many elderly persons deserving and eligible for old age assistance.

I am advised that not more than 20 per cent of the eligible applicants for old age assistance have any interest—present or prospective—in any real property. Such interest, when found to exist, usually consists of doubtful equities held by those who have lived thrifty lives only to see their savings lost as a result of economic depression. Such persons cling tenaciously to the hope that changed conditions may take them out of the class of eligibles for old age assistance.

I, therefore, recommend appropriate amendments to our old age assistance laws, so as to eliminate the lien on property agreement provisions found in sections 2226 and 2229 of the Welfare and Institutions Code.

Liberalization of Old Age Assistance.

There is submitted to you also the question of reducing the age qualifications for the aid granted under our old age security law. The granting of such aid is now generally accepted as both a social responsibility and sound public policy.

Old age assistance in California was first authorized by an act passed in 1929. It has been amended and liberalized by amendments adopted in the legislative sessions of 1931, 1935, 1936, and in your session of 1937.

Along with its phenomenal growth in population, in capital investments and industrial development, California, because of its marvelous climate and other natural advantages, has attracted elderly citizens of other states who come here to retire upon the savings of their productive years. In the decade prior to the depression of the past ten years, chambers of commerce and representatives of commercial and promotional activities, through systematic advertising urged such people to make their homes here and enjoy California's climate and agreeable environment. As a result, there was an influx of elderly persons with resources adequate for their maintenance the rest of their lives. During the depression of the past ten years many of these elderly people lost their resources, incomes and their investments made in California.

This fact, added to the displacement from private employment of people of advanced age, and the hardships, want and suffering generally resulting from unemployment, has caused this State to take the lead in expressing sentiment in favor of old age pensions and the liberalization of existing old age assistance acts.

The fact that this sentiment has at times been seized upon by self-seeking demagogues or racketeers primarily interested in propagandizing for and securing contributions of huge funds in the promotion of unworkable schemes offering promises for payment of pensions to the aged which could not possibly be fulfilled, should not prejudice the principles of social justice. These call for liberalization of the Old Age Security Act to the maximum of the public's financial ability to pay. The tremendous support thus aroused and the sincerity of that support should rather be considered as a manifestation of conditions of hardship and destitution in which our elderly people find themselves and as their attempt to articulate their demands for relief.

The platform on which I was elected declares: "For purposes of uniformity, old age pensions, in their entirety, should be financed and administered by the Federal government. Until that is accomplished, we shall favor State provision for the aged to the extent that public finances will permit."

Up to now Congress has failed to provide for Federal financing and administration of old age pensions, still leaving it to the several states to determine whether they shall match or exceed the amounts presently given by the Federal government to the respective states toward old age assistance. This aid, as you know, now amounts to $20 per month. The State and counties of California are required under our present act to pay an equal amount on the basis of need to eligible persons who have reached the age of 65 years.

On the basis of need and merit and from the standpoint of social justice senior citizens between the ages of 60 and 65 years are equally entitled to this assistance with those who have reached the age of 65.

It is anticipated that the present session of Congress may at least extend to all eligible needy over the age of 60, the aid now given eligible needy who have reached the age of 65. I urge the Legislature to memorialize Congress to take that action.

For California to do likewise and provide $20 per month to those over 60 would require approximately $12,000,000 per year, and remove many relief cases from S.R.A. Approximately 75 per cent of our present old age assistance cases comprise citizens who have resided in California more than 15 years. The door for this aid is not open to newcomers.

In view of the tax burden now carried by the counties and the clamor by the counties for the State to aid them in carrying their share of the amount required to meet the present old age assistance provisions, the counties can not very well be expected to carry a larger old age assistance tax burden at the present time. Any amendment made to lower the age limit from 65 to 60 should therefore provide for the payment by the State of the full amount of assistance given to eligibles coming within that category.

This would mean that if $20 per month is immediately paid for old age assistance to those between 60 and 65, State revenues to the extent of $12,000,000 must be provided. If you provide for this additional revenue, which I recommend, in addition to revenue needed to balance the current budget, I also recommend that this liberalization of the present law be made immediately.

If you do not provide for revenue to presently meet the requirements of such an amendment, then in any event I recommend that such an amendment be made, to become effective whenever the Federal government shall furnish the State the same Federal assistance for old age pensions to those between 60 and 65 as is now furnished to those over 65.

In addition to such legislation and memorial, I also urge the passage of a memorial to the President and the Congress of the United States, asking that the Federal government take over the financing and administration of old age pensions in their entirety and provide, on a basis of need, at least $60 per month for all eligible citizens who are over the age of 60 years.

State Housing Authority.

Another subject submitted for your consideration is legislation to create a State Housing Authority; to undertake slum clearance and projects; to provide dwelling accommodations for persons of low income and to take advantage of the provisions of the United States Housing Act of 1937.

There is now pending in the Congress of the United States a bill which doubles the present $800,000,000 program of the United States Housing Authority. It specifically earmarks $200,000,000 of said funds for the assistance of projects to provide housing for families of low income in rural areas. The State of California will be eligible to receive $80,000,000 of these funds for low cost housing, if this bill is passed. It is important, therefore, that legislation be enacted immediately to enable California to fully participate in this program.

As you all know, the existence of unsafe, insanitary and unfit dwelling accommodations, particularly for migratory workers, has produced an alarming economic and social condition in the State of California. From both our urban and rural districts have come the documented stories of the menace of the slums to the health, safety, morals and welfare of the citizens of our State.

Our housing problem, in its most acute form, is essentially a problem of rural housing.

Contrary to most public opinion, the State government, as such, is already deeply involved in the housing problem. The Relief Administrator is spending millions in rent for the most miserable housing for relief clients.

In the San Joaquin Valley counties alone, the State is spending from $100,000 to $125,000 a month for relief client rents; for shacks, hovels, cheap auto camps and tent camping space. The fruit of these rent payments is this: rural slums have become highly profitable to their owners, while demoralizing and destroying the health of their occupants.

For a great many years, most of the seasonal agricultural workers, numbering from 175,000 to 200,000 people, were aliens who left the rural valleys at the conclusion of the season. Today, as a result of the Dust Bowl influx, and many other causes, a very large percentage of these workers are Americans who are trying to settle down. Thousands of them have taken root and have become residents.

These people have been housed in labor camps, shack towns and auto camps. Last year there were some 4,500 farm labor camps with a population of 145,000. As the name implies, these camps are designed merely for temporary, seasonal occupation and are wholly inadequate for permanent housing. Last year the cotton camps were 60 per cent to 70 per cent occupied throughout the winter. The overcrowding was appalling, with as many as eight persons living in a one-room cabin.

Many of these workers, not permitted to remain in the labor camps after the season, have moved into shack towns adjacent to the valley cities and towns. These shack towns present a most distressing problem because they are located, for the most part, in areas not subject to adequate public regulations. They are mushroom communities, flimsy, unplanned, unregulated and uncontrolled. For the most part, they are devoid of sanitary facilities. They are located on river banks, ditch banks and other unlikely spots. The housing is primitive, consisting of shacks, tents, lean-to's, and dugouts, shockingly overcrowded.

Because of the peculiar origin and nature of California's rural housing problem, the only practical approach possible is from the point of view of the State as a whole. A housing authority predicated upon decentralization with initiative and responsibility assumed primarily by cities and counties serves very well and we already have a few very active housing authorities operating under the authority of our enabling acts passed in 1938. But, where rural housing is the major element, I find that it is the State, rather than the counties or towns, that must assume initiative and responsibility. This is true for a number of definite reasons.

In the first place, the rural counties of California have shown no indication that they realize the seriousness of the problem, or that they accept the responsibility for doing anything about it.

In the face of a growing housing shortage, which has been acute since 1935, no functioning authority has been established thus far in any of the rural counties. This demonstrates the necessity for State action.

In the second place, for the purposes of planning, the State is in a much better position to view the problem in its broadest aspects and to plan on a much more comprehensive basis than any one county could possibly hope to do. The State is in a better position than any of the counties to analyze this problem and to locate housing projects where they are to be of the most benefit.

In the third and final place, for the purposes of administrative economy and efficiency, a State Housing Authority offers many advantages over a number of separate, uncoordinated, independent county or small city authorities. Once a project has been constructed, administrative expense becomes very important, because it has a direct bearing upon the amount of rent to be charged. A single State agency can manage many projects with much less overhead cost than if each project be a separate unit under a county authority. Likewise, the State can attack the job of construction with mass production methods, and build more cheaply, because of the larger scale of operations. The program, in other words, can be supervised as a whole, and the relation of every project to the other can be carefully weighed and considered.

A State Housing Authority would operate essentially in the same manner as city and county authorities operate under the Housing Authorities Law of the State of California. However, the State Authority would not be empowered to function in any city or county in California where a local authority is authorized to function and is functioning. I wish to make it clear that it is not the intention, in submitting a State Housing Authority bill, to permit interference of any kind with existing local housing authorities who are functioning, or who expect to function, under the provisions of the present Housing Authorities Law of California.

The State Housing Authority should be composed of five members appointed by the Governor. Aside from the administrative expense for the first year of operation, the State would assume no direct obligation. All other funds would come from the United States Housing Authority.

Practically no expense to the State is contemplated in this proposed legislation. The United States Housing Authority has informed me that the legislation, in the form in which it is to be introduced, meets the necessary Federal requirements. Therefore, I wish to caution against any changes in the form of the bill submitted, without the approval of the United States Housing Authority.

Proposed Amendment to Central Valley Authority Act.

By the narrow margin of two votes you failed to pass amendments proposed at your regular session last year to the Central Valley Authority Act which would enable California to keep faith with the Federal government and perform its duty to the people in the development of the Central Valley Project.

I have considered carefully whether such legislation could be further delayed until the next regular session, without injury to the public interest and without ignoring requests received from the Federal administration. I am convinced that can not be done and that the need for this legislation is so urgent that it would be a dereliction of duty on my part if I failed to include it in the subjects submitted for your consideration.

The Federal government will surely complete this project if California will do the things needed to be done and give the people its full benefit in the delivery to them, at the lowest possible cost, of the water and power from this project. That objective can only be obtained through public distribution.

I have received messages from President Roosevelt, from the Secretary of the Interior, from the United States Commissioner of Reclamation, and others representing the Federal government, urging that the State place itself in a position to do just that in the discharge of its responsibilities in connection with this project.

In addition, the State Director of Public Works and the executive officer of the Project Authority have advised me that such enabling legislation should be enacted at this special session.

Immediately after the defeat at your regular session last year of the so-called Pierovich Bill (Senate Bill No. 863) containing such legislation, United States Reclamation Commissioner John C. Page proposed that State and Federal representatives, together with local groups, continue consideration of the matter.

During the fall numerous conferences were held and letters exchanged between the State and Federal governments concerning this needed legislation. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes already had urged that the State concern itself with providing distribution facilities for the water and power from this project, and President Roosevelt telegraphed his endorsement. These conferences culminated in a two-day meeting in Sacramento in December, attended by Federal, State and local representatives. As a result of this meeting an amendment to the Central Valley Project Act was again drafted. That proposed amendment in simple language would free up to $50,000,000 of the $170,000,000 of revenue bonds authorized in the present act to be used by the State in carrying out the purposes and objects of the act itself. It would place the State in a position to contract with the Federal government for distribution of the electric power developed by the project, instead of leaving the Federal government and the people to be served at the mercy of a private power distribution monopoly which would be its only purchaser.

Federal government officials are well aware of the need for haste in having this legislation enacted. They know the inevitable delays which follow if the distribution and marketing features of a project are left untouched until the project is completed. The Federal government and the people suffered loss from delays in providing for public distribution of power upon the completion of the Bonneville project in the State of Washington. Such a condition in California should be prevented by your action at this session.

Providing the means for public distribution of the water and power from the Central Valley Project should go hand in hand with the construction of the project, if the people are to realize the full benefits of both the water and the power furnished by this project.

In the last few weeks I have received many communications from all parts of the valley, urging that I include this necessary legislation in the agenda for the special session. Only last week a meeting of two hundred farmers from the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys, many of whom were officials of irrigation and reclamation districts, unanimously adopted a resolution urging this action on my part. In view of its importance to the people of the Central Valley, to the Federal government and the State as a whole, I hope you will enact this proposed bill.

Liquor Control.

I am submitting for your consideration and recommending a constitutional amendment and fitting legislation transferring the administration and enforcement of laws relating to the licensing, regulation and distribution of alcoholic beverages from the Board of Equalization to a new State agency to be created.

The Board of Equalization was originally created in 1879 to equalize property valuations for taxation purposes, as between the counties; to assess the value of certain public utility properties, and generally to supervise tax law administration.

Since that time other duties have been assigned, and the administration of other laws have been committed to this board, including the collection of gasoline and sales taxes, motor vehicle transportation taxes, etc., also that of administering and enforcing liquor control and liquor license laws.

There is now a strong public demand that all liquor control administration be removed from the Board of Equalization and vested in another separately constituted State commission, exclusively devoted to that work. This will, I believe, accomplish better liquor control administration. It will also insure that the entire attention of the Board of Equalization may be devoted to its other manifold and important duties.

During the past year this demand has become more general and more emphatic because of evils which have become very apparent in the board's administration of the liquor laws. Since the board members are directly elected by the people, various liquor interests spend huge sums of money to influence their election. As a result there have been recurring scandals in such elections as well as in connection with the performance of the administrative duties of the board.

Furthermore, the vast amount of time and attention required in properly handling the administration of the liquor control laws and the perplexing problems in connection therewith, so as to maintain honesty and efficiency in the service and carry out the provisions of the laws intended to minimize the evils of the liquor traffic, makes it essential that these duties be performed by a separate State agency or commission. Naturally the other work and tremendously important duties of the Board of Equalization can not be handled as efficiently as they should be unless the board be relieved of the administration of liquor control laws.

I therefore strongly urge that this be done, and that a separate State appointive commission be provided for to take over the entire administration and duties of administration of all State liquor control and liquor licensing acts.

San Francisco Harbor Operations.

Recent and previous protracted tie-ups of the San Francisco Harbor, due to strikes and the inability of the waterfront employers and certain groups of their employees to adjust their differences, have resulted in huge losses to the public generally.

In order to avoid such recurring interruptions of the normal movement of commodities shipped through the State's harbor facilities at San Francisco, I strongly urge you to enact legislation enlarging the powers of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners by permitting it to supervise, regulate and control the receiving, handling, custody, and delivery of merchandise on the wharves and piers of San Francisco Harbor and on the property within its jurisdiction, to license and require bonds of ships' agents, and to do all things necessary for the direct operation of San Francisco Harbor facilities by the State of California.

The Port of San Francisco is one of the few ports in the United States that provides facilities only and that does not provide services necessary in connection with cargo movement. Shippers located long distances from ports require certain services in connection with their shipments and, because of the fact that they are not present to arrange for them with various agencies, require that they be performed by one authority with complete control and responsibility. That authority, of course, must be the harbor authority. It has become increasingly important that all harbors perform these services in order that cargo handling may be more efficient and economical. If the Port of San Francisco is to be placed on a comparable basis with other ports, it must be in a position to perform these terminal services.

There is nothing new or radical in this proposal. Terminal services of this character are performed in various degrees by most of the ports of the world. Oakland, under its city charter, is permitted to and does perform terminal operations. The harbor of Long Beach, also under municipal control, has the privilege of doing all the things asked for in these amendments. Seattle, Portland, New Orleans, Camden, Houston and Galveston, and other important ports are permitted to and do perform such terminal operations.

In 1922 the Philippine Legislature passed an act conferring similar authority in the Manila Harbor Board. Manila soon became the most efficient and economical port in the Orient and is recognized as one of the most efficient in the world.

If the Port of San Francisco is to hold its position among the ports of the nation, it must be able to provide complete services. Necessary functions in the handling of cargo must be concentrated in order that duplication of effort may be eliminated.

It should also be borne in mind that the revenues of the Port of San Francisco have decreased recently because of the withdrawal of ferry services, the falling off in water-borne commerce generally throughout the country, and are seriously reduced by recurring strikes and lockouts which the services authorized by this proposal would help to restore.

Statement Regarding Fire Marshal.

A survey has shown that appalling fire hazards exist in the State institutions due to over crowding, inadequate buildings and equipment, and lack of trained fire protection personnel. Experience has shown that institutional fires almost always result in the death of a high percentage of inmates. A fire of major proportions in one of our State institutions would result in a tremendous loss of life and the destruction of millions of dollars in State property. The whole subject of the correction of these conditions should be taken up by the Legislature as soon as possible. I believe that it is imperative that legislation be enacted at once to furnish trained persons at each institution to supervise fire prevention and fire fighting in order to minimize the danger. At present this important duty is left to nurses, janitors and others inexperienced in fire problems. I have, therefore, asked you to consider the subject of the furnishing by the State Fire Marshal of fire prevention and protection service at the State institutions and providing an appropriation therefor.

I have also asked you to consider the subject of providing an adequate salary for the State Fire Marshal. The present law provides that he shall serve without compensation. Until recently, the State Fire Marshal was paid adequately by the fire insurance companies. This practice has been discontinued.

The office of State Fire Marshal, entailing as it does the enforcement of the fire prevention laws relating to some 900 theaters, some 6,000 cleaning and pressing shops and countless other establishments and institutions in addition to the supervision of fire prevention and safety education, requires the full time of the person holding the office of State Fire Marshal.

A public official should not be dependent upon either private corporations or individuals for compensation for services rendered to the State; in fact, it should be unlawful for an official to receive compensation from private sources for his services. In order to secure the proper administration of the laws, provision should be made for a salary commensurate with the duties of the State Fire Marshal.

Amendments to Vehicle Code.

The Department of Motor Vehicles is faced with the necessity of making many adjustments in order that it may operate more efficiently and economically. In this connection, a legislative program has been prepared which, it is believed, will enable the department to operate within its budget for the first time in several years. This program includes relieving political subdivisions from the payment of fees on vehicles operated but not yet owned by them; the creation of an Interim Motor Vehicle Advisory Committee composed of three members of the Senate and four members of the Assembly; the stabilizing of expense of collection of the in lieu tax at a figure in keeping with actual costs; the regulation of furnishing information relative to the physical condition of drivers; setting a charge for furnishing information to commercial concerns and a per diem charge for bonded persons who search department records; the sale of registration information to interested parties; relieving the department from the duty of mailing to legal owners notices of successive renewals of registration; authorizing officers of the California Highway Patrol to accept bail upon service of warrants; providing for the collection of a single fee for motor vehicle engine changes; abolishing non-resident permits and authorizing the issuance of certain license plates to law enforcement officers and agencies.

Salary Readjustments.

At the regular session of the Legislature in 1939 there was eliminated from the budget bill for the present biennium the estimated necessary moneys for the salary and wage adjustments prescribed in the State Civil Service Act, for employees in State departments supported from the General Fund. It has been impossible to make these adjustments from other moneys appropriated, with the result that during the last six months only those employees in State departments supported from special funds have received the adjustments to which under the law all are entitled, provided their merit rating is sufficiently high. With about one half of the employees receiving the adjustments and the other half not, a situation has been created which is most confusing and demoralizing, and should be remedied with an appropriation to eliminate these inequalities.

Considerable time and effort have been devoted in stabilizing and equalizing State salary and wage ranges and in making provisions for normal advancement within those ranges on the basis of merit, and certainly if this principle is to be preserved, provision should be made to that end by an appropriation to take care of the employees in departments supported from the General Fund.

I recommend that this be done if sufficient additional revenues are provided therefor by measures passed by you at this special session.

Proposal for State to Drill Oil and Gas Wells on State Lands.

I am also submitting a measure empowering the State, through the State Lands Commission, to drill for oil and gas in State lands subject to certain safeguards and conditions.

The immediate problem prompting the inclusion of this subject in the call has grown out of a situation at and in the vicinity of Rio Vista, California. A little more than two years ago dry gas was discovered in that locality.

Through this field runs the Sacramento River, the bed of which is owned by the State of California. While the limits of the field are not now definitely known, it is estimated that the State may control as much as 15 per cent of the field.

The State, through the State Lands Commission, has power now to lease such lands for oil and gas production and, in certain circumstances, may enter into compensatory agreements. Both of these methods involve a substantial payment of the proceeds to the particular lessee operator. Whereas, were the State to drill its own wells in proven areas such as the Rio Vista gas field, the cost of drilling the well or wells would be negligible and the risk definitely minimized. I am informed that a gas well in this field may be drilled for as little as $45,000. Were the State to enter into a lease or leases at the prevailing royalty in the field of 12½ per cent, the State's return would approximate $500,000. On the other hand, were the State to drill its own wells, its gross return could amount to as much as $4,000,000, from which the cost of drilling and small operating costs would need to be deducted. On this estimate alone there appears to be a difference of $3,500,000, less, of course, drilling and operating costs.

For several years I have studied proposals to enable the State to do its own drilling and have actively worked for the passage of legislation to accomplish this program. During this period I have never heard a logical argument voiced against the proposition. Everyone is familiar with the powers of the State with respect to its own property. It is now and for years has been empowered to sell, lease, and deal generally with its property in the same manner as an individual and as all know, it may lease private property for its own use and when it has a surplus space it may lease that to private parties. It seems there remains only this power for the State to further protect itself.

Other Subjects.

There are included in the proclamation a number of items to allow you to consider ratification of charter amendments, validation of bonds, legislative printing, submission of proposed constitutional amendments, technical amendments of acts recently enacted, and a few like items such as the one to consider a soil conservation act which was passed at the 1938 special session, but which was held by the Attorney General to be of doubtful constitutionality because passed under a supplement to the proclamation calling the special session.

There are also a number of items to allow you to consider other measures which will substantially affect the welfare of large groups of people or subdivisions of the State. I have been assured that they are extremely urgent measures and of such well-recognized merit as will not unduly extend this session. Needless to say, the items included are but a small percentage of those urged for inclusion. I have been forced to refuse a large number of requests from sincere people, including members of the Legislature, that additional items be included. These must await the regular session of the Legislature.

Conclusion.

I realize the hardship which a prolonged special session would impose on individual members, attributive to the fact that their compensation at the rate of $100 a month is insufficient to meet their expenses and that their legislative work takes them from their usual employments upon which they rely for their personal and family needs.

In preparing the agenda I have had this in mind and it is far from my purpose to compel a prolonged session. In fact, it was far from my purpose to compel any special session at this time. As already stated, this session is called in accordance with your own plans at the adjournment of the regular session last year.

Because new revenue to meet your appropriations was not provided and the appropriation made for unemployment relief was made to cover only the period now expired, these are the major subjects contained in the official call, and you will observe upon careful analysis that there are not more than five other subjects that should occupy your time for any considerable period in determining your action thereon. As already indicated the remaining 57 subjects refer for the most part to routine and urgently needed technical amendments, charter ratifications, etc., which would not require any prolonged session.

Many other matters for important legislation should receive your attention without delay, but are not included in the call because of my purpose to limit the agenda to matters of emergency and utmost need for immediate action.

This situation emphasizes the need for a change in the constitution of our legislative branch of the government so as to provide not only for adequate compensation to members sufficient to command their entire time, but also to provide for a one-house body which will meet every year for as long as it is necessary to act upon legislation requiring statutory changes, and constructive measures for the progress and welfare of the people of the State.

Respectfully submitted.

CULBERT L. OLSON.
Governor of California.

Adjournment of Joint Convention.

There being no further business, at one o'clock and fifty-three minutes p.m., the President of the Senate declared the Joint Convention adjourned.

IN ASSEMBLY.

At one o'clock and fifty-five minutes p.m., the Assembly reconvened. Speaker Garland in the chair.

Request to Print Opinion of Legislative Counsel in Journal.

On request of Mr. Yorty the following opinion of the Legislative Counsel was ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,
1025 WASHINGTON BLDG., LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, JANUARY 24, 1940.
Honorable Samuel W. Yorty,
1835 Miramar Avenue,
Los Angeles, California.

Subject: Limitations Upon the Relief Appropriation at the Special Session.

Request: No. 496.

DEAR MR. YORTY:

Question.

Several days ago you directed our attention to item No. 1 on the tentative list of items to be included in the proclamation for the forthcoming Special Session of the Legislature, which reads as follows:

- "1. To consider and act upon an act providing an appropriation for the 91st and 92d fiscal years to the Relief Administrator and Relief Commission for the relief of hardship and destitution due to and caused by unemployment to be expended by the Relief Administrator and Relief Commission in accordance with the provisions of the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935 for the relief of persons qualifying thereunder."

You have asked if under an item in the call substantially the same as the foregoing, the Legislature could incorporate into any bill making an appropriation for unemployment relief, the salient portions of that bill based upon the Hatch Bill (Public Act No. 252 of the 76th Congress) which we originally drafted for Senator Kenny under request No. 465 and upon which you and the Senator are collaborating.

In essential substance, the bill drafted under request No. 465 forbids the expenditure of funds appropriated for unemployment relief for the purpose of encouraging or discouraging certain types of political activity which are declared to be improper. Actually, the bill proposes to impose certain limitations upon the purposes for which funds appropriated for unemployment relief may be expended.

Opinion.

It is our opinion that if the substance of the provisions of the bill drafted under request No. 465 were made a part of the act appropriating funds for unemployment relief and were limited in their application to the expenditure of the funds thereby appropriated, those provisions would be within the terms of item No. 1 of the proposed call and could be properly enacted into the law at the Special Session.

In arriving at this conclusion, we have not had the benefit of any judicial decision in this State directly involving the precise question here in issue. So far, there have been only two decisions in this State upon section 9 of Article V of the Constitution—People vs. Blauding (1883), 63 Cal. 333, and People vs. Curry (1900), 130 Cal. 82, 62 Pac. 516—neither of which involves the close question of interpreting the provisions of a Governor's proclamation.

Our opinion is based, therefore, upon a consideration of the various factors judicially recognized and approved by the courts of other States in passing upon similar questions under analogous constitutional provisions. Our opinion represents an attempt to predict what our courts would hold if the question here presented to us were presented to them for decision.

Analysis.

Analyzing item No. 1 on the tentative list of items to be included in the proclamation, it appears to us that essentially the subject of legislation to which that item refers is an appropriation for expenditure during the 91st and 92d fiscal years for unemployment relief.

It is true that the proclamation item goes further and declares that the appropriation is to be expended in accordance with the provisions of the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935 for the relief of persons qualifying thereunder. Ultimately your question involves the determination of the effect of that limitation upon the power of the Legislature to exercise its own discretion as to matters of detail within the general subject of legislation expressed in that item of the Governor's Proclamation.

In general it may be stated that while the Governor may limit the Legislature to a specific subject or to some reasonable classification of a general subject, he can not limit the Legislature to a particular bill or to a particular method or mode of exercising the legislative function. This rule is perhaps best stated in In re Governor's Proclamation (1894), 19 Colo. 333, 35 Pac. 530, where at page 531 of 35 Pacific, the court said:

"It is true, section 9 (of Article 4 of the Colorado constitution) requires that the business to be transacted at the special session shall be specifically named; but it does not require that such business shall be definitely and particularly prescribed, in all its details, by executive proclamation. Legislative judgment and discretion as to the transaction of the business specially named are certainly not inhibited at special sessions. The Legislature can not go beyond the limits of the business specially named in the proclamation, nor can it legislate upon business not named in the proclamation; but within the limits of such business it may act freely, in whole or in part, or not at all, as may be deemed expedient, according to its own judgment. The Legislature must do this much, or the right of legislating by the representatives of a free people at a special session is destroyed, and all our ideas of such right are rendered obsolete." (Parentheses ours.)

Under this rule, where too great detail is specified or a particular bill is described, the courts hold that the Legislature can not be bound thereby and that the subjects so specified in detail or so covered by the bill, are the subjects specified in the proclamation and the specific recommendations will be treated as advisory only. In re Governor's Proclamation, supra (1894), 19 Colo. 333, 35 Pac. 530; People v. District Court (1896), 23 Colo. 150, 46 Pac. 681; Crawford County Levee District v. Cazort (1935), 190 Ark. 257, 78 S. W. (2d) 378; In re Opinions of the Justices (1936) Ala., 171 So. 902. (See also Van Dyke v. Wisconsin Tax Commission (1935), 217 Wis. 528, 259 N. W. 700 and Commonwealth v. Liveright (1932), 308 Pa. 35, 161 Atl. 697.)

The above rule is well expressed in In re Governor's Proclamation (1894), 19 Colo. 333, 35 Pac. 530, supra. The call in that case attempted to limit the Legislature to amending certain subdivisions of the attachment laws and to providing that the amendments were not to apply to existing contracts. At page 532 of 35 Pacific the court declared:

"The proclamation further provides that the amendment of the attachment laws shall take effect only as to contracts made after such amendment shall become a law. This provision must be held to be an unwarranted restriction upon legislative power and discretion. The governor having specially named the amendment of the attachment laws as part of the business to be transacted at the special session, his authority by proclamation in respect to that matter was exhausted. Whatever he has further said upon that subject must be considered as merely advisory. The manner in which, and the extent to which, the causes of attachment, or any of them, shall be amended, if at all, are matters for the legislature to determine in the first instance, according to its own judgment."

Finally, the fact that the Governor may limit the operation of the legislation to a particular period, in this instance an appropriation for the 91st and 92d fiscal years, finds support in Corn v. Fort (1936) Tenn. 95 S. W. (2d) 620. The Tennessee Legislature had been convened in special session to "provide sufficient revenue to pay the expenses of the State Government" * * * for the biennium beginning July 1, 1935," and passed a bill which became a law levying an excise tax on partnerships and corporations without limiting the operation of the statute to the biennium referred to in the Governor's Proclamation. It was argued that the act was unconstitutional for that reason. The court pointed out that the question could not arise until the end of the biennium but declared that it must be presumed that the Legislature was undertaking to provide revenue for the period mentioned in the proclamation of the Governor and that the duty of providing revenue for succeeding bienniums will fall upon subsequent legislatures.

Under the views expressed above it appears that the subject of legislation as that term is used in section 9 of Article V, which is contained in item No. 1 of the proposed proclamation, is an appropriation for unemployment relief for the 91st and 92d fiscal years and in so far as the expenditure of that appropriation is concerned, it appears that the Legislature may impose such restrictions in addition to or different from those contained in the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935 as the Legislature in the exercise of its discretion deems necessary or desirable.

Therefore it is our conclusion that with some revision to conform to the views herein expressed, the bill drafted under request No. 465 could be made a part of the act appropriating funds for unemployment relief and may be considered as properly coming within the terms of item No. 1 of the proposed call for the special session.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
SACRAMENTO, January 26, 1940.

*Mr. Jack Carl Greenburg, Chief Clerk of the Assembly,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.*

DEAR SIR: On behalf of my brother and sisters, I will greatly appreciate it if you will express to the Members of the Assembly our deep appreciation for sending the beautiful floral piece to our father, and for the honor of having his last rites held in the Assembly Chambers.

I know that nothing could have been done that would have pleased him more and we are all so grateful. That was where he really began his political career and it was fitting that he should end it there.

The memory of this honor will live with us always.

Gratefully yours,

FRANK M. JORDAN.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF INVESTMENT,
DIVISION OF INSURANCE, 417 MONTGOMERY STREET,
SAN FRANCISCO, November 22, 1939.

*Honorable Jack Carl Greenburg, Chief Clerk of the Assembly,
State Capitol, Sacramento, California.*

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to the request of the Assembly of the State of California embodied in House Resolution No. 188, adopted June 20, 1939, at the Fifty-third Session of the California Legislature (Assembly Daily Journal—Pg. 3394), I hereby submit the attached statement containing a full and complete report as of January 1, 1939, of the value of all real estate owned by, and real estate mortgages, trust deeds and other security interests in land held by, each insurance company, association and exchange subject to my jurisdiction, from and to the extent of the information in my files.

Although the language of the resolution does not limit the requested information to interests in real property situate in California, the report is so limited upon advice from the Honorable Edward F. O'Day, coauthor of the resolution, to the effect that such was the intent of the resolution.

The values shown for real estate owned represent, on the whole, book values—i. e., the values at which the properties are carried on the books of the insurers involved. In those cases indicated by one asterisk, however, the values shown represent market values as determined by the respective insurers. In two cases, indicated by two asterisks, the values shown represent actual cost. For mortgages, trust deeds and other security interests in real property the amounts shown represent the unpaid balances of the debts secured thereby.

Information in my files does not include a full and complete record of the acreage of real property in which insurers have interests. To the extent that my files disclose such information in one individual case, same is reported herewith.

The fact that notice of the adoption of the above mentioned resolution and a copy thereof was not received by me until July 26, 1939, together with increased demands upon the staff of my office, and my original uncertainty as to the extent of the information desired, constitute the reasons for the unavoidable delay in the completion and filing of this report.

Respectfully submitted,

A. CAMINETTI, JR.,
Insurance Commissioner.

He shall have authority to correct any error in the title of an amendatory bill wherein it does not enumerate the sections added or amended of a particular act or code.

If in the opinion of the Legislative Counsel, any correction made by him under the authority of this rule should in any manner be construed to be a change in the bill other than a change in form, he shall obtain the consent of the author of the bill before making such change.

Immediately upon the completion of the check of the bills referred to the Legislative Counsel in accordance with the provisions of this rule, he shall deliver the bills to the State Printer. No member shall speak more than once during the consideration of any one question on the same day and at the same stage of proceeding except that the author of a bill or resolution, or the mover of a question shall have the right to close the debate thereon. No member shall be allowed to speak more than ten minutes to open and five minutes to close the debate thereon, and no member other than the author or the mover of the question shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes thereon. No member shall yield to any other member the time for which he is entitled to speak on any matter.

Members Called to Order for Transgressing Rules.

25. If any member in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the Assembly, the Speaker shall, or any member may call the offending member to order. The member so called to order shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted to explain; if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. The point of order shall be decided by the Speaker without debate. If the decision of the Speaker be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall be required to keep his seat. Every such decision by the Speaker shall be subject to an appeal to the Assembly.

Members Called to Order for Offensive Words.

26. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall state to the Assembly the words to which exception is taken. No member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure by the Assembly, for language used in debate, if other business shall have been transacted by the Assembly prior to exception being taken to the words spoken.

Members Voting.

27. Every member at his desk when a roll call is required, shall record his vote openly and without debate, unless the Assembly shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the Assembly divides, or before the recording of ayes and noes is commenced. Any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief oral statement of the reasons for such request, and the question shall then be decided without debate by a majority vote of the members present.

A member may submit a written explanation of his vote on any bill or house resolution, and have such explanation printed on the Journal immediately following such vote, provided no such explanation shall exceed 50 words in length.

Ayes and Noes.

28. The ayes and noes shall be recorded by the electrical voting system on the final passage of all bills, or viva voce when demanded by three members or when ordered by the Speaker, and on any other question when called for by three members or ordered by the Speaker, the names of which members shall be entered in the Journal.

Voting Not to Be Interrupted.

29. When once begun, voting shall not be interrupted, except that any member may have the total pending vote flashed on the visible vote recorder and except that any member may move a call of the Assembly, after the completion of the roll and prior to the final recording and announcement of the vote.

Changing Vote.

30. Prior to the announcement of the vote, the Speaker shall inquire if all members have voted. After the vote is announced, no member shall be allowed to change his vote, or have his vote recorded.

Tie Vote.

32. In case of an equal division, or tie vote, the question shall be lost.

Call of the Assembly.

33. After the roll has been called, and prior to the announcement of the vote, any member may move a call of the Assembly. A majority of the members present may order a call of the Assembly and the Speaker shall immediately order the Sergeant-at-Arms to lock all doors and shall direct the Clerk to prepare a list of absentees as disclosed by the last roll call. Thereupon no member shall be permitted to leave the Assembly Chamber except by written permission of the Speaker and no person shall be permitted to enter except such member as is taken into custody as herein provided, or Senators, officers, attaches or employees of the Legislature in the official performance of their duties.

Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no leaves of absence have been granted, shall be forthwith taken into custody wherever found by the Sergeant-at-Arms or his assistants, and brought to the Assembly Chamber. No recess or adjournment shall be taken during a call of the Assembly. During such call the Assembly may consider and transact any matter of business by unanimous consent. A call of the Assembly may be dispensed with at any time upon a majority vote of the members present, at which time the completion of the roll call pending when the call of the Assembly was ordered, shall become the immediate order of business before the Assembly.

Leave of Absence.

34. No member shall absent himself from attendance at any session of the Assembly without leave of the Assembly, and no member shall obtain such leave of absence or be excused for nonattendance, except by a two-thirds vote of all members elected to the Assembly, or by unanimous consent.

Personal Privilege.

35. Any member may rise to explain a matter personal to himself and shall forthwith be recognized by the Speaker, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation. Such matters of personal privilege yield only to a motion to recess or adjourn.

Objection to Reading of Any Paper.

36. Any member upon recognition by the Speaker may object to the reading of any paper before the Assembly. After such objection, the question of reading shall be determined without debate by a majority vote of the members present, upon a brief statement of its substance by the Speaker.

Assignment of Desks to Members.

37. Members shall be assigned to desks by the Superintendent of Capitol Buildings and Grounds, and, so far as possible, he shall conform to the requests of members, giving due consideration to their seniority in point of service in the Assembly.

Motions and Questions.

Precedence of Motions During Debate.

38. When a question is under debate or before the Assembly, no motions shall be received but the following, which shall take precedence in the order named:

First—To adjourn;

Second—To recess to a time certain;

Third—To lay on the table;

Fourth—For the previous question;

Fifth—To set as a special order;

Sixth—To postpone indefinitely;

Seventh—To refer or re-refer;

Eighth—To amend.

Questions of Order Decided Without Debate.

39. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for any of the questions named in Rule No. 38 and pending such motion, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate, whether on appeal or otherwise.

Appeal from Decision of the Speaker.

40. Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly: "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal can not be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal can not be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of rules, or priority of business. A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal.

To Adjourn.

41. A motion to adjourn is not debatable and can not be amended, and is always in order, except (a) when another member has the floor; (b) when the Assembly is voting; (c) during a call of the Assembly. The name of any member moving an adjournment and also the hour at which the motion was made and adjournment taken, shall be entered on the Journal. Such a motion to adjourn must be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

When such a motion to adjourn is made and seconded, it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state to the Assembly any fact relating to the condition of the business of the Assembly which would seem to render it improper or inadvisable to adjourn. Such statement shall not occupy more than two minutes and shall not be debatable.

To Recess to a Time Certain.

42. A motion to recess to a time certain shall be treated the same as a motion to adjourn, except that such motion is debatable when no business is before the Assembly, and can be amended as to the time and duration of the recess. It yields only to a motion to adjourn.

To Lay on the Table.

43. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable and can not be amended. If carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, it carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it; provided, however, that a motion to lay an amendment on the table, if adopted, does not carry with it a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent, joint or house resolution.

The Previous Question.

44. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members, and in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the house to a vote only on the question then pending; except that the proponent of the matter pending shall be allowed not to exceed five minutes to close the debate.

Motion to Set Special Order.

45. A motion to set any matter before the Assembly as a special order of business must be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members elected. It is debatable only as to the propriety of setting the main question as a special order of business, and may be amended only as to the time.

Motion to Postpone to a Time Certain.

46. A motion to postpone to a time certain shall be deemed and treated as a motion to set as a special order.

Motion to Postpone Indefinitely.

47. When a motion is made to postpone indefinitely any bill, motion or amendment, it opens the main question to debate. Should the motion to postpone indefinitely prevail by a majority vote of the entire membership, the main question shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Amend.

48. A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable. Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

Amendment to Be Germane.

49. No amendment to any bill, whether reported by a committee or offered by a member, shall be in order when such amendment relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose, or requires a title essentially different from the original title of any bill.

No amendment shall be in order which adds or deletes the name of a member as an author or co-author, or which changes the original number of any bill.

Substitute Motion.

Withdrawal of Motions.

55. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or a bill, resolution or petition read by the clerk, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the Assembly.

Motion to Be Germane.

56. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Bills Reported Back to Assembly.

57. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule.

Motion to Withdraw and Recall Bills.

58. A motion to withdraw a bill or resolution from committee, or to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another committee may be made during the regular order of business. A motion to re-refer shall only be debatable as to the propriety of such reference.

No bill or resolution shall be withdrawn from committee and placed upon the Calendar except upon one day notice thereof and except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

Bills Stricken from Calendar.

59. A motion to strike from the Calendar any bill or House Resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership. Such bill shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Rescind Action and Expunge Record.

60. Previous to the approval of the Journal by the Assembly, any action may be rescinded and its record ordered expunged by an affirmative recorded vote sufficient to take such action originally; except that no action shall be rescinded and the record expunged by a vote less than a majority of the entire elected membership. No motion to rescind the action and expunge the record shall be made twice on the same proposition.

Reference of Bills to Committee.

61. Immediately following its first reading the Speaker shall refer each bill to a committee, unless upon a motion, the Assembly by a majority vote of its entire elected membership, shall refer it to some other committee. Such motion to refer a bill shall not be debatable. Should several different committees be proposed, preference shall be given as follows:

1. Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing Committee.
3. Special Committee.

Record of Bills.

62. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be kept a permanent record of every action taken by the Assembly on every bill, and the date of such action. Every such action and the date thereof shall also be indorsed upon such bill.

Consideration of Constitutional Amendments, Concurrent and Joint Resolutions.

63. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may be amended by a majority of the members present and shall be treated the same as bills, except that they shall be read but once. The ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments or authorizing expenditures of money, unless regularly demanded or required by statute or by the Constitution.

Second Reading of Bills.

64. All bills shall be read the second time in the order of their appearance upon the Second Reading Calendar. Upon second reading, Assembly bills reported without amendments shall be ordered engrossed, and Senate bills reported without amendments shall be ordered to third reading.

The report of the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall be in order at any time.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

It shall require an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly to concur in any Senate amendment to an Assembly bill which contains an item or items of appropriation subject to reduction or elimination under the provisions of section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution. The vote on concurrence or upon the adoption of such free conference report of the Assembly shall be deemed the vote upon final passage of such bill. When Senate amendments to an Assembly bill are concurred in, the bill shall be forthwith ordered enrolled, and the Chief Clerk shall notify the Senate of such concurrence.

Nonconcurrence in Senate Amendments.

72. If the Assembly refuse to concur in the Senate amendments to any Assembly bill, the Chief Clerk shall notify the Senate of such refusal and request the Senate to recede from its amendments. If the Senate so recede and notify the Assembly, the bill shall be forthwith ordered enrolled.

Committee on Free Conference.

73. Should the Senate refuse to recede from its amendments and so notify the Assembly, the Speaker shall thereupon appoint three members as a Committee on Free Conference. If there be a minority vote on concurrence, two of such members shall be selected from those voting against concurrence and the third member shall be selected from those voting for concurrence. The Chairman of the Senate Committee on Free Conference for the same bill shall arrange the time and place of meeting of such committee. It shall require an affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the Committee on Free Conference to agree upon a report and the report shall be submitted to both the Senate and Assembly. ## Report of Standing Committee.

On Rules.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 31, 1940.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Rules has considered House Resolution No. 8, the proposed permanent Rules of the Assembly for this extraordinary session as printed in the Journal of January 30, 1940, pages 37 to 56 inclusive; and respectfully reports the same back with the recommendation that it be adopted with the following amendments:

Amendment No. 1.

In Rule 13, at the end of the second paragraph, add the following:

"Bills and constitutional amendments shall not be read the first time or printed until after the Legislative Counsel has reported thereon as provided by Rule 14."

Amendment No. 2.

Strike out Rule 14 and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"14. When a bill or constitutional amendment has been introduced and numbered, and before it is read the first time, it shall be delivered by the Clerk to the Legislative Counsel for examination and report as to whether it appears to be within the scope of the proclamation of the Governor calling the extraordinary session. The Legislative Counsel shall report as to each such measure as promptly as may be, and prior to the end of the next legislative day, returning the measure with the report to the Clerk and transmitting a copy of the report to the author of the measure.

The report shall state briefly and without detail whether the measure appears to be within or without the scope of the proclamation, or whether the matter is doubtful.

The report of the Legislative Counsel shall not be binding upon the Assembly nor preclude further consideration of any measure, nor shall it prevent an objection being subsequently made that such measure, or any amendment made or offered thereto, is not within the scope of the proclamation."

Amendment No. 3.

Strike out all of Rule 99 except the first sentence and insert in lieu thereof the following: "All guests shall be seated only in the chairs in the rear of the Assembly Chamber and shall not be permitted to sit at the desks of the members while the Assembly is in session. No person other than an accredited newspaper representative shall be permitted to sit at the press desks. A special section in the balcony shall be reserved for those holding guest cards."

Amendment No. 4.

In Rule No. 100, strike out the last paragraph and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"No person engaged in presenting to the Assembly or its committees any business, or claim, or legislation, shall be permitted to engage in such business in the Assembly Chamber, or be permitted on the floor of the Assembly at any time while the Assembly is in session; and any person transgressing this rule shall be removed from the floor of the Assembly and be debarred from the privilege of the floor during the remainder of the entire session. The Speaker is charged with the enforcement of this rule. This rule can not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of the entire elected membership of the Assembly."

Amendment No. 5.

Add a new rule to be numbered 102 to read as follows:

"102. Persons admitted to the Assembly Chamber, other than members and attaches, shall not be permitted to stand in the lobby in the rear of the Assembly Chamber while the Assembly is in session, but shall be required to occupy the seats provided for them."

DESMOND, Chairman.

He shall have authority to correct any error in the title of an amendatory bill wherein it does not enumerate the sections added or amended of a particular act or code.

If in the opinion of the Legislative Counsel, any correction made by him under the authority of this rule should in any manner be construed to be a change in the bill other than a change in form, he shall obtain the consent of the author of the bill before making such change.

Immediately upon the completion of the check of the bills referred to the Legislative Counsel in accordance with the provisions of this rule, he shall deliver the bills to the State Printer. No member shall speak more than once during the consideration of any one question on the same day and at the same stage of proceeding except that the author of a bill or resolution, or the mover of a question shall have the right to close the debate thereon. No member shall be allowed to speak more than ten minutes to open and five minutes to close the debate thereon, and no member other than the author or the mover of the question shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes thereon. No member shall yield to any other member the time for which he is entitled to speak on any matter.

24. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall designate the member to speak first.

Members Called to Order for Transgressing Rules.

25. If any member in speaking or otherwise transgresses the rules of the Assembly, the Speaker shall, or any member may call the offending member to order. The member so called to order shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted to explain; if called to order by a member, such member shall immediately state the point of order. The point of order shall be decided by the Speaker without debate. If the decision of the Speaker be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall be required to keep his seat. Every such decision by the Speaker shall be subject to an appeal to the Assembly.

Members Called to Order for Offensive Words.

26. If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall state to the Assembly the words to which exception is taken. No member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure by the Assembly, for language used in debate, if other business shall have been transacted by the Assembly prior to exception being taken to the words spoken.

Members Voting.

27. Every member at his desk when a roll call is required, shall record his vote openly and without debate, unless the Assembly shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the Assembly divides, or before the recording of ayes and noes is commenced. Any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief oral statement of the reasons for such request, and the question shall then be decided without debate by a majority vote of the members present.

A member may submit a written explanation of his vote on any bill or house resolution, and have such explanation printed on the Journal immediately following such vote, provided no such explanation shall exceed 50 words in length.

Ayes and Noes.

28. The ayes and noes shall be recorded by the electrical voting system on the final passage of all bills, or viva voce when demanded by three members or when ordered by the Speaker, and on any other question when called for by three members or ordered by the Speaker, the names of which members shall be entered in the Journal.

Voting Not to Be Interrupted.

29. When once begun, voting shall not be interrupted, except that any member may have the total pending vote flashed on the visible vote recorder and except that any member may move a call of the Assembly, after the completion of the roll and prior to the final recording and announcement of the vote.

Changing Vote.

30. Prior to the announcement of the vote, the Speaker shall inquire if all members have voted. After the vote is announced, no member shall be allowed to change his vote, or have his vote recorded.

Tie Vote.

32. In case of an equal division, or tie vote, the question shall be lost.

Call of the Assembly.

33. After the roll has been called, and prior to the announcement of the vote, any member may move a call of the Assembly. A majority of the members present may order a call of the Assembly and the Speaker shall immediately order the Sergeant-at-Arms to lock all doors and shall direct the Clerk to prepare a list of absentees as disclosed by the last roll call. Thereupon no member shall be permitted to leave the Assembly Chamber except by written permission of the Speaker and no person shall be permitted to enter except such member as is taken into custody as herein provided, or Senators, officers, attaches or employees of the Legislature in the official performance of their duties.

Those members who are found to be absent and for whom no leaves of absence have been granted, shall be forthwith taken into custody wherever found by the Sergeant-at-Arms or his assistants, and brought to the Assembly Chamber. No recess or adjournment shall be taken during a call of the Assembly. During such call the Assembly may consider and transact any matter of business by unanimous consent.

A call of the Assembly may be dispensed with at any time upon a majority vote of the members present, at which time the completion of the roll call pending when the call of the Assembly was ordered, shall become the immediate order of business before the Assembly.

Leave of Absence.

34. No member shall absent himself from attendance at any session of the Assembly without leave of the Assembly, and no member shall obtain such leave of absence or be excused for nonattendance, except by a two-thirds vote of all members elected to the Assembly, or by unanimous consent.

Personal Privilege.

35. Any member may rise to explain a matter personal to himself and shall forthwith be recognized by the Speaker, but shall not discuss a question in such explanation. Such matters of personal privilege yield only to a motion to recess or adjourn.

Objection to Reading of Any Paper.

36. Any member upon recognition by the Speaker may object to the reading of any paper before the Assembly. After such objection, the question of reading shall be determined without debate by a majority vote of the members present, upon a brief statement of its substance by the Speaker.

Assignment of Desks to Members.

37. Members shall be assigned to desks by the Superintendent of Capitol Buildings and Grounds, and, so far as possible, he shall conform to the requests of members, giving due consideration to their seniority in point of service in the Assembly.

Motions and Questions.

Precedence of Motions During Debate.

38. When a question is under debate or before the Assembly, no motions shall be received but the following, which shall take precedence in the order named:

First—To adjourn;

Second—To recess to a time certain;

Third—To lay on the table;

Fourth—For the previous question;

Fifth—To set as a special order;

Sixth—To postpone indefinitely;

Seventh—To refer or re-refer;

Eighth—To amend.

Questions of Order Decided Without Debate.

39. All incidental questions of order, arising after a motion is made for any of the questions named in Rule No. 38 and pending such motion, shall be decided by the Speaker without debate, whether on appeal or otherwise.

Appeal from Decision of the Speaker.

40. Any member may appeal from a decision of the Speaker without waiting for recognition by the Speaker, even though another member has the floor. No appeal is in order when another is pending, or when other business has been transacted by the Assembly prior to the appeal being taken.

Upon the appeal being seconded, the Speaker may give his reasons for the decision, and shall forthwith put this question to the Assembly: "Shall the decision of the Speaker be sustained?"

An appeal can not be amended and yields only to a motion to recess or adjourn, to lay on the table, or a question of personal privilege. If an appeal be laid on the table, such action shall have no effect on the pending question.

An appeal can not be debated when relating to indecorum, transgression of rules, or priority of business. A majority vote of the members present shall decide any appeal.

To Adjourn.

41. A motion to adjourn is not debatable and can not be amended, and is always in order, except (a) when another member has the floor; (b) when the Assembly is voting; (c) during a call of the Assembly. The name of any member moving adjournment and also the hour at which the motion was made and adjournment taken, shall be entered on the Journal. Such a motion to adjourn must be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

When such a motion to adjourn is made and seconded, it shall be in order for the Speaker, before putting the question, to permit any member to state to the Assembly any fact relating to the condition of the business of the Assembly which would seem to render it improper or inadvisable to adjourn. Such statement shall not occupy more than two minutes and shall not be debatable.

To Recess to a Time Certain.

42. A motion to recess to a time certain shall be treated the same as a motion to adjourn, except that such motion is debatable when no business is before the Assembly, and can be amended as to the time and duration of the recess. It yields only to a motion to adjourn.

To Lay on the Table.

43. A motion to lay on the table is not debatable and can not be amended. If carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, it carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it; provided, however, that a motion to lay an amendment on the table, if adopted, does not carry with it a bill, constitutional amendment, concurrent, joint or house resolution.

The Previous Question.

44. The previous question shall be put only when demanded by five members, and in this form: "Shall the question be now put?" And its effect, when sustained by a majority of the members present, shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the house to a vote only on the question then pending; except that the proponent of the matter pending shall be allowed not to exceed five minutes to close the debate.

Motion to Set Special Order.

45. A motion to set any matter before the Assembly as a special order of business must be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members elected. It is debatable only as to the propriety of setting the main question as a special order of business, and may be amended only as to the time.

Motion to Postpone to a Time Certain.

46. A motion to postpone to a time certain shall be deemed and treated as a motion to set as a special order.

Motion to Postpone Indefinitely.

47. When a motion is made to postpone indefinitely any bill, motion or amendment, it opens the main question to debate. Should the motion to postpone indefinitely prevail by a majority vote of the entire membership, the main question shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Amend.

48. A motion to amend may itself be amended, but no "amendment to an amendment" can be amended. A motion to amend is debatable, except where the main question to be amended is not debatable. Any motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

A motion to amend having been decided in the negative, shall not again be in order on the same day, or at the same stage of proceeding. A motion to amend by striking out certain words having been decided in the negative, shall not preclude a motion to amend by adding words, or a motion to amend by striking out and inserting words; but in no case shall a further amendment be substantially the same as the one rejected.

Subject to the above provisions of this rule, a motion to amend is in order during the second or third reading of any bill.

Amendment to Be Germane.

49. No amendment to any bill, whether reported by a committee or offered by a member, shall be in order when such amendment relates to a different subject, or is intended to accomplish a different purpose, or requires a title essentially different from the original title of any bill.

No amendment shall be in order which adds or deletes the name of a member as an author or co-author, or which changes the original number of any bill.

Substitute Motion.

Motion to Be Germane.

56. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted as an amendment.

Bills Reported Back to Assembly.

57. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule.

Motion to Withdraw and Recall Bills.

58. A motion to withdraw a bill or resolution from committee, or to re-refer a bill or resolution from one committee to another committee may be made during the regular order of business. A motion to re-refer shall only be debatable as to the propriety of such reference.

No bill or resolution shall be withdrawn from committee and placed upon the Calendar except upon one day's notice thereof and except by a recorded vote of a majority of the elected members.

Bills Stricken from Calendar.

59. A motion to strike from the Calendar any bill or House Resolution requires a majority vote of the entire elected membership. Such bill shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Motion to Rescind Action and Expunge Record.

60. Previous to the approval of the Journal by the Assembly, any action may be rescinded and its record ordered expunged by an affirmative recorded vote sufficient to take such action originally; except that no action shall be rescinded and the record expunged by a vote less than a majority of the entire elected membership. No motion to rescind the action and expunge the record shall be made twice on the same proposition.

Reference of Bills to Committee.

61. Immediately following its first reading the Speaker shall refer each bill to a committee, unless upon a motion, the Assembly by a majority vote of its entire elected membership, shall refer it to some other committee. Such motion to refer a bill shall not be debatable. Should several different committees be proposed, preference shall be given as follows:

1. Committee of the Whole.
2. Standing Committee.
3. Special Committee.

Record of Bills.

62. The Chief Clerk shall cause to be kept a permanent record of every action taken by the Assembly on every bill, and the date of such action. Every such action and the date thereof shall also be indorsed upon such bill.

Consideration of Constitutional Amendments, Concurrent and Joint Resolutions.

63. Constitutional amendments, concurrent and joint resolutions may be amended by a majority of the members present and shall be treated the same as bills, except that they shall be read but once. The ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments or authorizing expenditures of money, unless regularly demanded or required by statute or by the Constitution.

Second Reading of Bills.

64. All bills shall be read the second time in the order of their appearance upon the Second Reading Calendar. Upon second reading, Assembly bills reported without amendments shall be ordered engrossed, and Senate bills reported without amendments shall be ordered to third reading.

The report of the Committee on Engrossment and Enrollment shall be in order at any time.

Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

It shall require an affirmative recorded vote of two-thirds of the entire elected membership of the Assembly to concur in any Senate amendment to an Assembly bill which contains an item or items of appropriation subject to reduction or elimination under the provisions of section 34a of Article IV of the Constitution. Nonconcurrence in Senate Amendments.

Committee on Free Conference.

73. Should the Senate refuse to recede from its amendments and so notify the Assembly, the Speaker shall thereupon appoint three members as a Committee on Free Conference. If there be a minority vote on concurrence, two of such members shall be selected from those voting against concurrence and the third member shall be selected from those voting for concurrence. The Chairman of the Senate Committee on Free Conference for the same bill shall arrange the time and place of meeting of such committee. It shall require an affirmative vote of not less than four of the members constituting the Committee on Free Conference to agree upon a report and the report shall be submitted to both the Senate and Assembly. Communication.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DIVISION OF CORPORATIONS.

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, October 20, 1939.

Mr. Jack Carl Greenburg, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR: Under date of July 24, 1939, you were good enough to submit to this Division copy of House Resolution No. 188, which, among other things, requested that the Corporation Commissioner submit to the Assembly "a full and complete report of the value and acreage of all real estate mortgages, trust deeds and other security interests in land as of January 1, 1939, held by each financial institution subject to his jurisdiction."

On behalf of the Commissioner of Corporations, I respectfully report as follows:

Ordinarily, banking, building and loan and insurance companies filed applications with this Division for permits to sell securities to be used in financing their projects. Invariably such companies, at the time of filing, had no assets such as real estate mortgages, trust deeds or security interests in land and did not have such assets during any of the period they remained under the jurisdiction of the Division.

We have examined all the Division's files relating to banks, insurance companies and building and loan associations and in no instance have found any information giving the volume of acreage of real estate owned, any real estate mortgages, trust deeds or other security interests in land held or owned by such companies as of January 1, 1939.

Very truly yours,

FRED A. WELLER,

Chief Assistant Commissioner of Corporations.

AYES—Allen, Burns, Hugh M., Burns, Michael J., Burson, Call, Carlson, Clarke, Corwin, Desmond, Dilworth, Donnelly, Doyle, Evans, Field, Fulcher, Gallagher, Gannon, Gilmore, Green, Houser, Johnson, Kellem, Kepple, Knight, Kuebel, Leonard, Lyon, Maloney, Miller, Eleanor; Miller, George P., Millington, Phillips, NOES—Andreas, Atkinson, Bennett, Cassidy, Collins, Del Mutolo, Dills, Gilbert, Hawkins, Heisinger, Kilpatrick, King, Lore, Massion, Meehan, O'Day, Peek, Pelletier, Reaves, Richie, and Rosenthal—21.

Explanations of Votes on House Resolution No. 9.

It appeared advisable to vote "no" on this measure for the following reasons:

1. SRA has been thoroughly investigated during the past six months and all the evidence has been laid open for inspection in the report of the various committees;

2. The present State Relief Administrator, Walter Chambers, is definitely opposed to communism and is making a thorough cleaning out of all subversive groups and obstructionists now employed by the State relief organization;

3. Because those who claim they have evidence establishing irregularities in SRA are given ample opportunity to have such evidence acted upon by the Administrator of Relief;

4. The investigation appears to be ill-timed to clear up the alleged irregularities inasmuch as they could be more effectively cleared up by reporting the evidence to the State Relief Administrator.

PAUL PEEK.

EDWARD F. O'DAY.

S. L. HEISINGER.

CECIL R. KING.

I have voted "no" on Assembly House Resolution No. 9 because the chief argument in favor of the resolution is the clearing of the Democratic party in California of those masquerading as Democrats who are not such. True, some elements have crept into the party in the process of its recent rapid growth, but it can not be expected that a committee constituted by those now in control of the Assembly will have the interest of the Democratic party at heart. The Democrats will do their own house cleaning without the aid of the Republicans and their allies.

GEORGE D. COLLINS, JR.

HENRY P. MEEHAN.

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 4, 1940.

*Honorable Jack C. Greenburg, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, Assembly Chamber, Sacramento, California.*Subject: Assembly Bill No. 8, Relating to sales and use tax exemptions.

DEAR SIR: We have examined this measure, pursuant to Assembly Standing Rule No. 14, and report that in our opinion it appears to be without the scope of the Governor's proclamation.

We believe that the "subject" specified in Item 56 of the proclamation is the "exemption of poultry and live stock" (not exemptions generally) from the Retail Sales and Use Tax Acts. While we recognize the fact that much can be said in support of the opposite view, we believe that the "exemption of poultry and live stock" is the subject intended by the Executive, that it is clearly expressed, and that it is a matter susceptible to designation as a subject under the Constitution.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.

SRA LOS ANGELES CHAPTER NO. 65.
CALIFORNIA STATE EMPLOYEES' ASSOCIATION.

741 South Flower Street, Los Angeles, California, February 3, 1940.

Hon. Earl D. Desmond,
Sacramento, California.

DEAR MR. DESMOND: This chapter of the California State Employees' Association, namely, SRA Los Angeles Chapter No. 65, is composed entirely of employees of SRA, and we subscribe to its constitution, of which the first part of the preamble is: "To encourage among State employees a sense of civic responsibility."

Premised upon this thought the Legislative Committee of this chapter has compiled and caused to be written the attached report and recommendations concerning the SRA.

This report is presented to you in good faith and in the full knowledge of the civic responsibility enjoyed by the members of this committee and of this chapter.

This report is submitted for your consideration with the hope that in some manner it may help to clarify the conditions now existing in the organization of the SRA with respect to the taxpayer, the recipient of relief and the personnel of the SRA.

Very respectfully yours,

MURRAY CLEMES, President.

Report and Recommendations of the Legislative Committee of SRA Los Angeles Chapter No. 65, of the California State Employees' Association.

It is evident that the sole object of the Relief Act of 1935, and the subsequent acts, was to relieve hardship and destitution due to and caused by unemployment. The State Relief Administration, however, from its inception, was dominated and controlled by a group whose policies were based on the false premise that unemployment relief was a charity for paupers. Persons having had experience as social workers were given charge of the State Relief Administration. With their background and training in social service, most of them could not confine their efforts and the administration of relief funds to the purpose and object for which the funds were allocated. They had been trained to deal with the domestic and health or intemperance problems of persons seeking or receiving charity, and did not comprehend the new social problem—namely, unemployment. Under the present setup, when the finance department protests expenditures as waste of taxpayers' money, social service can and does ruthlessly overrule them. Therefore, social service should be divested by law of all control over finance.

To the average citizen, our relief problem is a highly complicated affair, scarcely understandable, but tremendously expensive and of distinctly doubtful value in many instances. The average citizen feels that we have been building a "Frankenstein" which, unless properly harnessed, may endanger our whole civilization, all of which is too true. Only a proper understanding of the basic things to be accomplished can ever force a solution of the problem in a manner fair to the taxpayer, to the relief client himself, and to those sincere men and women who, in spite of heart-breaking handicaps, have battled for a "square deal" all around.

Those of us who have worked in various phases of the "relief picture" too often forget that the average citizen does not have access to the same knowledge that we have secured through years of bitter experience. So, for the benefit of those "on the outside," we are taking this opportunity to discuss, fairly and frankly, the "relief problem" in general, the SRA in particular.

It has been stated so often that we believe it can be taken as a fundamental American policy, that no deserving citizen should go hungry, unclothed or shelterless, regardless of whether his need be due to age, infirmities or unemployment.

All our needy people fall into one of three groups, viz:

1. Our unemployables, such as the aged, blind, etc.
2. Our partially employables—Class "B".
3. Our employables—Class "A".

The National Social Security Act was set up primarily to take care of the first group. The cost is borne by the nation, State and county. It is paid for strictly by taxation. It is right and just and has always been recognized as a proper burden on the community.

The Federal Government, in so far as appropriations have been available, has attempted to find jobs for all Class "A" employables—people supposedly able and willing to give an honest day's work for a fair day's pay, but who have been unable to secure employment.

The function of the State Relief Administration, as now constituted, is to take care of all Class "B"—partially employables—as well as all Class "A" people for whom the Federal Government can not or will not supply jobs. Whether this function shall continue must be determined by our California Legislature. Whether it shall be confined to this channel or broadened to take in all phases of relief and reemployment is a moot question. It is the purpose of this committee to furnish our legislators, as well as the general public, with whatever knowledge we have gained in their employ that might be useful to them at this time.

In order to formulate any future policy, it is necessary to freely and frankly discuss:

1. The relief recipients
2. The fundamental budget
3. The organization of the SRA
4. The attitude of the relief recipients toward the taxpayer and the SRA
5. The attitude of the personnel of the SRA toward taxpayer and the "client"
6. Proper inferences that may be drawn from the foregoing facts.

The Relief Recipients.

As regards the relief recipients—known as "clients" of the SRA—it must first be stated that no differentiation is made because of citizenship, previous standard of living, race, color, or creed. All are supposedly treated alike.

After years of daily contact with these people, we, as employees of the SRA, have made the following personal analysis of the clients:

A. They fall into three nearly numerically equal groups:

(a) Those undoubtedly deserving. This group consists of the very people the program was set up to help and THEY ARE NOT GETTING ENOUGH. Most of them fall into the white American small family group formerly of adequate means.

(b) Those doubtfully deserving. This group contains many ignorant, semi-skilled or laborer families who have always lived more or less precariously and their resources are extremely difficult to check. Furthermore, they are usually of larger than average families and their present "dole" constitutes to them a "security wage" comparable with past earnings.

(c) Those undoubtedly NOT deserving to be supported by the American taxpayer. This group is composed of alien (or part alien) families (who constitute a very large percentage of the entire relief load), bums both masculine and feminine, habitual drunkards and dope users, and just plain "chiselers." The average citizen must realize that while all the people on relief are by no means or in any sense PROFESSIONAL RELIEFERS, nevertheless, EVERY REAL "BUM" IN CALIFORNIA IS ON RELIEF.

B. Besides our own citizens (and aliens) we have been supporting or partially supporting citizens of other States of the Union, known as "transients." As is well known, these people have flocked to California by the tens of thousands since 1932. Once they get here, if they can remain in the State one year, no matter how, they become a permanent part of our relief clientele. In the meantime, we must arrange (if we can) to send them home, again partially or wholly at our taxpayers' expense. Many have been sent home only to return time and time again.

The Fundamental Budget.

The reason that many deserving citizens of small family units are receiving inadequate care is due to a fundamental error in the basis of the budget itself. Apparently relief recipients have been regarded as so many "human animals" to be fed, clothed and housed. Everything was laid out by "tables," based on one or two people plus children of various ages. Everything was figured down to the finest percentage so that the party figuring out a family's budget must be no mean mathematician.

Previous standards of living were disregarded entirely, so we have the anomaly of a real American family of two having to pay rent, utilities, food and clothing out of approximately $31 per month, even though they may have contributed thousands of dollars as taxpayers in the days of their prosperity, while many alien families who probably never earned over $75 per month in their lives, are receiving as a "dole" in cash, sums in excess of $125 per month from our taxpayers. Does this make sense?

Obviously, minimum and maximum figures must be set by law if the budget is to be made to conform to the rules of fair play. We therefore recommend the following standard table of relief budgets in this State:

- $25 per month for a single man;
- $30 per month for a single woman;
- $45 per month for a family of two (regardless of age or sex);
- $50 per month for a family of three;
- $55 per month for a family of four;
- $5 per month for each additional person with a maximum of $85 per family.

These figures are easily justified on the basis of the average "security wage" of $57.20 per month paid in Los Angeles County by the WPA to the average family (4.3 members). The maximum figure likewise is taken from the WPA's "foreman scale"—deemed adequate for the intelligent head of a needy family.

This scale eliminates high-power mathematics requiring college graduates to figure. It also eliminates the evil of pressure groups. The State of California gives relief to an individual, and there should be no necessity for any group to act on behalf of said client.

The Organization of the SRA.

There are many deplorable and demoralizing conditions existing within the present organization of the State Relief Administration.

1. Failure to recognize the basic aspect of its problem to be Unemployment rather than Social Service.

2. Lack of proper coordination and cooperation between various departments having to do with unemployment proper, including the California State Employment Service, the Unemployment Reserves Commission, the Works Projects Administration, the Civilian Conservation Corps and the National Youth Administration.

3. Too much politics in the set-up.

4. Inefficiency in department heads resulting in considerable useless expense—for example, changes made in procedure without proper forethought often resulting in the necessity of countermanding the initial order (after much work has been done or supplies furnished) due to obstacles which should have been apparent beforehand.

5. Personnel hired and paid on "yardstick" method without a proper study of "need" and "qualification" before appointment.

6. General deplorable condition of morale within the organization due to uncertainty of employment as well as lack of reward or recognition for merit. Stability of employment as well as a proper training school in the field would mean a big saving to the taxpayer.

7. The present philosophy of the Administration in the SRA is: "We have no interest in saving the taxpayers' money; our job is to take care of the client."

8. There is open advocacy by many persons in key positions in the SRA of "New Philosophy" groups. Administrative employees have been openly intimidated to join one of these groups, and some administrative employees have urged and even insisted that "clients" join a similar group. It is very evident that at least some in authority are more interested in the "New Philosophy" than in doing well the job for which they are being paid by the taxpayers of California.

9. The present system results in failure of proper investigation of actual resources of clients. Somehow, many on relief find plenty of money to spend on liquor, dope, non-necessities, etc. Either through organization inefficiency or chiseling, it has been found necessary to set up over 31,000 cases of restitution claims in southern California alone!

10. Documentary proof of residence and other evidences of eligibility are not properly required in many cases, particularly when pressure groups intervene on behalf of the applicant.

11. Under the present system, case workers who make investigations, as a result of which millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money are paid out, are not bonded. Young students just out of college, with little sense of responsibility and with practically no real experience in life or handling people, are given carte blanche to spend the taxpayers' money. We recommend that one-third of the SRA personnel be over forty years of age, one-third over thirty, and one-third under thirty.

Many administrative employees are honest, efficient (if permitted to be) and have the welfare of both the taxpayers and clients at heart. Under proper guidance, these people constitute an invaluable asset to the State service. We recommend that the administrative machinery be revamped to give these individuals an opportunity to really function.

The Attitude of the Relief Recipients Toward the Taxpayer and the SRA.

The attitude of the client toward the taxpayer is naturally selfish but, in deserving cases, not unreasonable. Only when stirred up by agitators and gulled by Red propaganda does any appreciable part of them get "the world owes me a living" complex. An independent and honest check-up of these agitators and most of their followers undoubtedly would disclose sources of income that would remove them from the relief rolls. At present, at every pay station and distribution center, clients gather to whom agitators are permitted to distribute their literature freely. This should be forbidden. No one has the right to acquire their audience on the taxpayers' money.

The Attitude of the Personnel of the SRA Toward the Taxpayer and the Client.

The attitude of the SRA toward both the taxpayer and the clients has been largely commented upon. However, one point must be stressed. Certain elements within the SRA—themselves communists, or "fellow-travelers" are deliberately playing with communist agitators and organizers to increase the taxpayers' load to the breaking point in order to hasten "der Tag" of Red Revolution. They are building their "cells" from within and from without, deliberately. They are teaching the clients "the world owes them a living" and if the clients will only follow them, they will collect. Outside "client" pressure (often engineered from inside) meets weak-kneed or subservient inside cooperation and behold, they have performed what seems to their deluded membership to be a "miracle."

Proper Inferences That May Be Drawn from the Foregoing Facts.

The only proper inferences to be drawn from the foregoing facts are that a revamping of the unemployment machinery is in order. Proper safeguards must be thrown around the handling of relief money.

We recommend that the Unemployment Reserves Commission, the State Department of Social Welfare, the State Reemployment Service, and the SRA be combined in one unit under a State Welfare and Relief Commission composed of three members, consisting of the Director of Finance, the State Controller, and the Attorney General. Two of these are elected officials. This commission would enforce and interpret all policies laid down by the Legislature. They would constitute a court of appeal on relief matters.

This commission would be empowered to appoint an administrative board in northern California and another in southern California.

Each administrative board shall have power to appoint, with the consent of the State Personnel Board, all necessary help. Civil service should be put into operation immediately—by qualifying examination.

A law should be passed denying California citizenship to any person who has not been a continuous resident of this State three years without being on any form of relief.

Transient status should be allowed citizens of other States unable to conform to our citizenship laws. Once proof of citizenship in another State has been established, any transient who refuses to return, at our expense, to his State of legal residence, automatically forfeits all claim to our bounty and must be stricken from the relief rolls. Also, any transient who has been once returned to his State of legal residence can not be admitted to our relief rolls within a period of five years from that date. Relief to aliens should be discontinued at once.

We recommend "work relief." It is less demoralizing than the "dole" both to the recipient and society in general. The children of these clients are the citizens of tomorrow. The so-called "Santa Barbara" plan seems to be the most feasible. Refusal to accept employment, public or private, except upon a doctor's certificate, should automatically be grounds for removal from the relief rolls.

Should people be allowed on the relief rolls who are habitual drunkards, who consistently refuse to work when given the opportunity, who expend relief money for the purchase and/or operation of automobiles for their pleasure, for the purchase of homes, and expensive personal property and household equipment on installments, or who have fraudulently received relief, or whose combined family income exceeds the budget allowance? All on the taxpayers' money!

We recommend that rules and regulations be incorporated in the Relief Act to control the above wide spread practices.

Real work, coupled with an independent investigation of need, will cut our relief load to understandable proportions within six months, but only an active and continuous interest on the part of the general public can ever hope to solve the "relief problem," and keep it solved.

Respectfully submitted.

Communication.

The following communication was received, and, on motion of Mr. Hawkins, ordered printed in the Journal:

COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

LOS ANGELES, February 2, 1940.

Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins,

State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

DEAR MR. HAWKINS: Certain misunderstandings are current with regard to the position of Los Angeles County on the question of relief to able-bodied unemployed (SRA).

Our board here went on record as a board, and as a voting unit of the State Supervisors' Association, in stating that it did not request return of such type of relief to the counties. If such relief should be returned, the counties should be the administrative agents only for the purpose of assuring that the levies of taxes against the common property taxpayer would not be increased.

During the past eight years, the levies in Los Angeles County have almost doubled—there are over 100,000 parcels of property in our county sold to the State for taxes lying idle or undeveloped. To add to the burden of the small property owner at this time would further retard the progress of the State.

This consideration prompted the action of our board.

Copy of the resolution adopted unanimously by the seven southern California counties, and reaffirmed in Sacramento yesterday by unanimous vote of the Supervisors' Association, is attached.

Best wishes.

Yours very truly,

WAYNE ALLEN,
Chief Administrative Officer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 5, 1940.

Honorable Jack C. Greenburg, Chief Clerk of the Assembly,

Assembly Chambers, Sacramento, California.

Subject, Assembly Bill No. 70, relating to the Board of State Harbor Commissioners for San Francisco Harbor.

DEAR SIR: We have examined this bill, pursuant to Assembly Rule No. 14, and report that in our opinion it appears to be partly within and partly without the scope of the Proclamation.

Sections 1 to 8 of the bill affecting sections 1700, and following, of the Harbors and Navigation Code, and section 10 of the bill amending section 1990 of the Harbors and Navigation Code, increasing the board membership from three to five, appear to be without the scope of the Proclamation.

The remainder of the bill, relating principally to conciliation, mediation and arbitration of labor controversies at the harbor, appears to be within the scope of the Proclamation.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.

The Honorable Charles W. Lyon, Senator Hotel, Sacramento, California.

SIR: The Southern California Wine Wholesalers, Inc., of Los Angeles, representing eleven counties of Southern California, urge very strongly that you oppose the Governor's Proclamation No. 3 in his agenda, as we believe that an elective body by the people, and not an appointive body of men or women should handle such great matters as a privileged business must have; and we further respectfully oppose the Governor's program of increasing excise taxes on California wines, as proposed in Number 2 of the Governor's agenda, since we feel that such proposed increased taxes would be against the public interest, and would work a considerable hardship on an already over-taxed and chaotic home industry.

The following letter was addressed to an employee of the SRA in Los Angeles County:

LOS ANGELES COUNTY DEMOCRATIC CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
707 SOUTH BROADWAY, ROOM 412,
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, December 26, 1939.

Responsibilities of victory are likely no greater than those of a militant campaign, but their aspect and character are somewhat different.

The Democratic Party must be supported financially as well as morally, and there are only two honorable sources of income; from those who have been placed in positions, elective or appointive, and from individuals or groups who have surpluses and a big heart for the Democratic Party. This makes it incumbent upon me, since my appointment as Secretary of the Democratic County Central Committee by Chairman B. J. Kelly, to call upon you for a regular and substantial contribution.

The enclosed pledge card is for your convenience, and I trust that the amount you decide upon will be in keeping with benefits you are receiving.

It is not the intent to burden the resources of anyone, but merely to ask that everyone does his bit so that the party may also compensate those in headquarters as you are being compensated, and that such facilities are provided as will be required in carrying on a forward program, also the retiring of our obligations.

If you prefer to discuss the matter before filling in the enclosed card, please answer suggesting a time and place, keeping in mind that my office hours at the headquarters are, for the present 12 to 3 p.m. daily except Saturday and Sunday.

There is need for an early adjustment in the affairs at the office, and we would ask that you please be as prompt in your reply as you can.

Sincerely yours,

VERNON KILPATRICK.

Secretary.

WORKERS; EMPLOYED & UNEMPLOYED HOME OWNERS & TAX PAYERS

Tonight, Wednesday, at 7.30 p.m. in the Legislature the Committee on Relief Appropriations Meets. The Banks, Corporations and Associated Farmers Have Ganged Up to Put Across Two Points.

1—Cut the Appropriation to a Starvation Level.

2—Return Relief Administration to the Counties.

How DOES THIS AFFECT YOU?

Cutting Relief Appropriations Will Mean More Starvation for California's Unemployed.

This unemployed army of hungry people will be used by the bankers, corporations and Associated Farmers to undermine wages and working conditions of employed workers.

Return of relief to the counties will make it possible for the monopoly, and big business interests to escape taxation and put the burden on the home owner, small business man, and worker.

THIS IS YOUR FIGHT

Demand an Adequate Relief Appropriation, Not a Famine Appropriation Stop Return of Relief to the Counties

Defend Yourself Against the Bankers, Corporations, and the Reactionary Legislature

All Out to the Legislature Tonight at 7.30

Issued by the Communist Party 618½ J Street Sacramento

Message from the Governor.

I feel therefore that it is my duty to transmit a copy to you.

Respectfully,

CULBERT L. OLSON,

Governor of California.

CLO:PW

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE,

SACRAMENTO, February 7, 1940.

Confidential Memorandum to Governor Culbert L. Olson.

DEAR GOVERNOR OLSON: As you know, I have just returned from Washington, D. C., where I have been working for the past four weeks with Federal officials to bring additional vitally needed aid to some of our most important California farm industries.

Upon my return to Sacramento Tuesday morning, it was reported to me that the special session of the Legislature has under consideration a plan to return the administration of unemployment relief to the 58 counties and to decentralize the administration and operation of the State Relief Administration.

Today, I was advised by a representative of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, a Federal agency, operating under the United States Department of Agriculture, that his superiors in Washington had instructed him, during the course of a telephone conversation, that, in the event administration of the State Relief Administration was returned to the 58 counties, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation would no longer operate its program of distribution of surplus commodities in California; and would be seriously hampered in its program of purchasing agricultural surplus commodities from California farmers for distribution both within California and outside of the State.

To confirm this report, I called, this afternoon, H. C. Albin, Chief of the Purchase and Distribution Division for the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in Washington. Mr. Albin advised me that the report which was given to me by his California representative is correct and asked me to convey to you the attitude of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation on this matter.

Mr. Albin pointed out to me that the manner in which the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, a non-profit governmental corporation, organized in 1933, for the express purpose of aiding hungry people on relief rolls and to keep farmers from being overwhelmed by surpluses of the commodities they produce, is set up in such a manner as to preclude their engaging in cooperative operations with the various States other than through state-wide State agencies.

The corporation accomplishes its two-fold objective by buying up acute surpluses of farm products and supplying them to State welfare agencies for relief distribution.

The seriousness of the problem which California farmers, taxpayers, and relief clients now face, in the event that the operations of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation are eliminated or curtailed in California, as the result of the transfer of the administration and operations of the State Relief Administration from its former state-wide agency basis to the 58 counties, can be illustrated graphically in the following figures:

During the past five years (up to July 1, 1939) the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has purchased $19,783,595 worth of California farm commodities for distribution to relief clients in California and throughout the Nation. These purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation cover such foodstuffs and other farm products as the following: Apples, dried and fresh; apricots, dried; beans; butter; cattle; cheese; corn meal; cotton, raw baled and bags; eggs; figs; fish; grapefruit, fresh and juice; milk, dried skim and evaporated; onions; oranges; peaches, fresh and dried; pears; plums; potatoes; prunes; raisins; rice; seed; sheep; sugar-beets; walnuts; white flour; graham flour; hogs; and pork products.

In addition, since July 1, 1939, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation has purchased approximately $5,000,000 worth of farm products in California, making a grand total for the past five years of nearly $25,000,000 worth of purchases of agricultural commodities for distribution to relief clients in this and other States.

Please bear in mind that this figure of $25,000,000 represents only the investment by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in farm commodities at farm prices and is exclusive of amounts paid by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for transportation and for processing.

The retail value of the food commodities distributed in California by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, during this same period, is $26,844,683.87 and represents not only commodities produced in California but in other States as well.

I would like to call to your attention that the programs of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation have done more than supplement the inadequate food supplies of recipient families in California representing the unemployed.

These programs have encouraged these families to continue as regular consumers of farm surplus commodities.

By promoting more orderly marketing through the removal of some of the excessively heavy supplies, these programs have helped to increase the income of our growers not merely by the amount expended but also by the beneficial effect of the surplus removal on their entire shipments.

These Federal Surplus Commodity programs have also been the means of stimulating grower interest in marketing problems and in improving marketing practices from the viewpoint of adjusting supplies to demand.

Just within the past year, we persuaded the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to aid us in removing a surplus of canning clingstone peaches, which resulted in a purchase of 20,000 tons by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for relief distribution purposes in California and elsewhere; and a $20.00 per ton return to our growers, or four times the price they received the year before.

The total prune purchasing program by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation over several years has reached the sum of about $10,000,000.

On my last trip to Washington, I sought the aid of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation in a purchase program involving about $3,000,000 and covering 1939 unsold raisins still in the hands of the growers and for which there is no market at the present time.

Just this past Monday, the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation launched another program to aid our prune growers, involving the purchase of nearly $900,000 worth of surplus prunes for relief distribution.

Repeated questioning of Mr. Albin today over the long-distance telephone brought his emphatic statement that the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation will not deal with separate counties in its dual program, which means that our cooperative operations for the removal of unsalable surpluses will virtually cease. Such relief programs for agriculture as the peach purchase program and others are automatically stopped if the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation is not in a position to handle its operations through a state-wide relief agency.

Very sincerely,

W. B. PARKER, Director.

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 6.

A resolution to propose to the people of the State of California an amendment to the Constitution of the State, by adding a new section numbered 13 to Article XVI thereof, relating to liens, mortgages, encumbrances, and agreements taken as security for aid to the aged, and to the powers of the Legislature in relation thereto.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, That the Legislature of the State of California, in extraordinary session commencing on the twenty-ninth day of January, 1940, two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two houses of the Legislature voting therefor, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California that the Constitution of the State be amended by adding a new section, to be numbered 13, to Article XVI thereof, to read as follows:

Sec. 13. (a) The people of the State of California, for themselves, for the State government, and for every county and other agency of the government of the State, do hereby abjure, renounce, and relinquish all rights and claims heretofore acquired by the State or any county or other agency of the State under the provisions of the Old Age Security Act of the State of California (Chapter 530 of the Statutes of 1929, as amended), or the Old Age Security Law (Chapter 1 of Division III of the Welfare and Institutions Code), or both, against the property of recipients of aid to the aged lawfully granted and received pursuant to said laws, or against such recipients personally, in so far as such rights and claims are based upon or arise out of liens, mortgages, transfers or other encumbrances taken by any county as security for aid granted pursuant to the provisions of said laws, or either of them, or are based upon or arise out of agreements not to transfer or encumber real property without the consent of the board of supervisors entered into pursuant to the provisions of sections 2226 and 2229 of the Welfare and Institutions Code as added thereto by Chapter 719 of the Statutes of 1939;

(b) All liens, mortgages, and other encumbrances heretofore taken by any county as security for aid granted under the aforesaid laws, or either of them, are hereby released, and shall hereafter be conclusively presumed to have been paid;

(c) Every agreement not to transfer or encumber real property without the consent of the board of supervisors heretofore executed pursuant to the provisions of sections 2226 and 2229 of the Welfare and Institutions Code as added thereto by Chapter 719 of the Statutes of 1939 is hereby rescinded, canceled and declared to be hereafter of no force and effect, subject to the consent thereto of the applicant or recipient of aid, his legal representative, or successor in interest in the property concerning which the agreement was made. The failure of the applicant or recipient, his legal representative, or successor in interest, to cause to be recorded in the office of the county recorder within thirty days after this section becomes effective an instrument expressly withholding consent to the rescission and cancellation of any such agreement shall constitute consent thereto, and every such agreement, to the rescission and cancellation of which consent has not been expressly withheld, shall, from a date thirty days after this section becomes effective, be conclusively presumed to have been rescinded, canceled, and of no effect;

(d) The board of supervisors of each county shall immediately execute and record appropriate instruments of release or rescission and cancellation of all such liens, mortgages, encumbrances and agreements and shall take such other steps as may be necessary to relieve the recipients of aid heretofore granted to such persons under either or both of such statutes and the real property of the recipients from all obligation to repay either to the county or to the State any such aid lawfully granted to or received by any such person;

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the Legislature shall have power to release, rescind, cancel, or otherwise nullify in whole or in part any encumbrance on property, personal obligation, or other form of security heretofore or hereafter exacted or imposed by the Legislature to secure the repayment to, or reimbursement of, the State, and the counties or other agencies of the State government, of aid lawfully granted to and received by aged persons;

Message from the Governor.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.

SACRAMENTO, February 8, 1940.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate and the Assembly:

GREETINGS: You are hereby advised that I have today signed Assembly Bill No. 79 appropriating $1,600,000 toward meeting requirements for disbursements for unemployment relief under the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935, during the next few days, with the following explanation regarding section 4 of this bill:

It is doubtful whether section 4 is legislation which the Legislature has power to enact at this special session under the wording of the proclamation calling the special session. However, I would favor the intent of some of the provisions of that section as administrative regulations if the intent were defined with sufficient clarity to be effectively enforced. But I am opposed to any provisions which would interfere with the free exercise of the franchise rights and civil liberties of SRA or any other employees of the State. No discrimination should be made against State employees in SRA. They should have the same political rights as are enjoyed by more than twenty-two thousand civil service employees of the State Government.

Subdivision "b" is inconsistent with subdivision "f." The latter provision (f) would make it unlawful for any person employed in connection with the administration of the appropriation to be politically "active," while subdivision "b" would make it unlawful to deprive such person of employment, relief or other benefit made possible in whole or in part by the appropriation.

In other words, section 4 would make it unlawful for any employee of SRA to be politically "active," and at the same time would make it unlawful to deprive any person of employment in the SRA because of such unlawful political activity.

I hope such legally doubtful and ill-considered legislation will not be included in any other appropriation measure.

Respectfully yours,

CULBERT L. OLSON,
Governor of California.

CLO:M.

Resolution of Board of Governors SRA Los Angeles Chapter No. 65
C. S. E. A.

WHEREAS, On Friday, February 2, 1940, this Board of Governors approved a "Report and recommendations" prepared by the Legislative Committee of this chapter and authorized this committee to send copies of said "report" to our employers, the people of the State of California—through their representatives in the Legislature assembled in Sacramento; and

WHEREAS, Today, February 7, 1940, two of the signers of said document, namely, Mr. George R. Lane and Miss Ellen Martin, were called by the office of Mrs. Katherine Kilbourne, Assistant Director of Los Angeles County, to report there at 11 a.m.; and

WHEREAS, The signers did appear at said office at the time stated to be confronted with not only Mrs. Kilbourne but also by her assistant, Mrs. Alice Orans, and by Mrs. Orans' assistant (Assistant County Supervisor), Mrs. Juanita Ellsworth, and a secretary taking notes; and

WHEREAS, They were questioned solely on the contents of said "report" and their signatures thereto and solely as a consequence thereof were told that their services were terminated at once; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Lane and Miss Martin immediately reported said action to the officers of this association, and said officers of this association in turn arranged an appointment with Mr. James Reese, the Administrative Assistant of Mr. Walter Chambers, State Administrator of the SRA; and

WHEREAS, These officers were treated with every courtesy and fairness on the part of Mr. Reese and in their presence he called Mrs. Kilbourne and instructed her that it was the request of Mr. Chambers that the action taken by her in dismissing Mr. Lane and Miss Martin be rescinded immediately on the ground that in the opinion of Mr. Chambers and himself the signers of that report were well within their rights as American citizens even though some might disagree with said report; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Lane and Miss Martin have been reinstated for the present, but it is the opinion of this board that similar action against these or other signers of said report or members of this chapter may be taken again by Mrs. Kilbourne or others in various executive capacities on more or less flimsy or unscrupulous excuses; and

WHEREAS, Although this chapter has full faith and confidence in both the integrity and ability of Mr. Walter Chambers, our State Administrator, there are forces at work in the SRA who openly dispute his authority and consistently try to thwart all corrective measures he initiates; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Board of Governors of this chapter, That the same individuals who were sent the original "report" and "recommendations" be sent a copy of this resolution informing them that the best evidence of proof of the charges leveled at certain individuals in the SRA has been fully substantiated by the actions of some of them in the above instance; and be it further

Resolved, That nothing said in the previous report or this resolution be construed as criticism directed at Mr. Walter Chambers, Mr. James Reese, or other innocent members of his staff; and be it further

Resolved, That nothing said herein be construed as retracting any statements made in said original report.

Criticism of the Proposed SRA "Economy" Plan.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY CHAPTER AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF SOCIAL WORKERS.

February 1, 1940.

We who are familiar with and feel concerned for the needs of California's unemployed and the development of a progressive State welfare program, offer the following criticism of the proposed "economy" plan:

Point One—"Fix a maximum of $60 to $75 for the monthly family budget."

1. Children in large families need as much food and living space as children in small families. To single out for discrimination children in large families is uncivilized.

2. Setting a maximum budget for any group of clients is the first step toward lowering budgets of all clients. It has been demonstrated frequently that even at their present level SRA budgets are not adequate to provide a decent standard of living. The effects of the present budget have been graphically demonstrated by the recent SRA health survey of its case load.

3. Such a budgetary limitation would be slow starvation for large families as there are no other agencies in a position to supplement their budgets.

4. To use the WPA wage scale of $55 to $94 as justification for setting a maximum SRA actual need budget of approximately $60 is not fair since large families on WPA may receive supplemental aid from SRA.

Point Two—"Increase the residential requirements for eligibility for relief from one year as at present, to three years."

1. Increasing the residential requirements to three years is tantamount to sentencing many thousands of our unemployed to malnourishment and health problems, for there are no other resources available to assist those who would thus be rendered ineligible. Thousands of families have lost their residence in other States, though they have not been in California for three years, and have no place to which to return.

2. The social and financial cost to the State resulting from the lack of aid to the thousands thus rendered ineligible would be appalling. The inevitable increase of sickness in this group would bring an increase in the illness rates of the rest of the population. (Disease germs are no respectors of economic status.) There would be a rise in the delinquency rates and further strains upon family life. Additional police and fire protection would be necessary. All these would bring a rise in the tax rates far more costly than financing SRA assistance for this group.

3. To thus throw thousands of unemployed off relief, to force them to become scavengers, would lead to social unrest far more threatening than the cost of SRA assistance for this group.

4. Such a step would play directly into the hands of those who wish to return the unemployed relief program to the counties.

5. Such a measure would be contrary to the progressive opinion throughout the country in public welfare administration, which is towards decreasing the period of residence required for eligibility for public assistance.

6. This policy will strike fatally at the migratory workers.

Point Three—"Reduce the relief rolls an estimated 10 per cent by a checkup on eligibility on every person on relief."

1. We favor careful interpretation of eligibility to be obtained through the employment of adequate trained personnel with case loads small enough to make competent eligibility work possible. We are opposed to the dangers of checks because of hardship to the client through exposure to repeated questionings and investigations and because of unnecessary expense. In a Cleveland study a similar double check was found to cost more.

Motion to Print Communication in Journal.

On motion of Mr. Lyon the following communication was ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, February 7, 1940.

State Assembly, Sacramento, California.

The Wholesale Wine Distributors' Association of Northern California, San Francisco, representing the northern section of California, urge very strongly that you oppose the Governor's Proclamation Number 3 in his agenda, as we believe that an elective body by the people, and not an appointive body of men or women, should handle such great matters as a privileged business must have; and, we further respectfully oppose the Governor's program of increasing excise taxes on California wines, as proposed in Number 2 of the Governor's agenda, since we feel that such proposed increased taxes would be against the public interests, and would work a considerable hardship on an already over-taxed and chaotic home industry.

Sec. 21. Except in case of a fraudulent return or neglect or refusal to make a return or claim for additional tax pursuant to section 20 hereof and except in case of additional tax proposed to be assessed with respect to sales of property for the storage, use or other consumption of which notice of a determination of an additional amount has heretofore been given, or is hereafter given, pursuant to sections 9, 10, 11 and 15 of the Use Tax Act of 1935, every notice of additional tax proposed to be assessed hereunder shall be mailed to the retailer within three years after the fifteenth day of the calendar month following the quarterly period for which the tax is proposed to be assessed or within three years after the return is filed, whichever period expires the later.

SEC. 2. Section 17 of the Use Tax Act of 1935 is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 17. If the board determines that any amount, penalty or interest has been paid more than once, or has been erroneously or illegally collected or computed, the board shall set forth that fact in the records of the board and shall certify to the State Board of Control the amount collected in excess of what was legally due, from whom it was collected, or by whom paid to the board, and if approved by the State Board of Control the same shall be credited on any amounts then due from such person under this act or the California Retail Sales Tax Act of 1933, and the balance shall be refunded to such person, or his successors, administrators, or executors, but no such credit or refund shall be allowed unless a claim therefor is filed with the State Board of Equalization within three years from the fifteenth day after the close of the quarterly period for which the overpayment was made, or, with respect to determinations made under the provisions of sections 9 and 10 hereof within six months after such determinations become final, whichever period expires the later and no such credit or refund shall be allowed on the ground that the storage, use or other consumption of the property is exempted under the provisions of subdivision (a) of section 4 of this act unless in addition to the overpayment for which the claim is filed the claimant has also reimbursed his vendor for the amount of tax imposed upon his vendor under the Retail Sales Tax Act of 1933 with respect to the sale of such property and the vendor has paid such amount to the State. Every such claim must be in writing and must state the specific grounds upon which the claim is founded.

Any overpayment made by a purchaser to a retailer required to collect the tax, and who gives the purchaser a receipt therefor pursuant to section 3 of this act, shall be credited or refunded to the purchaser.

Failure to file such claim within the time prescribed in this section shall constitute waiver of any and all demands against this State on account of overpayment hereunder. Within thirty days after disallowing any such claim in whole or in part the board shall serve notice of such action on the claimant, such service to be made as provided by section 9 hereof.

Interest shall be computed, allowed and paid upon any overpayment of any amount of tax, at the rate of one-half of one per centum per month as follows:

(1) From the fifteenth day of the calendar month following the quarterly period for which the overpayment was made but no refund or credit shall be made of any interest imposed upon the claimant with respect to the amount being refunded or credited.

(2) In the case of a refund, to the fifteenth day of the calendar month following the date upon which the claimant is notified by the board that a claim might be filed or that the claim has been certified to the State Board of Control, whichever date is the earlier.

(3) In the case of a credit, to the same date that interest is computed on the tax or amount against which the credit is applied.

Any refund or any portion thereof which is erroneously made and any credit or any portion thereof which is erroneously allowed, may be recovered in an action brought by the Controller of the State in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county of Sacramento in the name of the people of the State of California and such action shall be tried in the county of Sacramento unless the court with the consent of the Attorney General, orders a change of place of trial. The Attorney General must prosecute such action, and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to service of summons, pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals are applicable to the proceedings herein provided for.

In the event that any amount has been illegally determined, the board shall certify such fact to the State Board of Control and said board shall authorize the cancellation of such amount upon the records of the board.

If the board determines that any overpayment has been intentionally made or made by reason of carelessness, it shall not allow any interest thereon."

Amendments adopted.

On motion of Mr. Yorty, the following report of the Assembly Relief Investigating Committee was ordered printed in the Journal:

Report of Assembly Relief Investigating Committee.

February 12, 1940.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee for the investigation of the State Relief Administration appointed pursuant to House Resolution No. 9 respectfully reports as follows:

In the short time during which the committee has functioned it has been impossible to make a complete and comprehensive survey of inefficiency and subversive activity in the State Relief Administration. But enough evidence has been submitted to the committee to enable it to form some definite conclusions relative to the conduct of the State Relief Administration.

The Communist party is now, and has for the past two years, at least, successfully followed a plan of infiltration into the State Relief Administration with a view toward domination of same.

The first part of this plan was carried out when the Communists developed their so-called "united front strategy," and instructed members to move into and work within the Democratic party in this State. Through their activity within the Democratic party the Communists gained sufficient influence with the present State administration to enable them to place many of their members in high official positions in the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration. They also have been able to force the present State administration to delay commencement of decisive action to stop their activity and to influence relief policies of the administration.

It is well known that members of the Communist party, except those few who openly register as Communists to keep the party name on the ballot, conceal their affiliation with the Communist International by registering to vote in parties other than the Communist party; by maintaining the utmost secrecy in their party affairs; and by assuming fictitious names which are used within the party. That Communists are all members of the same international party regardless of what nation they may be in was frankly admitted to the committee by Dr. V. A. K. Tashjian, alias Parker, head of the control commission of the Communist party in Los Angeles County. Communists obligate themselves to live up to the Communist constitution when joining that party. When they violate same they are called in and disciplined by the control commission. The Communists do not hesitate to disparage, vilify and attempt to discredit any member who, for any reason opposes its policies or discloses party secrets, including the identity of party members. Therefore, it is obvious that Communists within the State Relief Administration are directed in their activities not by the best interests of the State of California, but by the control commission of the Communist party.

It is not hard to understand why a party member or former party member is reluctant to divulge Communist machinations when one considers that the Communists remain always in a position to disgrace such former member by simply exposing his past Communist activity in the "People's World," or any other of the party organs. The Communists have spent years devising other means for keeping party membership and machinations secret in addition to the intimidation method described above. For example, members who become exceptionally important in labor groups, or Communist "Front" organizations are permitted to withdraw from the party in order to lessen the chances of exposure. Such Communists then work with the party but not as a member thereof. This arrangement makes it possible for them to make a technically truthful denial of present party membership while nevertheless carrying out the aims of the Communist party. After denying membership in the party they are automatically reinstated. This convenient rule also makes it possible for Communists to deliberately lie under oath. In fact, Communists are taught to have no respect for an oath and to disrespect the American Government and all its branches, including the courts and legislative bodies. They are directed to lie to official bodies when this is necessary to protect the Communist party from exposure. Ethical standards maintained in America are completely disregarded. Party members are instructed to take advantage of trials or other public proceedings to propagandize for the Communist party.

Members of the Communist party follow the "party line." This so-called "line" is the course of procedure laid down by the international heads of the party, it is binding upon all members, they adhere to it without the right to question its correctness. It is well known now that the Communist party's activities in America are directed from Russia. The members of the party are lured into a fanatical faith in its ultimate aims. Some of them are, no doubt, carrying out part of a vicious plot to destroy Democracy in America without realizing the effects of their particular actions. The recruiting of such persons into foreign controlled organizations and the use of them for propaganda purposes is part of the new foreign spy technic developed during the last decade. This technic is aptly described by Joseph Gollomb in his book, "Armies of Spies," material for which was obtained from the police files in the various countries where such spy systems have been in operation. These persons, who in international police work are designated as "termites," are merely the first line invaders. The foreign propaganda which they disseminate and the course of procedure followed by them is the first part of a carefully calculated plan to "bore from within" in order to weaken the governments in the nations where they work. No person can appreciate the danger of the army of Communist "termites" in America and their activities in the State Relief Administration without first studying the effectiveness of this new spy technic in other nations.

Working in the open the Communists could not hope to enlist as much support in America as they can by working under cover. Many persons, not actual members of the party help the Communists execute their plans by following Communist leaders, whose identity as such, is concealed. Communist "front" organizations are used to enlist the support of such unsuspecting followers. While ordinarily, the great majority of the membership in Communist "front" organizations is not Communist, the organizers and principal officers who control such groups are either members of the Communist party or dependable allies. Such so-called "front" organizations do not openly espouse Communism and the destruction of Democracy. They usually espouse some currently popular cause which attracts non-Communists into these organizations. The contact thus gained by the Communists is then used to dupe the nonmembers into following the line laid down by the Communist party to subject them to disguised poison propaganda, and to recruit as many party members as possible.

An example of a Communist "front" organization is the "League for Peace and Democracy" which the Communists are now liquidating because of the fact that this organization has been completely exposed as a Communist "front." One of the purposes of this league, which was known at first as the "American League Against War and Fascism," was to keep the United States disarmed and pacifist minded. In this way the Communist Internationals hoped to weaken our national defense and international prestige as much as possible. A report made by the Communist party in June, 1936, said "The American League Against War and Fascism is one of the outstanding examples of a broad people's front. Its third congress held in Cleveland, Ohio, last January, registering a representation of mass organizations of the most varied kind with a membership of over three million." The members of this league were pledged to resist military training of all kinds and to demand "total and universal disarmament as proposed by the Soviet Union." It is interesting to note that while using such "front" organizations to work for disarmament in America, the Soviet Union was rapidly expanding its own armaments.

Another Communist "front" organization is the "Workers' Alliance". This organization is used to propagandize and recruit the unemployed. Its identity is disclosed, among other places, in a book entitled "The People's Front," written by Earl Browder. Mr. Browder says, "We Communists were the pioneers in this and many other fields. It was the Communists who raised the slogan of National unification, fought for it consistently and finally brought about the merger of all into the Workers' Alliance." In California the "Workers' Alliance" poses as a friend of the unemployed. The real purpose of this Communist "front" is to use the political power of the unemployed to break down the administration of relief, to bankrupt the State, and thereby weaken one of the 48 pillars of the government of the United States. The Communist leaders of the "Workers' Alliance" will certainly continue to demand more and greater relief appropriations, loose standards of eligibility, lax administration and unrestricted use of relief organizations for political purposes. In order to carry out its phase of a diabolical program, the Communist-controlled "Workers' Alliance" constantly makes unreasonable demands upon the State and insists that relief be given to ineligible persons.

The ability of the "Workers' Alliance" under the present administration to keep ineligible persons on the relief rolls makes membership in that organization attractive to chiselers, and also, makes it possible for that organization to pose as an effective protector of the unemployed. So disguised, the "Workers' Alliance" is a fertile propaganda field and recruiting ground for the Communist Party. Captain Donald A. Gooch, an administrative assistant in the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration, appointed by Dewey Anderson, frankly told the committee that the "Workers' Alliance" had been able, by exerting pressure on the relief administration, to keep people on relief who were not legally eligible.

The "Workers' Alliance" is in reality the worst enemy of California's destitute unemployed. Its activity is calculated to, and does engender public resentment against arrogant demands made in order to jeopardize the continuance of proper relief. Breakdown of California's relief agencies would cause the condition of distress and hardships which is so desirable to Communist organizers and "termites."

The committee finds that membership in the "Workers' Alliance" is directly and indirectly advocated by Communist officials in the State Relief Administration. No effort by the administration has been made up to this time to curb the activities of such officials.

Another effective Communist controlled "front" organization used to control relief policies is the C. I. O. union called the "State, County and Municipal Workers of America." This union is usually designated by its initials SCMWA. The SCMWA directs its attention to administrative employees of the State Relief Administration. By enrolling the administrative personnel in this Communist "front" organization, the Communist Party is able to bore from within the State Relief Administration and carry out its destructive policies. Through its members it is in a position to encourage chiseling, to sabotage or influence administrative policy, and to show favoritism to members of the Communist "front" organizations on the outside, thereby doing its part to build these "front" organizations, and through them the political influence of the Communist movement. Much pressure from within has been put upon the administrative personnel in Los Angeles County to join the SCMWA. The personnel is informed in a subtle way that no one except union members can get anywhere in the State Relief Administration, and that jobs of members can be protected by the organization, through its influence with friendly State Relief Administration officials.

Another group controlled largely by Communists in Los Angeles County is "Labor's Non-Partisan League" the secretary of which, Mr. Don Healy, was formerly openly registered in the Communist political party. The name is misleading since most of the organizations of which the league is composed, are not even required to be labor organizations. Labor groups in the league are simply used as a "front" by the Communist control organizations which dominate the league. This so-called "Labor's Non-Partisan League" poses as a friend of laboring men and women. It carries out the usual Communist strategy of making such unreasonable demands on behalf of labor that public opinion becomes adverse and progress of labor is retarded. The purposely contemptuous demands made by league's masked Communists discredits the entire labor movement in the minds of the people who do not realize that this organization is controlled by Communists instead of American working men. The retarding of reasonable reforms for the benefit of labor is desired by the Communists because it results in discontent and the national disunity desired by the Communist Party and the organizations which they control. The great mass of workers who contribute to the support of "Labor's Non-Partisan League" do not realize that they are financing the Communist activities of Mr. Don Healy in his disguise as a representative of American labor. Neither do they realize that the foreign-directed activities of such Communist agents as Mr. Healy are calculated to eventually destroy the effectiveness of labor organizations by turning them into Communist "front" groups. It should be remembered that Communists make no secret of their intention to gain control of labor organizations.

Another labor organization in which Communist members are particularly active in Los Angeles County is the "Newspaper Guild." Communists are very desirous of controlling the sources of information available to the American people. A free press available for the exposure of Communists is a bitter enemy to them. An example of their work was brought to the attention of the committee by reporters who covered the committee hearings in Los Angeles County. Some reporters frankly informed the committee that it would be difficult for them to get accurate stories into their papers because of higher-ups on their papers known to be either Communists, members of, or Communist sympathizers in, the "Newspaper Guild." Some of the articles purporting to describe hearings of your committee in Los Angeles County plainly showed the effect which Communist censorship can have on part of the American press at the present time. These actually rivaled the "People's World" in rank distortion. It is easy to see that where the guild has a closed shop contract with a newspaper, it can cause a reporter to lose his job by expelling him from the guild. Where the guild is controlled by the Communist Party, the Communists can effectively carry on their campaign to destroy the freedom of the press. Your committee feels that newspaper publishers are making a mistake in not more frankly exposing their difficulties with Communist guildsmen to public scrutiny. Freedom of the press and the dissemination of accurate news is vital to our democracy and must be energetically protected.

"Labor's Non-Partisan League," with which the "Newspaper Guild" is affiliated, has been very active in bringing pressure to bear upon the present State administration to influence the relief policies thereof, and to resist administrative changes necessary to public welfare. "Labor's Non-Partisan League" was one of those groups which came into the Democratic Party of California as part of the Communist "United front" policy. It now uses the contact established therein to threaten a revolt within the party when the administration refuses to heed its demands. This is merely another example of the Communist "rule or ruin" tactic. "Labor's Non-Partisan League" and its allies have worked hard and effectively to prevent the administration from taking a forthright stand on the question of Communism in the State Relief Administration. The secretary of the league, when appearing before the committee, indulged in the usual Communist tactic of attempting to use the committee hearing as a soap box from which to shout Communist propaganda in the hope that his allies, in the "Newspaper Guild" would be able to so use his statements in their news stories as to cover up the shocking disclosures of Communist activity in the State Relief Administration. This typical Communist labor misleader showed the usual Communist disrespect for the tribunals of a democracy. He left the hearing in an orderly manner only after the chairman was forced to threaten to have him ejected by committee attendants.

Among the SRA officials and employees called before the committee were Alice Orans, chief aide to the Assistant Director of Relief in Los Angeles County; Samuel Ayeroff, District Director in Los Angeles County; Jules Kievits, District Director in Los Angeles County; Allen Metcalf, former head of the Surplus Commodities Division of the State Relief Administration in Southern California; Leonard Jones, Director of Works Projects; Lawrence Buchanan, Zone Supervisor in the Surplus Commodities Division; and Claudia Williams of the Planning Research Division. These employees came before the committee with their counsel and at the suggestion of said counsel repeatedly refused to answer questions relative to their opinions of Communism. The attorney who represented them is a member of the firm of Wiren, Gallagher, and Johnston. This firm, it is significant to note, represents Communists in Los Angeles County on many occasions. One of its members, Mr. Leo Gallagher, was the official Communist candidate for Secretary of State at the last general election. It is significant also, that these employees all engaged the same attorney who is, of course, recognized as an authority on the legal technicalities involved in aiding accused Communists to keep their Communist affiliation concealed. The very fact that these employees felt the need for such counsel, and refused to frankly explain their views on the subject of Communism, is a matter not overlooked by the committee. Mr. Joe Ayeroff, another witness questioned by the committee, was also represented by Mr. Wiren. Mr. Wiren informed the committee that he was scheduled to represent three other witnesses which the committee did not have time to hear in Los Angeles; namely; Ned Healy, District Supervisor; William Harper, District Supervisor; and Katherine Kilbourne, Assistant Director of Los Angeles County.

Dr. Tashjian, who is known as Dr. Parker in the Communist Party and who frankly admitted his position in the Communist Party, was represented by Leo Gallagher, mentioned above. Among the other SRA officials questioned were the County Director, Sam Houston Allen, who also felt the need for counsel, although he is himself an attorney; and Lona Claypoole, Social Service Interviewer. These witnesses were without exception hesitant, nervous, and unwilling to give forthright or frank answers to questions put by members of the committee. The conduct of these employees was something entirely new in the annals of legislative hearings in California. It is inconceivable that employees with nothing to hide would so conduct themselves.

Alice Orans is one of the ring leaders in the Communist group in the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration and is one of the chief advisers to the director, Sam Houston Allen. She was transferred from a district office to the main office by Mr. Allen at the suggestion of Katherine Kilbourne, a close political friend of the State Administration. Mrs. Orans was formerly active in the "League for Peace and Democracy." She admitted organizing one of the typical Communist "front" organizations, the "Women's Committee to Aid Agricultural Workers." As is the usual practice, unsuspecting non-Communists were induced to join this committee, among them being the wife of screen star Melvyn Douglas, Helen Gahagan. Mrs. Orans admitted to the committee that Mr. Douglas had complained to her about the relation of this committee to Communist activity. The committee also has other information linking Mrs. Orans with the Communist Party. She is a powerful figure in the Los Angeles SRA office, feared by the non-Communist members of the staff. She and Katherine Kilbourne are reported to have called in and summarily fired two SRA employees who signed a report made by the State Employees Association to the Legislature. In this report Communist activity in the State Relief Administration was condemned. Mrs. Kilbourne works very closely with Mrs. Orans. Both of them constantly display their friendship with Communist "front" organizations and exercise undesirable influence in the State Administration.

Joe Ayeroff, brother of District Director Sam Ayeroff, is former head of the Young Democrats in Los Angeles County. The Young Democratic Clubs of which he was county chairman have fallen under the control of the Communist party as a result of Communist efforts exerted as part of their "united front strategy."

Joe Ayeroff has used his influence as a leader of the Young Democrats to execute orders of the Communist party and to influence the Administration in its conduct of the State Relief Administration. Joe Ayeroff was identified by Rena Vale, a former Communist, as a former member of the Political Commission of the Communist party in Los Angeles. He was identified by George Bertholon, former member of the Young Communist League, as having been an active member of the League.

Sam Ayeroff was identified by Mr. Bertholon as a member of the Political Branch of the Young Communist League. He admitted knowing many of the members of said political branch, as well as having met with them, but told the committee that he thought the group was a discussion club. The committee also is informed that Sam Ayeroff was president of the Thomas Jefferson Branch of the Young Communist League and as such met in the special president's branch of the Young Communist League. According to evidence given to your committee, the Young Communist League is a training ground for the Communist party and is directed by the party in the same manner as other party organizations.

Mr. Jules Kievits, another District Director, became a citizen of the United States in 1938. He was an active ally of the Communist Party until obtaining citizenship due to difficulties the Communist Party has experienced with non-citizen members. He was identified by Miss Vale as alternate delegate for Don Healy of Labor's Non-Partisan League to the meetings of the political commission of the Communist Party in Los Angeles. This presents the strange case of a relief director who was applying for citizenship in the United States while working with an organization which has for its purpose the destruction of American democracy.

Allen Metcalf, former Surplus Commodities Director and now successor to Joe Ayeroff as County head of the Young Democratic Clubs recognized as official by the State Administration, admitted that he was former secretary of the "League for Peace and Democracy." Ezra Chase, another former secretary of this League, told the committee that he was placed in said position by the Communist Party and that in his opinion the Communists would not allow a non-member to hold said position in this organization which they controlled. Metcalf is, in the opinion of your committee, one of the Communists who led the infiltration into the Young Democratic Clubs for the purpose of gaining control of same. It is significant that under his leadership the Young Democrats have passed a resolution demanding the discontinuance of the investigation of Communists by your committee. Allen Metcalf, along with the Ayeroffs was among those concerning whom David Gill, former president of the Young Democrats, testified as having, in his opinion, carried on Communist activity within the Young Democratic Clubs. Mr. Metcalf is now using his position in the Young Democratic Clubs to dissuade the Administration from taking a clear cut stand against Communism and other abuses in the State Relief Administration.

Leonard Jones, Director of Works Projects, was identified by Mr. Bertholon as a member of the political branch of the Young Communist League, and as having been host to this branch of the League at his home on several occasions. Jones also admitted knowing and meeting with many members of the branch, but he also made the absurd explanation that he thought the meetings were simply get-togethers of a study club. Two employees formerly under Mr. Jones, testified that he encouraged them to join the Communist Party. An artist, formerly employed by the WPA, testified that Mr. Jones, in speaking before a group of WPA artists, subtly advised them to join the "Workers Alliance" if they desired SRA favors.

Lona Claypoole, who wrote under the pen name Lona Wells, denied any connection with the "Workers Alliance," but when confronted by Mr. Bertholon admitted she was active in the "Public Works and Unemployed League" which was simply a forerunner of the "Workers Alliance." Mr. Bertholon identified her as a member of the Communist fraction in that group and also as one who had been assigned by the Communist Party to act as secretary of another typical Communist "front" organization, "The American Standards of Living Committee." Miss Claypoole qualifies social workers. None can now be employed in the Los Angeles SRA office without her approval.

Lawrence Buchanan, Zone Supervisor of Surplus Commodities, who was identified as a member of the political branch of the Young Communist League also admitted knowing the members thereof and also said he thought it was a study club.

Don R. Healy was identified by Ezra Chase, a former Communist, as having been a member of the Communist Party's Enlarged Trade Union Commission. Mr. Healy admitted knowing all of the members thereof; remembered attending meetings in the room where the group held its meetings; but testified he didn't know they were Communist meetings. As stated above, he admitted being a former legally registered Communist when confronted with a photostatic copy of his former registration certificate.

Donald A. Gooch, mentioned above, in addition to frankly deploring the influence of the "Worker's Alliance" in the State Relief Administration also testified that the morale in the State Relief Administration is at a very low ebb because of the activities of these Communist pressure groups and their friends on the inside, as well as the investigation which said activities have made necessary. Mr. Gooch testified that these pressure groups were so strong that on one occasion they were able to keep a man employed in the State Relief Administration for six months after it was known to the Administration that he had been guilty of theft in his work.

Mr. Fred Foster testified that he was assigned by Sam Houston Allen, County Director, to investigate Communists in the Relief Administration. He admitted calling on John D. Home, of the American Legion and exhibiting to said Mr. Home a list of persons whom Foster thought were Communists. Foster testified that he obtained information from the sheriff's office, a United States Intelligence office, the Police Department, and from Susie Clifton, a close friend of the State Administration. He said he read the names of those whom he suspected to Mr. Allen but that he could not prove they were Communists and that Mr. Allen did not ask him for a written report. The findings of Mr. Foster were entitled to some credence on the basis of testimony given before your committee.

Sam Houston Allen, Los Angeles County Director of the State Relief Administration, admitted being a former member of the Ku Klux Klan, but testified that he was expelled from said group when he discovered its purpose. He steadfastly denied knowledge of Communism in the State Relief Administration and was completely satisfied to stop investigating after the Foster report. Your committee is convinced that Mr. Allen has permitted Communists to have a free reign in the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration and to successfully carry out their policy of infiltration. In order to protect himself from exposure as an ally of the Communists, or a tool in their hands, he refuses to admit the existence of Communism in the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration; refuses to believe any testimony that runs counter to his preconceptions; and has joined with the Communists in their attack on the committee members and the witnesses summoned by the committee to identify Communists in the State Relief Administration. Mr. Allen has since deliberately distorted a statement by the committee to make it appear that the committee had asked for an investigation of the witnesses who identified Communists in the State Relief Administration when, in fact, the committee felt that his SRA employees were guilty of perjury, and that action should be started against them. The Communists and their allies, including Director Allen, The SCWU (State, County and Municipal Workers of America), Labor's Non-Partisan League, Worker's Alliance, and the People's World are making a determined effort to discredit the former Communist Party members who came before the committee to identify the Communists in the State Relief Administration.

According to their self confessed head of the Communist control commission, Dr. Tashjian, alias Parker, former members who discuss the Communist party on the outside are called "Trotskyites," "stool pigeons," and similar names. In spite of the scurrilous attacks on those said witnesses the Communists have not attempted to deny that they were in fact former members of the party, and therefore, in a position to identify their former comrades. This identification of Communists in the State Relief Administration is the fact in which the committee and the public has an interest. No campaign of personal vilification against these witnesses can be anything more than a smoke screen since the Communists find it impossible to deny what they have already admitted, that these Communists were former members of the party. The claim by the Communists that they expelled those members and their alleged reasons for expelling them is simply an admission that they were members, and as such, able to obtain information relative to Communist activity.

The committee found these witnesses able to answer readily, to quickly identify the Communists in the State Relief Administration, to call them by their names, and to make the SRA Communists squirm unpleasantly when in their presence. Your committee feels that the Communists in the State Relief Administration deliberately perjured themselves in testifying before the committee and recommends that the transcript of the testimony be printed and a copy thereof delivered to the Attorney General with the request that he make a complete investigation and bring charges against any witnesses found to have perjured themselves before your committee. Communist Leo Gallagher shouted to the committee that Communists dared not admit their membership in the party for fear of losing their jobs. His attempt to justify the lies of Communists who deny their affiliation with the party offered one official Communist explanation for the answers given to your committee by the accused SRA officials. No such reason existed on the part of the witnesses who identified these officials as Communists.

Your committee finds that the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration is completely demoralized, split up into opposing camps, and that it has become a fertile recruiting ground for the Communist party both directly, and indirectly through the above described Communist "front" organizations. Your committee has received much information from employees in the State Relief Administration who have requested that their names be kept confidential because of fear of reprisals by the Communists who control the Los Angeles State Relief Administration. Members of the staff are repeatedly questioned concerning their opinions of State relief policies, by the Communist commissars in the State Relief Administration, and their satellites, who endeavor in this way to determine the attitude of these workers toward the relief policies of the Communist party. The same Communists who protest vehemently that restrictions on their political activities constitute a violation of their rights, are the same ones who intimidate and unhesitatingly deny the right of non-Communist members of the SRA staff to criticize the activities of the Communists in the State Relief Administration.

Your committee finds that the State Relief Administration of Los Angeles County is guilty of lax administration; favoritism toward the Communist party and members of Communist "front" organizations; that it has yielded continuously to the pressure of these Communist groups exerted from both inside and outside the State Relief Administration; that members of these organizations inside and outside the State Relief Administration condone chiseling and corrupt practices. Such groups encouraged persons to stay on relief rather than seek employment with a view toward bringing about constantly increasing relief costs and taxes in the State of California. By this method they hope to bring about a breakdown of the machinery of government and to weaken the government so as to hasten the day on which these "termites" for a foreign aggressor nation hope to see the destruction of Democracy, and with it, the liberties of free Americans.

Your committee finds that the vacillating policy of the administration in dealing with this problem, its hesitance to take any action in spite of repeated statements of intention to do so, and its failure, even up to this time, to issue an order calling for the dismissal of Communists from the State Relief Administration, have encouraged the Communists in their activities. Inaction has given apparent proof to Communist boasts that the administration does not dare to fire them or to take effective action against their members in the State Relief Administration. This encouragement by inaction, is doing much to add to the membership rolls, and influence of, the Communist party and its controlled organizations.

Until this inquiry by your committee no decisive action against the Communists in the State Relief Administration had been taken by the government of the State of California. In view of this fact it seems indeed fortunate that the Legislature in its wisdom saw fit to appropriate relief funds at the regular session of the Legislature sufficient to last only until the convening of this special session. It appears that the State Relief Administration would otherwise now be snowballing into one of the greatest and most dangerous Communist controlled monstrosities in the United States.

It is apparent to your committee that the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration is a disunited and inharmonious organization in which petty commissars and political puppets run wild under the benevolent encouragement of incompetent officials and Communist Party "termites." The committee finds that the apparent attempt of the State administration to build a political machine in the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration, has played into the hands of the Communists, who moved into the Democratic Party, and who, working from the bases established therein, have moved on to the control of the Los Angeles County State Relief Administration. They are now engaged in a campaign to frighten relief recipients into supporting the indefensible relief policies they would impose upon the State of California. They are threatening with insecurity and starvation, the thousands of deserving destitute citizens of California, for whom the State government has every intention of making proper provision. These Communist commissars do not hesitate to use intimidation to obtain the political support of persons on relief in order to maintain themselves in fat political jobs where they can dissipate the funds intended for the relief of destitution in California. They constitute a dangerous and malignant growth that must be dealt with quickly and decisively by the government of the State of California.

Your committee finds that it is necessary that the Legislature take immediate steps to bring the State Relief Administration under control, and to completely divorce same from politics.

Your committee feels that with the time and funds allotted to it, it has been possible to uncover only a few of the most glaring abuses existing in the State Relief Administration and that the ramifications of Communist infiltration and progress in California is such that a further inquiry of a broader nature should be undertaken at once. Said inquiry should be financed in a manner permitting the hiring of competent investigators and the necessary personnel to conduct a complete and thorough investigation in the entire State of California.

The committee has not yet completed its work and will therefore render a supplemental report at a later date.

Respectfully submitted,

Communications.

The following communications were received and ordered printed in the Journal:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE.

410 FEDERAL OFFICE BUILDING,

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, February 8, 1940.

Honorable Gordon Garland, Speaker of the Assembly, Sacramento, California.

DEAR MR. GARLAND: This morning's San Francisco Examiner states that Senate Bill No. 4, providing for the issuance of privately recorded license plates to exempt vehicles operated by regularly employed law enforcement officers whose duty it is to investigate actual or suspected violators of the law, has passed the Senate and is now before the Assembly for consideration.

As coordinator of the United States treasury enforcement agencies in the State of California, I would appreciate it greatly if consideration be given to the needs of those agencies when this bill comes up for action in the Assembly.

The United States Secret Service is continuously engaged in the detection and apprehension of makers and passers of counterfeit money. The Customs Agency Service and Customs Border Patrol are similarly engaged in the prevention of smuggling and the apprehension of smugglers, whether such operations be from ships entering our harbors or across the Mexico-California border. The Federal Narcotic Service carries on a constant warfare against distributors, dealers and peddlers of contraband narcotics. The alcohol tax unit of the Internal Revenue Service has many investigators who search for unlicensed distilleries and distributors of illegal alcoholic products throughout the State.

In their operations against criminals, all of these agencies must perform a great deal of travel, and they are provided with necessary automobiles by the Federal Government. It is vital to them that these vehicles be not readily recognized by the criminals against whom they are working. If they are required to place regular, distinctive "exempt" plates upon these cars, the effectiveness of their work would be seriously impaired.

It is respectfully urged that the above facts be brought to the attention of the Assembly, and that a copy of this communication be referred to the committee in charge of this bill.

Sincerely yours,

RALPH R. READ,

District Coordinator, Treasury District No. 14.

WHEREAS, The said alleged report contains recommendations detrimental to the interests and welfare of recipients of unemployment relief; and

WHEREAS, The interests and welfare of the entire population of the State of California are identical with the interests and welfare of the said recipients of unemployment relief; now, therefore, be it

Comment on the Report of California State Employees Association February 9, 1940.

Analysis of Committee Report.

Statement.

"The SRA * * * from its inception, was dominated and controlled by a group whose policies were based on the false premise that unemployment relief was a charity for paupers."

"Under the present setup, when finance * * * protests expenditures * * * social service ruthlessly overrules them."

"It has been stated so often * * * that no deserving citizen should go hungry, unclothed or shelterless, regardless of whether his need be due to age, infirmities or unemployment."

"All are supposedly treated alike."
(Relief recipients.)

"We, as employees of the SRA, have made * * * personal analysis of the clients."

Analysis.

The SRA was set up according to the State Welfare Act in which the words "charity" and "pauper" do not appear. The social service staff has always combatted the idea of unemployment relief as "charity."

The feeling of the staff has always been that the "ruthless overruling" was usually on the part of the Finance Division.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are possessed of certain inalienable rights * * * that among these are the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Clients not in need, in accordance with the policies as outlined in the State Manual, are considered ineligible for relief. Everyone in need, in accordance with these policies, is given relief.

No available figures are given to document such an "analysis." Apparently mere personal opinions and observations are used as the basis for an "analysis" of the whole picture.

The Relief Recipients.

Statement.

"They (the relief recipients) fall into three nearly numerically equal groups."

"Those undoubtedly deserving * * *. Most of them fall into the white American small family group formerly of adequate means."

"Those doubtfully deserving * * * (clients) many ignorant, semi-skilled or laborer families who have always lived more or less precariously and their resources are extremely difficult to check."

"Those undoubtedly not deserving to be supported by the American taxpayer. This group is composed of alien (or part alien) families * * * bums * * * habitual drunkards, dope users, and just plain chiselers * * *."

"Every real 'bum' in California is on relief."

"Transients."

"Previous standards of living were disregarded entirely, so we have the anomaly of a real American family of two having to pay rent, utilities, food and clothing out of approximately $31 a month * * * while many alien families who probably never earned over $75 per month in their lives, are receiving as a 'dole' in cash, sums in excess of $125 per month from our taxpayers."

"Obviously minimum and maximum figures must be set by law."

Analysis.

No figures are given to substantiate this statement of "numerically equal groups."

Does this mean American born? Of American tradition for one, two, or three generations? There should be a definition of this term "American family."

Are these persons "doubtfully deserving" because they are ignorant or semi-skilled, or because they have had only seasonal or hourly work, which is difficult to check? If they have "lived precariously" how would they have resources now?

The implication of this paragraph in suggesting discrimination against this group, is directly contrary to the fundamentals of American democracy. The American people have always resented any discrimination based on race, color, creed or occupation.

Again the terms need defining. What is a bum? What is a habitual drunkard, and what a chiseler?

The implication that there is a large proportion of aliens on relief is refuted by the Dewey Anderson report of February, 1939, which shows that the SRA relief load contains over 90 per cent citizens and less than 10 per cent aliens.

What type of "personal analysis" did the committee make in order to determine that "every real bum in California is on relief?"

It is a matter of common knowledge that many of the people who have come to California have been attracted by commercial advertisements, partially financed by public tax monies.

Aid to transients comes from specially earmarked Federal funds, not State funds.

The Fundamental Budget.

Are we to deduce from this that the "real American family" has no children?

We agree that the present allowances, particularly for single persons and for a family of two is inadequate, and are in accord with the recommendation that a more liberal allowance be made.

The extravagance of allowing families to live on grossly inadequate incomes is shown by the large number of institutional cases for which the County Welfare is paying as high as $45 a month per case to support until the day they die. Many of these chronic invalids, San Quentin inmates, and children in foster homes, who will be cared for for twenty years, are the products of early county relief cases (whose budgets had a ceiling on them) or families whose grossly inadequate income came from private employment.

Minimum and maximum figures have been set under the authority of the Relief Commission based on the scientific Okey-Huntington budget.

Statement.

"Eighty-five dollars ceiling on budgets."

"These figures are easily justified on the basis of the average 'security wage' of $57.20 per month paid in Los Angeles County by the WPA to the average family (3.3 members)."

"The maximum figure likewise is taken from the WPA's 'foreman scale'—deemed adequate for the intelligent head of a needy family."

Organization of the SRA.

1. "Failure to recognize the basic aspect of its (the SRA's) problem to be unemployment, rather than social service."

2. "Lack of proper coordination and cooperation between various departments having to do with unemployment proper, including the California State Employment Service, the Unemployment Reserves Commission, the Works Progress Administration, the Civilian Conservation Corps, and the National Youth Administration."

3. "Too much politics in the setup."

4. "Inefficiency in department heads."

5. "Personnel hired and paid * * * without proper study of 'need' and 'qualifications' before appointment."

6. "General deplorable conditions of morale due to uncertainty of employment as well as lack of reward or recognition for merit. * * * Stability of employment, as well as a proper training school in the field would mean a big saving to the taxpayer."

7. "The present philosophy of the administration in the SRA is: 'We have no interest in saving the taxpayers' money; our job is to take care of the client.'"

8. "Administrative employees have been openly intimidated to join one of these groups (new philosophy groups), and some administrative employees have urged and even insisted that 'clients' join a similar group."

Analysis.

No use repeating the comment on penny-wise and pound-foolish.

These figures, far from being "easily justified," can never be justified under the American standard of living and the principles of American democracy. Furthermore, the "security wage" of $57.20 per month has been supplemented by other agencies throughout the United States.

Shall we have an I. Q. test for the basis of need?

The confusing and ambiguous use of the terms "unemployment" and "social service" is another indication of the lack of any scientific approach in this report.

None of the agencies enumerated form a part of the State Relief Administration, and the State Relief Administration has no control over them. Further coordination would be highly desirable if it could be accomplished.

The solution is civil service.

We defy any relief administration whether administered by county, city, private group or Federal Government to be entirely free of inefficiency.

Social service qualifications have been set up and followed to the letter. In the interests of efficiency, persons are not hired on the basis of their need.

Social service division has never had sufficient funds for training in the field. The need has long been recognized because there are not enough trained people in the community. However, the education of social workers is primarily the duty of the educational system. A lawyer does not get his education from a law firm, but from the university.

The approved schools of social work in the United States and their outstanding leaders among whom are Grace Abbott, Edward Linderman, Wayne McMillan, have always held that a social worker's first responsibility is to the client, just as the doctor's first responsibility is to the patient. Thus, this is not a "new philosophy" developed by the SRA. Intelligent and humane administration of relief does save the taxpayers money.

Where is the proof of intimidation? Our constitutional rights include the right to organize.

Statement.

9. "Either through organizational inefficiency or chiseling, it has been found necessary to set up over 31,000 cases of restitution claims in southern California alone."

10. "Documentary proof of residence and other evidence of eligibility are not properly required in many cases, particularly when pressure groups intervene on behalf of the applicant."

11. "Under the present system, case workers who make investigations, as a result of which millions of dollars of taxpayers' money are paid out, are not bonded. * * * We recommend that one-third of the SRA personnel be over forty years of age, one-third over thirty, and one-third under thirty."

The Attitude of the Relief Recipients Toward the Taxpayer and the SRA.
Red propaganda.

Proper Inferences that May Be Drawn from the Foregoing Facts.

"We recommend * * * a State Welfare and Relief Commission composed of three members, consisting of the Director of Finance, the State Controller and the Attorney General."

"A law should be passed denying California citizenship to any person who has not been a continuous resident of this State three years without being on any form of relief."

"Relief to aliens should be discontinued at once."

Analysis.

An expensive and cumbersome book-keeping system has been set up under which every overpayment of fifty cents or more semimonthly is recorded on an elaborate form. In many instances the administrative time involved in filing these forms amounts to more than the value of the overpayment recorded.

These overpayments arise in several ways. For example—if a family member is taken to the hospital or leaves the home to look for work, there is an overpayment as the family has been paid in advance. The actual proportion of cases on which restitution is possible is small.

It has long been questioned by many members of the staff whether the purpose of this expensive system was to provide material for such an undocumented attack as this.

Failure to document the giving of relief with proof of eligibility is basis for dismissal. A few such dismissals have actually been necessary.

Every person actually responsible for authorization of relief is bonded.

Again the mystic three!

Stuart Chase says that Mr. Dies is a Communist and that Westbrook Pegler is also a Communist, and offers proof in the New Republic of January 29, 1940!

Does training in accounting and the law adequately prepare an individual for public welfare administration? California taxes support a School of Public Administration at the State University at Berkeley.

Very well—have a three-year residence rule. What goes with it? If these people are left without resources, we will face an increase in the cost of law enforcement due to social unrest, and an increase in the cost of public health due to the serious menace created by the presence of scores of sick, uncared for human beings. Which is cheaper? We believe adequate care for these people is the soundest economy.

This is a direct blow at citizens!

The Dewey Anderson report of February 1939, states, "The complications in attempting to remove aliens from relief rolls are found in this fact, that only 6.3 per cent of all dependents on heads of cases who are receiving SRA aid are aliens, while 93.7 per cent of such dependents are citizens."

Motion to Print Report of the Committee on Social Service and Welfare in Journal.

On motion of Mrs. Daley, the report of the committee on Social Service and Welfare was ordered printed in the Journal:

Report of the Committee on Social Service and Welfare.

When the California Legislature convened in regular session in January, 1939, it had before it a past record proving California to have been the most generous State in the Union in appropriating State funds for unemployment relief.

At that regular session the Legislature first met the problem of unemployment relief by appropriating $23,475,000 in the form of two appropriation bills to meet the need for the remaining months of the biennium 1937-1939.

On January 23, 1939, Governor Olson presented to the Legislature his budget message in which he requested the sum of $73,660,000 for unemployment relief during the biennium July 1, 1939, to June 30, 1941.

The regular session of the fifty-third session adjourned sine die on June 20, 1939, within a few minutes after the final passage of Senate Bill No. 1287. That bill in its final form made an outright appropriation of $35,525,000 for unemployment relief, instead of the entire amount of $73,660,000 requested by the Governor. Except for limitations as to the percentages of the fund which could be expended quarterly the bill in no way restricted the manner in which the appropriation was to be spent by the relief administration.

Prior to the passage of the $35,525,000 appropriation bill it was stated on the floor of the Assembly and of the Senate on June 20, 1939, that the legislative intent and purpose was that this fund would carry the unemployment relief load at least through the month of February, 1940. The plan was that before that time the Legislature would be convened in special session for the purpose of enacting a complete unemployment relief program for the remainder of the biennium. This plan was made clear, not only to the members of the Legislature, but also to the Governor and the Relief Administrator.

It will be recalled that early during the 1939 session of the Legislature serious charges were made against certain personnel and administrative practices of the State Relief Administration. Few will need to be reminded that as early as January 23, 1939, the date of his budget message, the Governor expressed himself in favor of a program of production-for-use.

Recurrently during that session there were insistent demands by members of the Legislature that statutes be enacted which would restrict rigidly both the personnel and administrative practices of the State Relief Administration, and which would prohibit or curtail its production-for-use activities.

After thorough consideration a substantial majority of the members of the Assembly agreed that Governor Olson and his administration should be given at least a year after his inauguration within which to take over the machinery of the relief administration, and to prepare, absolutely free of legislative restriction or interference, its complete program for dealing with the problem of unemployment relief. Consequently, in spite of the criticism of the relief administration's practices and inefficiency, and notwithstanding the opinion of many of the members of the Assembly that the amount was too great, the $35,525,000 relief appropriation bill was adopted on the closing day of the session. The Governor and his relief administrator had been given until at least February, 1940, to submit their relief program, and the members of the Legislature had agreed to convene in special session before that time, then to take up the question of unemployment relief in all of its phases: appropriations, personnel, administration, integration with a general assistance program, production-for-use and all of its other aspects.

The proclamation of the Governor issued on January 26, 1940, convening the Legislature in extraordinary session on January 29th referred to the question of unemployment relief, but the attempt was made to so narrowly state the subject as to restrict the Legislature to a consideration of the amount to be appropriated for the balance of the biennium.

This narrow statement of the subject was not in accord with the agreement of the members of the Legislature when they adjourned their regular session on June 20, 1939. It did not conform to the statements made on the floor of the Assembly and the Senate prior to the passage of Senate Bill No. 1287. It was not consistent with the plan which had been clearly stated to both the Governor and the Relief Administrator before that bill was passed by the Legislature.

A proclamation so restricted on the subject of unemployment relief does not fairly present to this Legislature all phases of that subject so that they may be considered entirely free of any legal doubt as to their inclusion within the call. Even a liberal interpretation of the scope of the proclamation on this subject leaves some doubt as to the inclusion of some of the more important phases of the entire unemployment relief question.

In conformity with the restricted form of the proclamation, the administration spokesmen within this body have limited themselves, on the subject of unemployment relief, to the introduction of bills which do nothing more than make additional appropriations up to an amount of $95,500,000. Typical are Assembly Bills Nos. 40 and 41.

On September 30, 1939, the Governor's Commission on Reemployment (John R. Richards, chairman) submitted its report discussing many of the more important phases of the unemployment question. That report sets forth a detailed plan for a works program, or what has been termed "production-for-use." To this date this Assembly has not even been officially notified of the existence of that report, nor has it been transmitted to us for our consideration. The administration has not caused to be introduced in either house of the Legislature up to this time a single bill considering any one phase of the works program elaborated upon in the commission's report.

On the subjects of administrative reform and the elimination of the personnel problems frequently the subject of complaint in the Legislature, the administration has not caused any legislation to be introduced.

Your Committee on Social Service and Welfare, in its consideration of relief bills, has been seriously hampered in its efforts by the narrow restrictions of the proclamation. Nonetheless, we have held extended public hearings and have heard from every person who presented himself.

Before considering the recommendation of any measure which would bring about a transfer of the administration of unemployment relief from the State Relief Administration, we requested the spokesmen of the administration to present for our consideration any legislation which would eliminate any of the administrative and personnel practices complained of. No such legislation was presented. No suggestions were offered.

Your committee then considered alternative methods of administering unemployment relief. The only alternative method presented to us was a transfer of administration to county agencies.

One of the bills drafted at our request provides for such a transfer (Assembly Bill No. 105).

Legislation transferring administration of unemployment relief to county agencies is not a new suggestion in California. At the session of the Legislature in 1937 there was introduced Assembly Bill No. 1177, the principal purpose of which was to effect a transfer to the counties of the administration of unemployment relief.

That bill had as its authors eighteen members of the Assembly, of whom fourteen are now members of this honorable body. The bill was passed by a majority vote in each house of the Legislature, being supported in the Senate by the then Senator from Los Angeles County, and now Governor of California, the Honorable Culbert L. Olson. (California: Senate Journal: 1937, page 2182.)

Your Committee on Social Service and Welfare submits this report to you in recommending for your favorable action the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 48, as amended.

Senate Bill No. 50, as amended.

We have also had Assembly Bills Nos. 105, 106, 107 and 108 drafted, and will recommend them to you for favorable passage as soon as they are referred to us.

Dated: February 13, 1940.

Respectfully submitted,

NORRIS POULSON.

"SEC. 7. The appropriation made by section 1 of this act shall be expended to and for the relief of all persons who are not totally incapacitated for gainful employment and to and for the relief of all dependents of such persons provided such persons and their dependents are, as to need, otherwise eligible for relief under rules and regulations established by the Relief Commission under section 8 of the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935.

SEC. 8. It is hereby declared to be the policy of the Legislature that wherever possible all grants of relief from this appropriation shall be made in kind and that the total relief from the appropriation made by this act, whether in the form of cash or kind or both, shall not be more than fifty-seven dollars and twenty cents per month per family.

From the appropriation made by this act, the cash allowance to any one family shall not exceed fifty-seven dollars and twenty cents per month. In determining the total cash allowance, the cash income from employment, from the Works Projects Administration or from any other source, of any member of the family shall be deducted from the total cash allowance the family is permitted to receive from the appropriation made by this act. Relief, in addition to the fifty-seven dollars and twenty cents per month cash allowance, may, however, be granted, but (i) only in the form of commodities, services or other forms of relief in kind and (ii) only in emergencies.

No part of the appropriation made by this act shall be expended for the relief of any person who is, or any member of whose family is, receiving relief from the Works Projects Administration.

SEC. 9. (a) None of the appropriation made by this act shall be expended for the relief of any person who:

(1) Has not resided continuously in this State for a period of at least three years with intent to make it his home, or

(2) Has, within the period provided in subpart (1), received any relief from a tax-supported agency, or

(3) Has lost his residence by remaining away from this State for an uninterrupted period of one year.

Within the meaning of this subdivision (a), time spent in a public institution or on parole therefrom is to be disregarded in determining the period of residence in this State. Absence from the State for labor or other special or temporary purposes does not occasion loss of residence.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a), the appropriation made by this act may be expended for the relief of any person who:

(1) On February 1, 1940 (i) is receiving or has received relief from the Relief Administrator and Relief Commission or (ii) is certified or has been certified to the Works Projects Administration or its predecessor by the Relief Administrator and the Relief Commission, and

(2) Has not left the State with intent to reside elsewhere, and

(3) Has not remained away from the State for a period of one year.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a), the appropriation shall be available for the costs of transportation of a nonresident to any State in which he resides. Every nonresident, who has once received relief under this subdivision (c), shall not again be granted relief from the appropriation made by this act.

SEC. 10. None of the appropriation shall be expended for the relief of any alien who entered the United States illegally. In order to be eligible for relief from the appropriation, every alien shall prove his entry into the United States was legal.

If relief from the appropriation is denied to any alien under this section, the members of his family shall not be affected thereby and the family, exclusive of the alien, shall remain entitled to relief from the appropriation made by this act notwithstanding this section and shall receive the same relief it would have received if the alien were not a member thereof.

The presence of the alien shall be reported immediately to the United States immigration authorities and a demand shall be made for his deportation.

SEC. 11. To secure relief from the appropriation made by this act, an applicant for such relief shall prove, to the satisfaction of the State Relief Administration, his eligibility therefor, mentioning his eligibility as to need, residence and citizenship.

All statements made by an applicant for such relief shall be verified by the oath of the applicant. Every employee of the Relief Administrator receiving an application for such relief in the course of his official duties may administer an oath to the applicant for such relief.

If the applicant for such relief makes any false statement in his application for such relief from the appropriation made by this act, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 12. None of the appropriation made by this act shall be expended for the relief of any person who is, or any member of whose family is, making payments upon any chattel mortgage or conditional sales contract for personal property, other than payments for essential food and essential clothing, in excess of five dollars per month, when the debt, secured by the chattel mortgage or conditional sales contract, was incurred subsequent to his application for relief from the appropriation made by this act.

SEC. 13. In determining the amount to be expended from the appropriation for the relief of any person and his family consideration shall be given (i) to the amounts of public assistance, if any, such person and his family are receiving under any other provision of law and (ii) to the standards of living, wage rates and living conditions in the locality in which such person and his family reside.

SEC. 14. None of the appropriation made by this act may be expended for the relief of any person who possesses, or whose family possesses, more than one automobile.

In order to be eligible for relief from the appropriation made by this act, such person shall deliver the license plates of all but one of the automobiles to the State Relief Administration.

SEC. 15. (a) It is unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, to promise any compensation, employment, relief or other benefit provided for or made possible in whole or in part by the appropriation, to any individual as consideration, favor or reward for any political activity or for the support of or opposition to any candidate or any political party in any election.

(b) It is unlawful for any person to deprive, attempt to deprive or threaten to deprive by any means any person of any relief or other public assistance provided for or made possible in whole or in part by the appropriation on account of any political activity, support of or opposition to any candidate or to any political party in any election.

(c) It is unlawful for any person knowingly to solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, subscription or contribution of money for any political purpose whatever from any person receiving compensation, employment, relief or other benefit made available from the appropriation.

(d) It is unlawful for any person to furnish or disclose or to aid or assist in furnishing or disclosing any names of persons receiving compensation, employment, relief or other benefits provided or made possible by the appropriation to any political candidate, committee, campaign manager or to any person for delivery to a political candidate, committee or campaign manager, and it is unlawful for any person to receive any such names for political purposes.

(e) No part of the appropriation shall be used for the purpose of directly or indirectly influencing or attempting to influence or interfering with or restraining or coercing any person in the exercise of his right to vote at any election.

(f) It is unlawful for any person employed in any capacity in connection with the administration or disbursement of the appropriation to take an active part in political management, or be an active member of political organizations or take an active part in political campaigns which have as their purpose the election or nomination of any person to any office or employment.

(g) It is unlawful for any person employed in any capacity in connection with the administration or disbursement of the appropriation to influence or attempt to influence any individual known to be receiving compensation, employment, relief or other benefits provided by the appropriation to support or oppose any candidate or any political party in any election.

(h) Every person violating any provision of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor and in addition to the penalty imposed therefor shall not be entitled to any further compensation or employment provided for or made possible in whole or in part by the appropriation.

(i) As used in this section "Appropriation" refers to the sum appropriated in section 16 of this act.

SEC. 16. The Legislature hereby declares that the use of the money appropriated by this act for the support of a publicity department and the making of expenditures for press releases, publicity statements, propaganda and other forms of appeals to the public is contrary to its policy in providing this appropriation for the relief of hardship and destitution due to and caused by unemployment."

Message from the Governor.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.

SACRAMENTO, February 13, 1940.

To the Senate and the Assembly.

GREETINGS: Both Senate Bill No. 57 and Assembly Bill No. 96 provide for the repeal of sections 2226 and 2229 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. By the repeal of these two sections, the authority to take the property agreements provided for will be rescinded, and provision is made for removing any cloud which may have been placed upon the title to property of aged persons because of the signing of such agreements. With this result the two proposed bills are in accord. They will effect the purpose of my placing in the call consideration of these two objectives; and these provisions receive my full approval.

However, my attention has been called to the fact that there has been inserted in Senate Bill No. 57 an amendment to section 2140 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, which reads as follows:

"SEC. 13. Section 2140 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2140. The State Department of Social Welfare shall have the power to and shall prescribe the form of application, the manner and form of all reports and such additional rules and regulations as are necessary for the carrying out of the provisions of this chapter, and not inconsistent therewith. Such rules and regulations shall be binding upon the boards of supervisors of the various counties. However, neither the State Department of Social Welfare nor the State Social Welfare Board shall have authority, by rule, regulation, or otherwise, to withhold or to order to be withheld any money subject to payment to any county under this chapter because of any rule or regulation of the State Department of Social Welfare. The State Department of Social Welfare shall make such reports in such form and containing such information as the Social Security Board may from time to time require, and shall comply with such provisions as the Social Security Board may from time to time find necessary to assure the correctness and verification of such reports."

This legislation was not contemplated or included in the proclamation calling this special session.

This proposed amendment to section 2140 of the Welfare and Institutions Code would cause the removal of all provisions of the Old Age Security Law for the enforcement of the law and the rules and regulations of the State Social Welfare Board.

I can not believe that it is the intention of the Legislature to enact a law in conflict with the provisions of the Federal Social Security Act or the California State plan to comply with such act, under which Federal grants to California for aid to the aged are made. This amendment does so conflict.

In response to my request of the State Social Welfare Board as to the effect of this amendment upon the continuation of grants for such aid from the Federal Government, the State Social Welfare Board has furnished me with a reply from Richard M. Neustadt, regional director under the Federal Social Security Act, quoting a telegram received by him from the Director of the Department of Public Assistance, Federal Social Security Board, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"The power of the State department to enforce its regulations and make its supervisory authority effective throughout the State has been a matter of concern to the Social Security Board since the approval of the plans. While the various assistance acts state in general terms the power of the State department to make rules and regulations binding upon the counties and determine the amount of aid in specific cases, the only remedy mentioned in the code provisions which became effective August, 1937, and set forth the general powers of the State department is the withholding power. Thus there is doubt as to the availability to the department of other usual remedies. When the Attorney General was appealed to on this very matter he was able to state only that the local authorities would have to comply with State requirements in order to secure funds from the State. We would suggest that the over-all powers of the department in bringing about local action in conformity with its regulations in any case should be clarified by express provision to the effect that the remedy by mandamus shall be available to the department as well as other usual remedies appropriate under the circumstances. If the withholding power is denied or substantially limited a question of conformity would arise unless the law is otherwise clarified or the availability of adequate remedies to the State agency is otherwise assured for the enforcement of its regulations in every case. As a matter of fact the withholding power itself even as it exists in California is not regarded as a satisfactory basis for the supervisory authority of the State and has not been so regarded by the Social Security Board.

I hope with these facts before it, the Legislature will not include this amendment in either of the bills mentioned and thus jeopardize the aid which aged people are now receiving from the Federal Government through our compliance with the Federal act and the rules and regulations of the Federal Social Security Act.

The withdrawal of this Federal aid would result in the removal from the rolls of recipients of aged aid of some 35,000 old people who are in dire need of this assistance and would charge the State and counties with the full care of approximately 100,000 aged people at a monthly cost to the State and the counties of $3,250,000.

Respectfully yours,

CULBERT L. OLSON,
Governor of California.

CLO:M.

DON LEE NETWORK

7 P.M.

FEBRUARY 13TH.

Yesterday we celebrated the birthday of a great American, Abraham Lincoln. My situation this evening reminds me of one of Lincoln's famous sayings, something to the effect that one should stay with a man as long as he is right and part with him when he goes wrong. Reluctantly I find myself compelled to part from Governor Olson on the subject of relief administration. My decision is not a hasty one; it has been made only after a year-long wait during which time I repeatedly beseeched the Governor to take action to stop the infiltration of Communists into the State Relief Administration, and other departments of our State Government which are not the subject of this talk. Only my deep affection for the Governor kept me silent for so long in the face of his inaction and vacillation—when enemies of American Government were gaining a dangerous foothold in our relief administration.

Communists today hold strategic positions in the State Relief Administration. And when I say Communists, I mean members of that secret and destructive organization directed from the Kremlin in Russia. I mean members of that organization who, masquerading as Democrats and Americans, inject poisonous propaganda into the blood stream of American life. I mean those cowardly conspirators who use the liberties guaranteed by our Constitution in a manner calculated to eventually destroy the liberties of our people. I mean those power-crazed, would-be commissars, who seek constantly to disrupt that which they hope to eventually destroy—namely, our American system of government.

Certainly, I do not mean real American liberals, nor even American radicals—so long as they are American! I resent deeply seeing any American unjustly called a Communist simply because he advocates economic adjustments which seem radical to some people. I, myself, feel that fundamental changes in our economic order must be made to eliminate enforced idleness and substandard living conditions. Those who use the word Communist loosely by applying it to everyone with whom they disagree have often called me a Communist. Such name-callers are the best friends the Communists have. They are the ones who create the confusion in the public mind which plays directly into the hands of the Communist Party. They make it easy for the actual Communist conspirators to fool the public by saying, "Oh, well, Roosevelt was called a Communist, too." The time has come when we Americans must intelligently distinguish between American liberals of all shades of opinion and the foreign-directed members of the Communist Party, who are plotting the overthrow of American democracy.

Forces of destruction are at work in the world, guided by madmen who lack even the outward signs of civilized tolerance or respect for the inalienable rights of other people. During the past few years, a new technic in the science of internal destruction has swept like a scourge across the world, leaving prostrate in its path one nation after another. This new technic makes use of armies of spies. Not the kind of spies with which we are familiar in fiction, however—but spies of a new order who spread poisonous propaganda in the nations where they work. Spies who sometimes do not even know the ultimate effect of that which they do, or the ultimate aims of the unseen masters who direct them. These spies work, not alone, but rather in groups that together make up a veritable army of foreign-inspired propagandists. In international police work these modern spies have become known as termites. They bore from within, weaken the nation wherein they work, and attempt to leave it vulnerable to the attacks of those whose methods are more violent.

Communist termites are at work in America. They are at work in California! Under the present administration they have made such dangerous headway in the State Relief Administration that as an American I can no longer hesitate to condemn the administration for its failure to live up to its oath to defend the Constitution of the United States. As a Democrat, I find it impossible to refrain from condemning an administration that disregards the platform of the Democratic Party, wherein both Fascism and Communism were denounced. No administration that I can remember ever talked so loud about living up to the platform upon which it was elected. No administration ever failed so utterly to carry out the most important plank in its platform. No administration ever refused so stubbornly to take decisive action to oust those who have sought and gained power for the purpose of destroying American democracy.

You may wonder how the Communists obtained the positions they now hold. The answer to that question is the history of a well executed and cleverly devised strategy. A few years ago, the Communists decided to register in, and work within, the Democratic Party in California. Disguised as Democrats, they worked in campaigns, sat in party councils, and captured leading offices in some of our party organizations. Some whose Communist affiliations were known pretended to give whole-hearted allegiance to the program of the Democratic Party. They claimed to be liberals who simply wished to join with all other liberal groups in what they called a "united front" against reaction and extreme conservatism. They were strange allies for the real Democrats, but they professed sincerity, were outwardly cooperative, and willing to forego their own program in order to help the Democratic Party go forward with its program. By use of this strategy, they established bases in the Democratic Party, from which to carry out their concealed ambition to control the Democratic Party, and through such control, the government of the State of California.

It is evident now that their principal aim was to capture the relief administration. I sensed this over a year ago when I first began to understand the real purpose of the "united front" strategy of these Communist termites. They made a determined effort to get one of their group appointed director of the State Relief Administration. They made this effort, not as Communists, but under the disguise of Democrats! But Mr. Dewey Anderson was appointed relief director and the Communists had to be content to have their man appointed assistant director of State relief. When his connections and Communist activities within the State Relief Administration were brought to my attention, I made my first trip to the Governor's office to complain against the appointment of Communists to positions in the State Relief Administration.

The Governor took no action until some time later when exposure of this termite brought such a public protest that the Governor was forced to discharge him. That discharge brought loud protests from Labor's Non-Partisan League, the Workers' Alliance and other Communist-controlled groups that had worked within the Democratic Party. They immediately threatened to bolt the party and to turn against the Governor. Their intention to "rule or ruin" became obvious.

In order to retaliate, they began a campaign to discredit and sabotage the relief policy of Dr. Dewey Anderson. With their usual cunning they played upon emotions of disappointed Democrats who had been implicitly promised employment in return for campaign services. Urged on by Communists, always expert agitators, these disillusioned Democrats began to blame Dewey Anderson for their failure to obtain political jobs. But Dr. Anderson was an expert relief administrator. He steadfastly refused to appoint Democrats who lacked qualifications for the jobs which they sought. When the Governor began to yield to the Communist-inspired campaign against Dewey Anderson, Anderson stood his ground, preferring to be ousted rather than to turn the State Relief Administration into a political machine.

Oh, the Governor must know now that Dewey Anderson was right in the stand he took, but knowing the Governor as I do, I don't expect him to admit that he could ever be wrong about anything. After Dewey Anderson went out, it was the Communist termites, and not the real Democrats, who moved in. Everyone fully expected that Democrats would be placed in policy-making positions, but no one expected that relief officials would take their orders in secret from a Russian murderer.

In my county of Los Angeles, months ago, a new district relief director was appointed. Among his first appointments were two members of the Communist gang. The day they were appointed I called the Governor at his Los Angeles home and protested, but nothing happened. From that day on one official position after another in my home county was taken over by Communist termites. Over and over again I protested. But the administration only replied by shouting against Communism while at the same time shutting its eyes to their inroads in the State Relief Administration.

The Los Angeles County Relief Administration is now run in the high-handed Communist manner. Employees are herded into Communist-controlled union. Relief recipients are openly urged to join the Communist-controlled Workers' Alliance. The Communist-controlled Laborers' Non-Partisan League holds a club over the relief administration and it succumbs under the pressure. The power-hungry secretary of this league, which is composed mainly of non-labor organizations, was openly registered in the Communist political party before the Communists devised the strategy of moving into the Democratic Party. Two of the Los Angeles County commissars recently called in employees of the Relief Administration who had dared to speak out against Communism, and fired them on the spot. These two commissars defiantly refused to appear before my investigating committee in Sacramento when instructed to do so by the State Relief Administrator.

The whole State Relief Administration is in a turmoil. Members of the Communist-controlled organizations who are on relief boast about the favoritism shown them by Communist relief officials. Ineligible persons are allowed to receive relief. Chiseling and corrupt practices are condoned, in fact, encouraged. All this, while the Communists on the inside and on the outside scream for greater relief appropriations and more taxes. These Communist termites want to do just one thing, and that is to cause a break-down of the machinery of government in the State of California. If, by arrogant, unreasonable demands, they can engender public reaction against the giving of relief, and bring distress to the deserving destitute of California, they will then have created a condition favorable to their agitation for destruction of democracy. While posing as friends of the unemployed, they are deliberately trying to sabotage all fair and impartial relief policies.

During all this Communist activity, the State Administration has cowardly stood by, refraining from taking any action to halt this Communist orgy. And even today, with all of the exposures that have been made, the administration has not seen fit to issue an order dismissing Communists from their positions in the State Relief Administration. I regard this as a betrayal of the Democratic Party. The Governor excuses his failure to act by saying he has no proof. But you can't expect Communists to admit that they are members of an army of termites. It is their actions that betray them, and no one sincerely interested in discovering who they are, need have much trouble in ferreting them out.

I feel that the Governor of California is playing a dangerous game in failing to rid his administration of Communist termites. As an American and as a Democrat, I can not support his policy of inaction. The Governor is not the Democratic Party. His dictatorial demands that his orders be carried out do not make those orders either right or consistent with the platform of the Democratic Party. Today, only a fearless State Legislature, which refuses to be brow-beaten, is protecting California against the establishment of a veritable dictatorship!

I intend to go on working for the progressive principles of the Democratic Party. I won't be driven out of my party by Communists or by a leader with a "dictator complex." The last time I spoke to the Governor, he said, "I believe in a dictatorship of democracy," and I replied, "Governor, I don't believe in any kind of dictatorship!"

Dictatorship and democracy can never be combined. I am against all dictatorship, whether it be Nazi, Fascist, Communist or Olsonist. When the Governor decides to really throw out the Communists, and return to the American principles of the Democratic party, I shall stand ready to put my shoulder to the wheel and help him make a success of his administration, on which the Communists are bestowing the kiss of death!

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly, State of California, Sacramento.

I have for acknowledgment a copy of Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 5 in which I am expressly and specifically requested immediately to issue a proclamation specifying therein the subject of legislation in such manner that the Legislature will clearly have power and jurisdiction to consider and act upon legislation for the relief of hardship and destitution, whether resulting from unemployment or from any other causes.

Respectfully yours,

Senate Bill No. 48—An act making an appropriation for the relief of hardship and destitution due to and caused by unemployment, providing the conditions and terms upon which any expenditure for such relief may be made and declaring that this act shall take effect immediately.

Bill read third time.

Motion to Amend Senate Bill No. 48.

Mr. Miller, George P., moved to amend Senate Bill No. 48 as follows:

Amendment No. 1.

In line 2 of the title of the printed bill, as amended, strike out "provid-", and strike out lines 3 and 4 of the title, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "and to provide that this act".

Amendment No. 2.

On page 1 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 1 to 18, inclusive; strike out all of pages 2, 3, 4 and 5; and on page 6, strike out lines 1 to 48 inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"SECTION 1. Unemployment relief is the paramount issue before the State of California today. It concerns directly the immediate needs of hundreds of thousands of people. The disposition of such a vital problem, touching so closely the welfare of so many human beings and the general welfare of the State, is a matter deserving of the most earnest and serious consideration by this Legislature; it can not properly be acted upon without necessary deliberation. Moreover, should it be desirable to impose new restrictions governing the expenditure of relief moneys, it would be administratively impossible to put them into effect before the lapse of a reasonable period of time.

The emergency appropriation made by this act will enable the Relief Administrator to continue the orderly distribution of relief for the balance of February and for all of March, 1940, while the Legislature completes its consideration of and action upon pending legislation relative to the relief problem.

SEC. 2. In addition to any other funds provided by law, the sum of eight million five hundred thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State treasury, not otherwise appropriated, for the relief of hardship and destitution due to and caused by unemployment, and the administration thereof, as provided by the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935, for expenditure during the ninety-first fiscal year.

SEC. 3. The sum appropriated by this act shall, upon order of the State Controller, be transferred to the unemployment relief fund and shall be disbursed therefrom for the purposes herein provided. Until such time as such transfer is made, or when there is no money in said fund, the procedure for transfer of money from other funds prescribed by section 1a of the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935 shall be applicable thereto.

SEC. 4. The appropriation made by this act may be expended by the Relief Administrator in such manner that the relief provided to qualified applicants during the month of February and thereafter may be continuous and so that the total amount paid each such applicant may not be diminished by reason of the fact that moneys heretofore appropriated may have become exhausted prior to the time this appropriation is available."

Amendment No. 3.

On page 7 of the printed bill, as amended, strike out lines 3 to 12, inclusive, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"The appropriation for unemployment relief for the ninety first fiscal year is inadequate and will soon be exhausted, and it is necessary that additional funds be made immediately available. Unless this act takes effect immediately, relief operations will have to be suspended at once, which will result in untold hardship and suffering to a great number of persons receiving relief in this State at this time, and will cause unrest throughout the State."

Motion for Amendments to Be Laid on the Table.

Mr. Lyon moved that the amendments be laid on the table.

Call of the Assembly.

Pending the announcement of the vote, Mr. Miller, George P., moved a call of the Assembly.

NOES—Andreas, Atkinson, Bennett, Burns, Michael J., Cassidy, Collins, Crowley, Del Mundo, Dills, Donnelly, Doyle, Gillett, Heisinger, Kilpatrick, Lore, Masson, Meehan, Miller, George P., O'Day, O'Donnell, Peek, Pelletier, Reeves, and Rosenthal—24.

Explanation of Vote to Uphold Speaker.

I voted against upholding the Speaker on his decision that it does not take a majority of the members elected under rule 43 as appears in page 76 of the Journal, to carry a motion to lay on the table because I was in doubt and to uphold the Speaker would deprive the members of the right to vote on the amendments.

I believe the Speaker decided in accordance with what he felt was the correct interpretation of the rule.

EDWARD F. O'DAY.

Communication.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,

SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 17, 1940.

Honorable Gordon H. Gaviand, Speaker of the Assembly,

State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

Subject: Vote required to Table Amendment to Bill.

Request: No. 7617.

MR. SPEAKER: You have asked our opinion as to the vote necessary to table an amendment to a bill.

It is our opinion that a majority of the members present is sufficient to adopt a motion to table an amendment to a bill. Assembly Standing Rule No. 17 provides in part that, unless otherwise provided by law or Assembly rule, any motion may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present.

Robert's Rules of Order, which under Rule 90 is the recognized authority in the absence of an express rule of the Assembly, states that a motion to table requires only a majority vote (Robert, Sec. 28, p. 108, 1915 Edition).

We find nothing in the Assembly rules which changes the rule as set forth in Robert's Rules of Order.

The provision in Assembly Rule 43 that "if carried by a majority vote of the entire elected membership, it carries with it the main question and everything that adheres to it" is not applicable to the situation under discussion, since the same rule further provides that a motion to table an amendment to a bill does not carry the bill with it.

Our opinion is also consistent with Assembly Rules 48 and 66, which provide that a motion to amend may be adopted by a majority vote of the members present. It would be inconsistent to require a larger vote to table an amendment than would be required to adopt or reject the same amendment.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.

By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN, Deputy.

LGA/eh.

Further Proceedings Under Call of the Assembly Dispensed With.

Subject: Motion to Table Amendments to Bill.

Request: No. 7634.

Memorandum.

Re: Motion to Lay on Table Amendments Offered on Third Reading of Bill.

The question has been asked whether after a member of the Assembly has been recognized, has moved the adoption of an amendment to a measure then pending before the House, and the Clerk has read the amendment upon being directed to do so by the Speaker, the Speaker may thereupon recognize another member and permit that other member to move that the amendment be laid on the table. The motion to lay the amendment on the table, being undebatable, has the effect of preventing discussion of the merits of the amendment and, if adopted, prevents the author of the amendment from explaining the purpose and effect intended to be accomplished by the amendment.

All of the parliamentary authorities that we have examined sustain the validity of permitting the motion to table, if properly made, at such time and under such circumstances.

Cannon's Procedure in the House of Representatives, page 404, states that the motion is in order before the member entitled to prior recognition for debate (that is, the author of the amendment) has begun his remarks.

Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, section 192, states:

"The motion to lay on the table is in order immediately after the stating of a question and before the member entitled to prior recognition has been recognized, or after such a member has been recognized but before he has proceeded into debate, although recognized for that purpose."

In support of this statement is cited section 278 of Hughes' American Parliamentary Guide.

Robert's Rules of Order recognize that the motion to table may be used in this manner. The practice is discussed on pages 106 to 110, inclusive, of Robert's Rules of Order and the practice of using the motion for this purpose is criticised, particularly in nonlegislative bodies. However, on page 48 of the same work it is stated that:

"A fourth method frequently used for suppressing a question is to lay it on the table, though this is an unfair use of the motion, except in bodies like Congress where the membership must have the power to suppress any motion immediately, as otherwise they could not transact business."

See, also, the footnote quoting from Jefferson's Manual commencing on page 107. The correctness of the conclusion stated is demonstrated by a consideration of the successive parliamentary steps involved.

Before any subject is open to debate it is necessary, first, that a motion be made by a member who has obtained the floor and, second, that it be stated by the chair (Robert, sec. 2, p. 26; Mason, sec. 20, p. 45).

While this memorandum does not attempt to discuss the extent to which a member may explain the purpose of the amendment while he has the floor for the purpose of moving its adoption, it would appear to be certain, first, that any such explanation is not strictly debate on the question of the motion to amend since the motion has not yet been made, and, second that, having made the motion, the member must yield the floor for the purpose of permitting the Speaker to state the question or for the Speaker to direct the Clerk to read the amendment.

The question is then before the House and open to debate.

Thereafter the first member addressing the chair and recognized by the Speaker legally has the floor. Assembly Standing Rule No. 24 provides that when two or more members rise at the same time the Speaker shall designate the member to speak first.

Robert, sec. 3, page 28, states:

"The member upon whose motion the immediately pending debatable question was brought before the Assembly is entitled to be recognized as having the floor even though another has risen first and addressed the chair."

It should be noted, however, that such member does not have the floor until he is so recognized. He is at most entitled to a preference in recognition, at least until he has had a reasonable opportunity to claim the floor and has not availed himself of this privilege. (Robert, sec. 4, p. 33.) However, the parliamentary authorities cited above fully support the contention that there is an exception to this rule, particularly in legislative bodies, and countenance the practice of recognizing another member in lieu of the member ordinarily entitled to the floor when such other member desires to make a motion to lay the amendment on the table.

It would therefore appear that a member may be recognized for the purpose of making a motion to lay an amendment on the table prior even to permitting the member offering the amendment to debate the merits of the amendment. In view of this fact it follows necessarily that even if the author of the amendment should be recognized and permitted to speak, a motion to table the amendment would be in order immediately after he yielded the floor, or at any subsequent time and that the making of such a motion would forestall further debate on the main question until the motion had been acted upon.

FRED B. WOOD,
By LAWRENCE G. ALLYN.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 16, 1940.

*Honorable Gardiner Johnson, Assembly Chambers, State Capitol,
Sacramento, California.*

Subject: Limitation of Debate.
Request: No. 7584.

DEAR MR. JOHNSON: You have asked two questions:

- (1) What is the proper procedure to take the floor from a member who has exceeded the time for debate allowed him by Assembly Rule No. 23, and
- (2) Where a member has exceeded the time allowed him by Rule 23, may another member move the previous question without any other procedure?

In answer to the first question, it appears that the Speaker may call such a member to order without motion or any other member may raise a point of order. If the point of order is sustained, the member who had the floor will be requested to take his seat. (Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Sec. 32, p. 60).

In answer to the second question, we cite Robert's Rules of Order, made the recognized authority on all occasions when the Assembly rules are not applicable. (Assembly Rule 90):

"In order when another has the floor. After a member has been assigned the floor he can not be interrupted by a member or the chairman, except by (a) a motion to reconsider; (b) a point of order; (c) an objection to the consideration of the question; (d) a call for the orders of the day when they are not being conformed to; (e) a question of privileges; (f) a request or demand that the question be divided when it consists of more than one independent resolution on different subjects; or (g) a parliamentary inquiry or a request for information that requires immediate answer; and these can not interrupt him after he has actually commenced speaking unless the urgency is so great as to justify it." (Sec. 3, p. 32).

It is our conclusion that a member may not be interrupted by a motion for the previous question, but must under the circumstances detailed be first called to order and requested to take his seat.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.
By MARTIN McDONOUGH, Assistant Counsel.

Resolution.

By Messrs. Poulson, Knight and Lore:

House Resolution No. 42.

WHEREAS, The State Relief Administration has presented the following statement of approximate assets and liabilities:

"ASSETS.

As at February 16, 1940, at opening of business, the Controller's books showed the following approximate figures of assets on hand for the SRA:

Cash on hand, in treasury-----	$2,500,000
Warrants unsold -----	1,600,000

Total assets available for expenditure against SRA claims -----	$4,100,000
---	-------------

The SRA has encumbered or 'earmarked' the above amounts in order to insure that obligations incurred such as payrolls, purchase orders issued to vendors, rents, etc., will be paid when presented as a claim, regardless of whether the claim is presented tomorrow or a year from tomorrow.

LIABILITIES.

The liabilities of the SRA for which the above funds have been earmarked or encumbered are approximately as follows:

Wages and salaries for the month of February. (These will be paid in March)-----	$750,000
Emergency relief orders issued to doctors, grocery stores and other vendors for which claims have not as yet been received-----	700,000
Cash direct relief payrolls written by the SRA during the normal course of business in transit to the Controller's disbursing office. (This usually amounts to two days' work—they go to Controller's auditors first)-----	400,000
Purchase orders issued to vendors for food supplies delivered to camps for which invoices or claims have not as yet been received. Approximately $150,000 per month is spent for this purpose. This amount represents about complete orders for January and February and the remainder of older liabilities-----	400,000
Services and expense items such as rents, utilities, travel, rentals of equipment, etc., for which claims have not been presented-----	300,000
Obligations incurred for miscellaneous purchase orders issued for which claims have not been presented—including approximately $370,000 for textiles for WPA sewing projects and $130,000 for advances of raw materials to cooperatives-----	700,000
Miscellaneous obligations including $200,000 for property and equipment, purchase orders and encumbrances for previous fiscal years, $350,000-----	850,000

Total liabilities -----	$4,100,000"
-------------------------	--------------

now, therefore, be it

Motion to Print Remarks in Journal.

Remarks.

By Mr. Wakefield:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature:

As I understand it, Mr. William Elconin was subpoenaed to appear before the Assembly Relief Investigating Committee and to bring with him certain books, records, and documents. He did not appear at the time and place specified in the subpoena, nor did he bring with him at that time the books, records, and documents. Thereafter, the committee reported that fact to this body and upon that report being filed, Assembly Resolution No. 38 was adopted which directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to arrest the witness and bring him before the bar of this House to show cause why he should not be punished for the contempt which he had committed.

At this point, there are two alternatives open to this House. In the first place, the very failure of the witness to produce the books, records, and documents constitutes a criminal offense according to section 87 of the Penal Code. There is also a very old statute adopted in 1857 which provides that the failure to appear before a legislative committee in response to a subpoena is also a crime. It goes on to say that upon the direction of the body itself, the Attorney General shall submit the matter to the grand jury of Sacramento County and that the grand jury shall consider the matter and if it finds that a crime has been committed, indict the man for the crime committed.

The resolution Mr. Yorty has just submitted to you is based upon that general procedure. What the resolution proposes to do is bring the fact of the contempt before the committee directly to the attention of the Attorney General and ask him to bring proceedings before the Sacramento grand jury or originally before the superior court of Sacramento County to punish the man for his failure to appear before the committee.

Now, in addition to that, and as the second alternative, the House may, bring the witness before the bar of the house and through the Speaker, propound to the witness certain questions giving him an opportunity to say whether he did or did not appear before the committee and if he did not appear whether he has any legal excuse for his failure to do so. If he is willing to purge himself of the contempt of this body by appearing before its committee and producing the required records, he should be instructed to do so. If he is still unwilling to do that he may be brought before the bar of the house, to show justifiable cause, if any he may have, why he did not appear and produce the records demanded of him. Then this body will determine whether his excuse for failing to produce the records is justifiable and whether he is justified in not appearing before the committee. If the house believes that his reasons for not appearing before the committee and for his failure to produce the records are inadequate, it may directly commit him to the county jail until such time as he is willing to purge himself of the contempt.

That, briefly, states the alternatives and it is up to the House to determine which alternative they wish to choose.

Mr. Cronin:

Is it possible to follow out this procedure, bring the man before the bar of the Assembly and ask him the questions you referred to in your second alternative as to whether or not he obeyed the subpoena; to thereafter refer the matter to the Attorney General for his action without the body itself here holding him in contempt and determining the punishment?

Mr. Wakefield:

It seems to me that it is, Mr. Cronin, upon this theory: The House has a resolution before it; if the members feel that in order to properly dispose of it they desire to know just what the man's excuse may be, originally, assuming he has an excuse and a sufficient one, I see no reason why he should not be brought in.

Mr. Field:

Is he immune from punishment?

Mr. Wakefield:

It depends upon what you mean by immunity, Mr. Field. If you mean immune from the contempt itself—I think the answer is no. For testifying before the committee he may obtain immunity as to those things concerning which he is required to testify. He does not obtain immunity from contempt because of any explanation of his failure to appear which he may make here. This is in the nature of a follow-up procedure.

Mr. Lyon:

Suppose we bring the gentleman in question in and ask him the questions suggested by the two methods you have there—whether or not he has any excuse to show and he goes off into a long explanation of facts and we do not stop him can we certify the proceedings to the grand jury and punish him for contempt?

Mr. Wakefield:

It seems to me to be within the power of the House to confine the witness to statements that are responsive of the questions propounded to him. Any explanation he may give here does not necessarily excuse him for his original failure to appear before the committee.

Mr. Yorty:

The point I wish to make clear which was doubtful in my mind is the fact that if the witness is brought in and has still not produced his records then we commit him to jail and if later the court finds the subpoena was not sufficient we shall have placed him in jail by an action of this body without having a court first determine that fact. Mr. Cronin has suggested a feasible method; that is, to follow out the procedure of bringing before the bar of the Assembly this witness and asking him if he has brought the records at this time. Then I see no reason why we can not certify all of this to the Attorney General and in that way still do the thing I am most interested in and test the power of the Assembly committee to bring witnesses in and the power of the Attorney General to punish when in contempt.

Mr. Wakefield:

It is for the House to decide what it wants to do in the premises. It is up to them to decide which alternative or alternatives they wish to take.

Mr. Atkinson:

There was some discussion on the floor of the Assembly as to whether the witness had to appear before he had a witness fee. I should like to know what arrangements have been made.

Mr. Wakefield:

There is no provision in the law of the State of California or the Assembly rules which requires the prepayment of witness fees to witnesses before any committee of the Legislature. Rule 97 of the Assembly Standing Rules provides that witnesses before the Assembly or any committee thereof are entitled to a fee of \$5.00 per day and to  $3\frac{1}{2}c$  per mile to and from the place of hearing but the fees are not required by that rule nor any statute to be paid in advance.

Mr. Call:

Mr. Wakefield, isn't it your understanding that the only questions that we can ask this man are: Have you in your possession the records, books, and documents? And if he answers in the negative, Have you any excuse for not producing the records, books and documents? Aren't those the only questions we should ask?

Mr. Wakefield:

That seems to me to be true. This man has failed to appear before the committee in the first instance. He has not appeared and has refused to appear. The House should determine whether he did appear and if he did not appear whether or not he has an excuse for failing to appear.

Mr. Crowley:

If the man comes here before this body and if the first thing he demands is an attorney, are you going to see that he gets an attorney?

Mr. Wakefield:

It is up to the House to determine if he may be permitted an attorney. There is no provision of law that I know of which entitles him to an attorney. In the past, in the instances where we have precedent for this sort of proceeding, the witness is allowed an attorney or not according to the terms of the original resolution; which directs that he be brought before the House. In this instance the resolution does not say whether or not the witness may have an attorney. It should be remembered that this is not a criminal proceeding. The witness is here as a witness, not as a defendant in a criminal proceeding. This is a proceeding before an independent branch of the government, the legislative branch, to enforce its right to obtain information on subjects pending before it.

Mr. Rosenthal:

Mr. Wakefield, would such an individual be entitled to advice as to his constitutional rights?

Mr. Wakefield:

I see no reason why he should not be, if the House wishes to accord him the opportunity to be so advised.

Mr. Rosenthal:

With respect to any information he was called upon to give, what constitutional rights would he have?

Mr. Wakefield:

If we may assume the proceedings have been proper, up to this point, the only right which he has is a right to state any reasons he may have for his failure to appear before the Committee. Assuming that questions are asked of him relative to his failure to appear before the committee, it would seem that he has no alternative except to answer the questions or commit additional contempt before this House.

Mr. Rosenthal:

Has he any of the rights of a defendant in a legal procedure?

Mr. Wakefield:

No. It is true that in certain instances the courts have relied upon analogous provisions in the penal and civil code to determine what the powers of the legislative body are but there is no requirement that he be accorded the same rights as a defendant in a criminal proceeding.

Mr. Rosenthal:

The House has absolute power to ascertain if he has abrogated the authority of the House and may mete out the punishment that they may see fit to mete out?

Mr. Wakefield:

The House which he is appearing before consists of eighty members and they represent the interests of the people of the State as a whole—in effect, he is being tried before the people's own representatives for failing to do what they have asked him to do. We must assume that the judgment of the House will be inherently fair. In effect he is being tried by a jury of his peers, a jury consisting of eighty members rather than of twelve. If the House decides that he has no reason for his refusal to appear before the committee that should end the matter and he may be confined until he is willing to appear.

Mr. O'Day:

Is a majority of the vote of the members elected or here present to determine whether or not he is in contempt?

Mr. Wakefield:

The vote required is that which is required to pass any other resolution.

Mr. O'Day:

If the man is to be sworn in before he testifies, who swears him in?

Mr. Wakefield:

It is not required that he be sworn in. He is brought here and is not testifying under oath; he is simply answering questions he is asked to answer. He may, however, be sworn in by the Speaker.

Mr. O'Donnell:

As I understand it we are passing upon the question if there is any excuse for his not appearing before the Assembly committee and also for not having produced his books before the Legislature. Can you give us any legal guiding as to what would constitute a reasonable excuse?

Mr. Wakefield:

The best test I can suggest to you in a few words is that a man probably can not be compelled to do that which it is impossible for him to do. If his excuse might be that he was unable to appear on account of insufficient funds, the House must determine whether or not they believe that he did not have sufficient funds. If they believe it, it seems to me in that case that he has exonerated himself. If his excuse is that he did not have the books and records in his possession and therefore could not present them, the house must determine whether or not they believe he was telling the truth. If they believe him he may have exonerated himself.

Mr. Dills:

I would like to ask if the second resolution here is not passed upon the presumption that the gentleman in question is in contempt of the Assembly and has already committed that crime.

Mr. Wakefield:

When he first refused to appear when subpoenaed before the committee he probably committed a crime. He did not necessarily commit a contempt of the house, as that can not be determined until he is brought before it. He has committed a misdemeanor for failing to obey a subpoena.

Mr. Dills:

The second resolution has been introduced which countermands House Resolution No. 38 which requested that the gentleman appear to be tried. The second resolution has already made the man guilty of contempt before we have had the chance to have him appear. There may be good and logical reasons why. The second resolution is passed on the fact that he is in contempt without the house having determined this fact.

Mr. Wakefield:

There are two separate things involved: The crime for failing to appear before the committee is one. The house can not punish for and can not determine if it has been committed. It is however within its rights to punish for the contempt of failing to appear before the committee and when the house orders him to be brought before the house they are doing it for the purpose of passing on that contempt and not for the crime of failing to appear.

Mr. Voigt:

This matter can be disposed of briefly by asking just a few questions that Mr. Wakefield has enumerated and, depending upon the answers of those questions to this house, either exonerate or follow out the resolution. The sooner we get down to that the sooner we will dispose of it.

Mr. Lyon:

I move that we do rise.

Mr. Speaker:

Mr. Lyon moves that we do rise as a committee of the whole. Is there a second to his motion? Do pass.

Mr. Williamson:

I am going to ask that Mr. Wakefield's remarks be printed in today's Journal. I suggest that Mr. Wakefield conform to our request that his remarks be printed in the Journal.

Mr. Speaker:

So ordered.

Title read and approved. Bill ordered transmitted to the Senate.

Explanation of Vote.

My reason for voting against Senate Bill No. 81 is that I do not want to deprive the needy of this State of adequate relief. I am a progressive, Jeffersonian Democrat, and Jefferson would never take such a bill and I do not think our good Governor will sign it.

HENRY P. MEEHAN.

Explanation of Vote on Residential Requirements of Senate Bill No. 81.

I voted against the residential requirements in Senate Bill No. 48. After the vote was taken on Senate Bill No. 81, re residential requirements, in which I voted "No." I find I wasn't consistent in vote, as it would throw more people on our private associations, which I am against.

I should have voted "No."

T. A. MALONEY.

Explanation of Vote.

The emergency of funds to carry on the SRA for the next few months is so urgent that even though there are some undesirable features I am voting for the bill.

S. L. HEISINGER.

We, the undersigned, refuse to vote for any relief bill which reduces the relief client to a state of economic penance and denies him his civil rights, as Senate Bill No. 81 clearly does. This bill, if enacted, will precipitate a dangerous relief crisis and cause slow starvation among thousands of our fellow citizens and their children.

God, we want to talk to You this morning. We aren't worthy of the privilege and we know it—but somehow we have the funny idea You won't mind and will have the patience to listen. This life You gave us is no "bed of roses" and there isn't a day goes by but what we feel guilty to think You expect so much from us and we turn around and let You down. Now, we aren't snivelling in our apology, but we would like You to know that what we are gets terribly in the way of what we want to be, and we ask for a bit of help along this line. We don't expect any thunderbolt out of the blue to set us straight but we do ask that when we sort of get mixed up You'll clear the atmosphere, and when we get down in the dumps we'll remember that You are counting on us to pick up and spit us like men, and when we get overwrought and exhausted and act the fool, we want to know that You won't hold it against us but are counting on us to play the game and come back with a smile. Lord, we want to keep our eyes fixed on the kind of a Man You showed us once, who wasn't afraid to live for You when the chips were stacked against Him, and had the nerve to stand up under fire, and won through when everybody thought He was licked. Just sort of keep us to the idea today that life holds a lot of give and take and it isn't the take that's important. Amen.

Letter Ordered Printed in the Journal.

On request of Messrs. Scudder and Dills, the following letter was ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
January 15, 1940.

Hon. John R. Richards, Director of Finance, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

DEAR MR. RICHARDS: Pursuant to your request we have reviewed what was said to you by Mr. W. P. Wing, Secretary of the California Wool Growers Association, in his letter of December 13, 1939, concerning the inequalities of the Sales and Use Tax Acts as applied to sales of breeding live stock held at public auction.

In accordance with Opinion No. NS-714 rendered by the Attorney General on November 18, 1937, we have regarded retail sales of breeding live stock as taxable within the purview of the Sales Tax Act. The Attorney General rejected the contentions that the sales of live stock for breeding purposes constituted sales of food products within the meaning of the exemption provided by section 5(c) of the act, and that the sales constituted sales for resale inasmuch as the live stock is usually resold after having been used for breeding purposes.

Save for a case brought in the Sacramento Superior Court (Kirk v. Johnson), the Attorney General's opinion has not been contested in litigation. In that case it was held that the gross receipts from the sale of dairy cows are taxable, and the court ruled specifically that the sales of such cows were not sales of food products and were for a purpose other than resale. This decision was permitted to become final.

While it may be conceded that the Attorney General has correctly interpreted the existing law, sellers of breeding live stock have insisted that they should enjoy an exemption, as a matter of policy, inasmuch as the live stock is eventually sold for food products. They have also advanced the contention that sales of breeding live stock should be regarded in the same manner as sales of seed, that is, sales for resale.

At its 1939 session the Legislature passed Senate Bills Nos. 437 and 438 providing for exemption from the Retail Sales Tax Act and the Use Tax Act, respectively, of sales and use of "feeds, seeds, and fertilizers used in the production of food for human consumption, and live stock and poultry of a kind the products of which ordinarily constitute food for human consumption." These bills did not become law, however, because of failure to obtain the approval of the Governor.

To a substantial extent the amendments so proposed were merely in confirmation of established administrative practice since feeds, seeds, and fertilizers used in the production of food for human consumption are already excluded from the purview of the tax by ruling of this Board made pursuant to a resolution adopted in 1933 by the Joint Committee of the Legislature on Revenue and Taxation. Live stock and poultry sold for human consumption are likewise exempt under 1935 amendments.

In view of this administrative construction and the subsequent amendment of the statute, it seems clear under well-established legal doctrines that this construction now has force of law so that the only exemption which the amendments would have added would be that of live stock and poultry first used for breeding purposes or for production of milk and eggs but ultimately themselves used as food products for human consumption. Moreover, much of the live stock and poultry now sold is already exempt because the sales are made by farmers on an occasional basis rather than in the regular course of retail trade.

By extending the exemption to border-line cases in which live stock and poultry are brought together by farmers at central points and sold at public auction or sold through live stock dealers, it would seem that a desirable change in the law would be effected, clarifying what is now an unfortunately confusing situation. Farmers and poultry raisers strongly resent the application of the sales or use tax with respect to the live stock and poultry sold at such auctions or through dealers, and urge that the tax is unfair.

From the best information available it appears that if the exemption which was contemplated by Senate Bills Nos. 437 and 438 should be adopted, the revenue from sales and use taxes might be decreased to the extent of approximately $45,000 a year, representing the tax on the sale or use of live stock and poultry first used for breeding purposes, dairy purposes, or in egg production and later sold as food for human consumption. It is so difficult, however, to determine which of these sales are made in the regular course of retail trade and which are merely occasional sales by farmers, that the administrative expense involved is out of all proportion with the revenue derived. Consequently, we doubt seriously that any appreciable effect on the tax yield would result if such measures should become law.

When Governor Olson vetoed Senate Bills Nos. 437 and 438 it was doubtless in pursuance of his announced policy of withholding approval of further tax exemptions until such time as additional revenues might be provided. We venture to suggest, however, that in this particular instance it may well be that practically no reduction of revenue would be involved and that such changes in the law have much to commend them from the standpoint of removing what appears to have been an extremely irritating application of the tax.

Mr. Wing's letter to you and the copy of your answer of December 14 are returned herewith.

Very truly yours,

DIXWELL L. PIERCE,
Secretary.

DLP:M.
cc Mr. W. P. Wing.
Mr. John Curry.

Motion to Print Remarks in Journal.

On motion of Mr. Thurman, the following remarks of Speaker Gordon Garland were ordered printed in the Journal:

Mr. Garland:

A point of personal privilege.

Mr. Speaker and my fellow colleagues of the Assembly:

A short time ago, we were called into a special or an extraordinary session of the Legislature and, of course, being one of the members of the Assembly, it was necessary for me to come to Sacramento to attend to my duties.

Shortly after arriving in Sacramento, Mrs. Garland and I took up our temporary abode in the Senator Hotel where we presumed we would have the usual and customary privacies which every American citizen has a right to expect. Last Sunday, about 8 p.m., I found, carefully concealed in the draperies of our room, a microphone. Upon discovering same, I immediately reported to the police department of Sacramento and asked them to make an investigation and ascertain, if possible, who the party or parties were that had placed the microphone in our room and for what purpose or purposes the same had been placed there. I have since been informed that the wire leading from the microphone before mentioned led to another room in the same hotel where there was also found a complete recording machine.

I consider this one of the most shocking and outrageous invasions of personal privacy that has ever come to my attention and I believe, as a member of the Legislature that I have the right to request that a complete and thorough legislative investigation be made in order to determine who the guilty party or parties may be and what the purpose or purposes for the installation of the microphone might be.

Resolution.

The question being on the adoption of House Resolution No. 46.

House Resolution No. 46 read, and adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Allen, Andreas, Bashore, Bennett, Burns, Michael J., Burson, Call, Carlson, Clarke, Collins, Corwin, Cronin, Daley, Del Mutolo, Desmond, Dilworth, Donnelly, Doyle, Evans, Field, Gallagher, Gannon, Gilmore, Green, Houser, Johnson, Kellems, Kepple, Knight, Kuebel, Leonard, Lyon, Maloney, Meehan, Miller, Eleanor, Miller, George P., Millington, Pelletier, Phillips, Poulson, Richie, Salsman, Sawalisch, Seudder, Sheridan, Stream, Tenney, Thorp, Thurman, Turner, Voigt, Walker, Waters, Watson, Weybreit, Williamson, Wollenberg, and Yorty—58.

NOES—Cassidy, Dills, Gilbert, Hawkins, Heisinger, Kilpatrick, King, Massion, O'Donnell, Reaves, Robertson, and Rosenthal—12.

Explanation of Vote.

This resolution is commendable only if the purpose expressed is sincere. Five thousand dollars seems to me ten times more money than could be legitimately used to compile information apparently now in possession of law enforcement agencies.

I am favorable to spending all necessary funds for a successful investigation.

VERNON KILPATRICK.

Explanation of Vote.

My vote against House Resolution No. 46 was for the following reasons:

It appropriated an unwarranted sum ($5,000) inasmuch as the Sacramento police had apparently already completed the investigation of Mr. Garland's complaint.

FRED REAVES.

Washington's Birthday.*I.

All honor to that day which long ago
Gave birth to him who Freedom's cause espoused;
Who, by his ardor in the sacred fight,
The fire and strength of patriots aroused;
Who knew no master save that One divine
Whose strength was his, who knew no fear save one—
The fear of doing wrong! All hail the day
That gave to Freedom's cause George Washington.

II.

Years come and go, and generations fall
Into the dust. The world its heroes gives.
They step upon the stage, then pass away
And are no more, but Freedom ever lives.
And while it lives, and while its banner bright
Is upward flung into the golden sun,
Within the heart of every freeman's child
Will live that honored name—George Washington.

III.

Then honor to the day that gave him birth.
For it is also Freedom's natal day.
Let all who worship Freedom's cause stand forth
And to his memory their homage pay.
And let each loyal son the work take up—
For, know ye, Freedom's work is never done—
And greater, grander build the edifice
Begun so long ago by Washington.

—Arthur J. Burdick.

Motion to Print Remarks in Journal.

On motion of Mr. Maloney, the following remarks were ordered printed in the Journal:

Dr. Jesse Randolph Kellems' Washington's Day Address.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Assembly.

I am deeply appreciative of the honor which is mine today to join with you in a tribute to the memory of George Washington. It should ever be remembered that he could never have been the Father of his Country had he not first been the son of his country. For he was a son of Virginia, a wealthy and aristocratic son of Tidewater, Virginia. In his veins pulsed the fine blood of the cavalier. His friends and associates were the men of wealth and position throughout the colonies. Scion of a fine family he brought to his tremendous task not only a great body disciplined by almost two score years of battle on the frontier but also the traditions of the perfect gentleman. Every king of his day coveted above all else this title but none were so deserving of it as he.

It should also be remembered that the American Revolution was not conceived nor led by wild-eyed radicals. It was a revolution or civil war planned and carried to conclusion by the conservative elements of the day. The fifty-one delegates of the Second Continental Congress were not chosen from the ranks of the average inhabitants of America but from the well-to-do and intelligent classes. Of those who served in the first two Continental Congresses from Virginia six were graduates of William and Mary College, four had been admitted to the bar, and four had studied in Great Britain.

We should not forget also that the American Revolution differed radically from all of the great revolutions of history. The French Revolution, the Russian Revolution of 1917 were the upheavals brought about by millions of slaves who were seeking something they did not possess—human liberty. The American Revolution was the revolt of free men against something new—a new colonial policy which the power of the British Ministry attempted to impose upon them. They were not fighting to attain freedom—they were risking their all to defend the freedom which they already enjoyed. This was not a revolution on behalf of the new against the old but very definitely a protest on behalf of ancient and guaranteed rights, a fight to protect or conserve the freedom which every Englishman had brought with him to Colonial America. The First Continental Congress declared in 1774 "The present unhappy situation of our affairs is occasioned by a ruinous system of Colonial administration adopted by the British Ministry about the year 1763, evidently calculated for enslaving these colonies and with them the British Empire." George Read of Delaware calls the Stamp Acts "a law so destructive of the liberty of the subject in America * * * that if it should stand unrepealed, or replaced by any internal tax for the purpose of revenue the colonists will believe they are to become the slaves of Great Britain." John Dickinson in his Letters of a Farmer protests: "The generous, humane people of Great Britain who have often protected the liberty of strangers are trying to tear a privilege from their own children which, if executed, must, in their opinion, sink them into slaves. If they have the right to levy one penny upon us they have the right to levy a million upon us. We are taxed without our consent * * * we are therefore slaves. The late act of Parliament is only designed to be a precedent whereupon the future vassalage of these colonies may be established * * * I am resolved to contend for the liberty handed down to me by my ancestors."

The long-haired radicals of our day are far afield when they brazenly affirm that they are in the tradition of Washington and his friends of the American Revolution. If such men lived today they would be the first liquidated in the regime of a Hitler or a Stalin. Washington and his fellow immortals were not the creators of liberty, they were the defenders of the glorious liberty they had enjoyed as had their ancestors for many generations. Those who today battle for the preservation of our institutions which guarantee American freedom—these are in the tradition of Washington.

If we ask the question "what are the qualities which have made Washington immortal" I think that among many two stand out above all others; his superlative courage and his goodness. He had shown his courage to America and England on that wild field when the army of Braddock faded away under the guns and scalping knives of the Northern Indians. He had shown it again on that morning at Princeton when he had ridden down the hill straight into the smoke and fire of the British guns to rally his routed men with the cry "Come my lads, parade with me." But more than all he shows it in the letter which he wrote immediately after he had crossed the Delaware. His men were seemingly melting away, his beloved cause was at the lowest depths. Sublime are his words, "Though friends, followers, countrymen, should betray and abandon me, I will return to my own Virginia, plant the standard of liberty on my native mountains, and calling around me the friends of freedom we will fight for our country and our homes in the enjoyment of our independence and beyond the reach of a tyrant."

If Washington had not been first in the hearts of his countrymen he could not have been first in war and first in peace. His was not the goodness of a man whose life is guided by a set of rules. Neither was it the goodness of the Puritan. He was a churchman and a firm believer in God. But the goodness and nobility of his soul was native to the man. Above all else he was great because he was nobly good. As tribute to his glorious memory what better thing could we do than repeat the words of the great Lincoln: "Washington! Greatest name of earth. Eulogy is unnecessary. It is not needed here. With solemn reverence pronounce the name and then in its naked grandeur it goes shining on."

To the Assembly, State of California,
Sacramento, California

Attention: Mr. JACK CARL GREENBURG, Chief Clerk

GENTLEMEN: Pursuant to Assembly House Resolution No. 42 by Messrs. Poulson, Knight, and Lore, we have completed a test check audit of the funds which the State Relief Administration has encumbered or "earmarked" for liabilities under the seven groups set forth in the resolution.

The records of the State Relief Administration establish that the total encumbrances as set forth in the resolution are substantially correct as of the opening of business February 16, 1940. The amounts revealed by audit are as follows:

LIABILITIES.

Item 1. Salaries and wage pay rolls for February----	$752,761 75
Salaries and wage pay rolls for previous months not yet filed with State Controller-----	325,087 14	$1,077,848 89
Item 2. Emergency relief orders issued and in process of issuance—claims not yet filed with State Controller-----		462,537 34
Item 3. Cash direct relief pay rolls filed with Controller, but for which warrants have not been drawn. (See item under Assets marked "x".)
Item 4. Purchase orders, food for camps for which claims are not yet filed with State Controller-----		433,877 61
Item 5. Service and expense items, contracts to end of month incurred, claims not yet filed with State Controller----		640,524 87
Item 6. Miscellaneous encumbrances, WPA and cooperatives, claims not yet filed with State Controller-----		655,627 49
Item 7. Miscellaneous property and equipment—claims not yet filed with State Controller-----		134,123 22
Total -----		$3,404,539 42

The actual audited figure comparable with the total liability item of $4,100,000 shown in the resolution is $3,404,539.42 to which must be added a backlog of emergency orders in transit from Los Angeles County estimated at $170,000, making the aggregate liability $3,574,539.42.

The cash situation of the State Relief Administration as of opening of business February 16th is summarized as follows:

ASSETS.

Cash in treasury per State Controller's records at opening of business February 16-----	$2,716,788 63
Relief warrants unsold-----	1,600,000 00	$4,316,788 63
"x" Less claims in transit reflected on State Relief Administration books for which warrants had not on that date been drawn by the Controller-----		412,005 05
Actual unapplied cash balance available to meet State Relief Administration expenditures-----		$3,904,783 58
Less total aggregate liabilities unpaid-----		3,574,539 42
Uncommitted cash balance available for future commitments in continuation of cash and other relief programs on and after February 16-----		$330,244 16

On February 16 and 17, cash relief pay rolls were written in the amount of $456,382.28, which established commitments of $126,138.12 in excess of cash available as of the beginning of February 16.

If additional information is desired please inform us.

Yours very truly,

FRED W. LINKS, Chief,
Division of Budgets and Accounts.

Message from the Governor.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE.

SACRAMENTO, February 21, 1940.

To the Honorable Members of the Assembly.

GREETINGS: I have this day approved, and delivered to the Secretary of State Assembly Bill No. 64, with the following changes inscribed on the bill:

"I object to the appropriation of $50,000 and hereby reduce the sum to $5,000, and with this reduction I approve the bill.

"I understand that there are now outstanding miscellaneous claims totaling about $2,000 and, in addition, claims to cover the expense of a legislative committee authorized to expend the sum of $500. I have been informed that the sum of $5,000 which I have approved is sufficient to cover these claims and any additional contingent expenses of the Assembly which are likely to be incurred at this session of the Legislature.

"The moneys appropriated by this bill must be set aside by the State Controller from the General Fund for a period of four years in order to cover any claims which might come in within that time. Under the terms of the bill and section 9 of Article V of the Constitution, the unexpended amount can not be carried over and used to cover the expenses of another session of the Legislature.

"Believing the Assembly would not wish to appropriate for its contingent expenses more than is necessary, and realizing a future appropriation may be made should an emergency arise, I am taking the action above indicated."

Respectfully submitted.

CULBERT L. OLSON,

Motion to Print Communication and Remarks in the Journal.

On motion of Mr. Voigt, the following communication and remarks were ordered printed in the Journal:

Mr. Voigt:

A point of personal privilege, Mr. Speaker.

I wish to reply to an attack made upon certain members of this body.

Mr. Speaker:

State your point of order more fully, Mr. Voigt.

Mr. Voigt:

At this time, Mr. Speaker and members of the Assembly, I wish to make a statement concerning a scurrilous and defamatory attack made upon ten members of this Assembly because they voted for the reorganization of this House. I refer to a paragraph of a form letter sent out by some persons temporarily in charge of headquarters of the Democratic State Central Committee which reads as follows:

"By their action," Erickson declared, "these ten 'new Republicans' chose to ignore the welfare of 350,000 people on relief, to menace the State's credit, hamstring the Central Valley Project development and callously ignore the acute problem of rural housing for migrants and other agricultural workers now living in shacks, tents, and dug-outs."

(Objection by Mr. Reaves.)

I submit that all of this paragraph is lying propaganda, with malice prepense and aforethought, serving no useful purpose, but intended to injure the reputation of certain members by inciting public hatred against them in the performance of their constitutional duties. I believe that this attempted libel will fail of its objective, once the facts and the law are made known to the fair-minded people whom it is intended to deceive and confuse.

For the information of those who are ignorant of the Constitution and law, their attention is called to Article III, section 1 of the Constitution which I referred to previously this day:

"The powers of the government of the State of California shall be divided into three separate departments: the legislative, the executive, and judicial; and no person charged with the exercise of powers properly belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any functions appertaining to either of the others, except as in this Constitution expressly directed or permitted."

Also, I wish to refer to Article IV, section 7 of the Constitution:

"Each House shall choose its own officers, and judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its members."

and to the persons responsible for issuing this statement, I refer to section 248 of the Penal Code of California which defines libel:

"* * * a malicious defamation expressed either by writing, printing, or by signs or pictures, or the like, tending to blacken the memory of one who is dead, or to impeach the honesty, integrity, virtue, or reputation, or publish the natural or alleged defects of one who is alive, and thereby to expose him to public hatred, contempt or ridicule."

I submit that this statement was issued for the sole purpose of degrading certain members of the Legislature who acted well within their rights and according to the Constitution which they have sworn to uphold.

I also want to call the attention of this body to the fact that at the 1933 Special Session of the Legislature, F. C. Cloudsley, a Democrat, was elected Speaker by a then Republican majority of this House. In 1935, Mr. Craig, a Republican, was elected Speaker and Mr. O'Donnell, a Democrat, was elected Speaker Pro Tem by a Republican majority. Also at the 1940 Special Session, the Assembly elected Gordon Garland, a Democrat, Speaker and Gardiner Johnson, a Republican, Speaker Pro Tem; and I say, Mr. Speaker and members of the Assembly, that the nomination of Mr. Johnson was seconded by Mr. Meelan, an administration Democrat, and Mr. Johnson was elected unanimously including the votes of the Democrats and I have yet to hear that any of those that voted for Mr. Johnson have been excommunicated or have been threatened to be excommunicated from the Democratic Party.

Referring back, members of the Assembly, specifically, to the statement made that these members ignored the welfare of 350,000 people on relief, I can only say that this is the basest, rawest kind of political demagoguery and is an infamous lie; and I submit to you that the members of this Assembly have taken every possible means to protect the credit of the State of California. So far as the other statements are concerned I can only say that they are also lies and particularly No. 5 that "they callously ignore the problem of rural housing for migrants and other agricultural workers now living in tenements" has just been proven a lie on account of the vote just taken on the Housing Bill when I took the floor.

I believe this sort of thing should be stopped. The members of the Assembly who have dared to exercise their right of independent judgment have been made the objects of abuse and vilification by people who should really know better. I want to make this point clear.

(Point of order by Mr. Reaves.)

I would like, in order to protect the members that this statement be printed in the Journal.

Explanation of Vote on Assembly Bill No. 105.

In voting against this bill I do not condone the inefficient and gross extravagance practiced in the administration of SRA. I honestly believe should relief be returned to the counties for administration, it would result in chaos and inefficiency in the administration of relief. It would also place the burden of support upon the several counties as no provision is made for State aid after the end of the present biennium. The property owners can ill afford any increase of the real property tax rate.

HUGH M. BURNS.

Communication.

On motion of Mr. Johnson, the following communication was ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL,
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, February 22, 1940.

Honorable Edward F. O'Day,
Assembly Chamber, State Capitol,
Sacramento, California.

Subject: County obligations for unemployment relief.

Request: No. 7741.

DEAR MR. O'DAY: In response to your request we have prepared this opinion concerning the scope of the mandatory and permissive functions in regard to unemployment relief that may devolve upon the counties if Assembly Bill No. 105, as amended February 19, 1940, is enacted into law. Generally speaking Assembly Bill No. 105 does not appropriate any money from the State treasury, but does provide the conditions and the procedure for the expenditure of all appropriations to be made by other provisions of law for unemployment relief.

The question you have asked is whether if the appropriations to be made by the provisions of law are insufficient what is the obligation that will be imposed upon the counties, if any.

Under the present status of the law, unemployment relief is solely administered and financed by the State under the California Unemployment Relief Act of 1935 (Deering Act 8780e, Stats. 1935, Chap. 675, p. 1850).

Indigent relief, as distinguished from unemployment relief, is solely administered and financed by the counties under Chapter 2 of Division IV of the Welfare and Institutions Code. In regard to indigent relief, as distinguished from unemployment relief, the duty imposed upon the county is mandatory under the existing laws and the counties are required to make provision for such indigent relief (County of Los Angeles vs. Payne (1937), 8 Cal. (2d) 563; San Francisco vs. Collins (1932), 216 Cal. 187).

In regard to unemployment relief, section 2501 of the Welfare and Institutions Code authorizes, but does not require, a county to give emergency relief to dependent nonresidents. Section 200 of the Welfare and Institutions Code authorizes the counties to provide for the care and maintenance of the indigent sick and dependent poor of the county and for that purpose to levy the necessary property taxes. Subdivision 7 of section 4307 of the Political Code declares to be county charges the necessary expenses incurred in support of the indigent sick "and otherwise dependent poor, whose support is chargeable to the county."

Assembly Bill No. 105 does not alter this permissive authority of the county to use county funds for unemployment relief and to levy taxes therefor, it neither diminishes or enlarges this authority as a matter of law, and thereby keeps within the scope of the proclamation.

The situation therefore appears to be that under the existing status of the law and irrespective of the provisions of Assembly Bill No. 105 a county has permissive authority to grant unemployment relief but no mandatory duty to do so.

Under Assembly Bill No. 105 the permissive authority of the county to continue to grant such unemployment relief from county funds is not altered. The county is obligated by the provisions of section 17 to administer unemployment relief as a governmental agency of the State Relief Administration and to use the money appropriated by the State for this purpose. If the money appropriated by the State is insufficient the county may, but is not required to, use county money for unemployment relief.

Very truly yours,

FRED B. WOOD, Legislative Counsel.

By ARTHUR McHENRY, Deputy.

The facts constituting such necessity are as follows:

The appropriation for unemployment relief for the ninety-first fiscal year is inadequate and is about to be exhausted. Unless this act providing immediate funds for the support of self-help cooperative organizations and associations is speedily made, large numbers of persons will be forced to seek direct relief to the impairment of their self-respect and an additional drain on the State treasury will be caused thereby."

Amendments adopted.

Bill read second time, ordered to reprint, and engrossment.

Transcript Taken at Hearing of William Elconin.

Pursuant to the substitute motion made by Mr. Williamson on February 20, 1940, and appearing in Assembly Journal of February 20, page 324, "that the transcript taken at the hearing of William Elconin be printed in the Journal and that the reporter be paid the statutory fee," following herein is printed said transcript.

(During the entire course of the proceedings here reported, the Honorable Gordon H. Garland, Speaker of the Assembly, was in the chair, and the Honorable Jack Carl Greenburg, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, was at the desk. In each case in which a member of the Assembly desired a question asked of the witness, the member was recognized by the Speaker and stated his question. If the Speaker ruled the question proper, he then directed the witness to answer, or repeated the question and directed the witness to answer.)

The Speaker:

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly reports that he has arrested Mr. William Elconin pursuant with House Resolution No. 38, which resolution was duly adopted on February 17th by the Assembly.

Mr. Sergeant-at-Arms will you please escort Mr. Elconin to the bar of the Assembly?

Mr. Johnson:

I should like to point out that the witness should be sworn in before being allowed to testify.

Mr. Rosenthal:

I would suggest that the gentleman before being sworn in on oath be advised of any constitutional rights he has under this proceeding.

Mr. Williamson:

I move that Mr. Rosenthal be appointed his counsel.

Mr. Rosenthal:

This man is here as a witness and not really on trial. All he has to do is give reasons why he did not produce records and books.

Mr. Yorty:

Ask the gentleman if he knows his rights. He was coached plenty in back.

Mr. Atkinson:

Do I understand that this is being taken down by a court reporter?

Mr. Speaker:

That is correct.

Mr. Collins:

I believe that the witness, even though only here as a witness, should be notified as to his rights under section 13 of Article I of the Constitution of the State of California, which provides that in criminal proceedings in any court whatsoever, the party accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial and to have the process of the court and counsel, the attendance of witnesses in his behalf and to defend himself in person and with counsel.

Mr. Williamson:

Will you print in the record that the man is properly advised?

Mr. Speaker:

Will the witness kindly identify himself?

Mr. Elconin:

Mr. Speaker and members of the House: My name is William Elconin. I am chairman of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, Local 89, affiliated with the CIO.

Mr. Speaker:

Mr. Elconin, you are instructed that you are now required to answer the questions as they are propounded.

Mr. Clerk:

Were you, upon the fourteenth day of February, 1940, served with a subpoena directing you to appear before the Assembly Relief Investigating Committee at room 426 in the State Capitol at Sacramento, California, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m., on Friday, the sixteenth day of February, 1940, as a witness in the investigation by the committee and commanded to bring with you the following:

"(1) a complete list or roster of all persons who are now, or who were during any part of 1939, members of, or who now have, or who had, during any part of 1939 membership in or who now hold, or who held during any part of 1939, membership cards in the Los Angeles State Relief Administration Local of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America;

(2) the complete record of all funds, received by the Los Angeles State Relief Administration Local of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, either in the form of dues or contributions from all persons whatsoever during the year 1939, including the complete list of all persons paying such dues or making such contributions to the Los Angeles State Relief Administration Local of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America."

Mr. Elconin:

Yes, I was so served.

Mr. Clerk:

Did you appear at the time and place designated in the subpoena, and if you did, did you bring with you at that time the lists or rosters or other documentary material as required by that subpoena?

Mr. Elconin:

I did not appear and so naturally I did not bring the records.

Mr. Clerk:

Are you now prepared to produce before the Assembly Relief Investigating Committee as a witness and to testify concerning the matters and things pertaining to the investigation of the said committee and will you appear?

Mr. Elconin:

I have been so prepared for the past two days. I attempted to appear and would like to explain also why I did not appear. I will appear if the committee so desires.

Mr. Clerk:

Are you prepared to produce before the Assembly Relief Investigating Committee the material required of you by the subpoena?

Mr. Elconin:

I am not so prepared because the organization which I represent was advised by counsel that the committee had no authority to request such records.

Mr. Clerk:

Do you refuse to produce the material required by the subpoena?

Mr. Elconin:

I think that is a leading question.

Mr. Rosenthal:

He was advised by counsel that he did not have to produce the records.

Mr. Clerk:

Will you produce the material required by the subpoena?

Mr. Elconin:

Upon the advice of counsel I will not produce the records.

Mr. Speaker:

You may now state your reasons, if any you may have, for your refusal to appear before the committee and testify, and for your refusal to produce the lists, rosters, or other documentary material required of you by the subpoena issued by the committee.

Mr. Elconin:

I would like to say this in answer to that question: I received the subpoena that was dated on the fourteenth day of February and immediately wired the chairman of this committee as follows:

"Arrange by Postal my expenses Los Angeles to Sacramento and return if you want me as a witness."

This was sent collect and was not answered. The next afternoon I sent the following telegram:

"Expenses not received, unable come unless received today."

I received no reply to this telegram although I remained in the union office until 7.45, at which time the last train went. Not having received such funds, I was unable to arrive at the committee meeting at the proper time. As an employee of the State Relief Administration I receive $130 a month and the expenses of a trip such as this were not available. I immediately realized that an appearance was necessary at the earliest possible time and borrowed such funds from friends. I left Friday to come to that hearing. On the way up I learned that the chairman of the committee had advised the newspapers that I refused to attend. I deny that I have refused to attend any hearing ordered by the Legislature. I was also informed through the newspapers that the committee had postponed its hearings until Monday and that a resolution was to be introduced for the Sergeant-at-Arms to pick me up in Los Angeles along with the records. Knowing this, I did not appear before the committee at 10 a.m. on Monday. Shortly after I spoke to the chairman of the committee explaining the reason for my tardiness and gave him an entire explanation. He saw fit to discount my explanation and saw fit to say that I had recourse to funds to which I have not. I was unable to be here on account of lack of funds and the telegram specified to come to these hearings on time. I did not, I wish to reiterate, refuse to come to these hearings. I attempted again and again to attend these hearings. I was denied that right and was informed that I was held in contempt. I was informed that I had no rights but to remain within this hall for when the committee was in session. With reference to the records, upon receipt of the subpoena, our union took advice from counsel. They were told that it was their right not to submit the records because the committee did not have the authority to request them. I am not prepared to debate legal questions on this stand, which is said on the advice of counsel.

Mr. Clerk:

Do you have any other reasons for your refusal to produce the lists, rosters, or other documentary material required of you by the subpoena issued by the committee?

Mr. Elconin:

I have only one other reason. I am not in charge of those records.

Mr. Clerk:

Who is in charge of those records?

Mr. Elconin:

I don't know at this time but I will be glad to communicate the information to the Assembly.

Mr. Clerk:

Have you ever seen the records?

Mr. Elconin:

Yes, I have seen them regularly.

Mr. Clerk:

Do you know where the records are kept?

Mr. Elconin:

The records are kept in the main office.

Mr. Clerk:

Are they there now?

Mr. Elconin:

I believe so.

Mr. Clerk:

Who was in charge of the office at the time the records were subpoenaed?

Mr. Elconin:

The union office is in charge of the first vice president of the district of the State, County and Municipal Workers of America, Mr. Glenn E. Mayfield.

Mr. Clerk:

What is his address?

Mr. Elconin:

It is already known since it appeared on the subpoena, 212 West Third Street, Los Angeles.

Mr. Clerk:

Did you know where the records were when you were served?

Mr. Elconin:

I did.

Mr. Clerk:

Did you demand witness fees at the time you were served?

Mr. Elconin:

I did. I immediately explained to the gentleman who served me, whose name I do not recall, that I had no funds. I was told that I would have to communicate with the chairman of the committee for funds, which I did, but no funds were received.

Mr. Call:

Who was in charge of the records at the time the subpoena was served?

Mr. Elconin:

I frankly do not know the exact office. The constitution of the organization will define that. I am unable to determine that at this time. It will be submitted to the committee by communication of the organization.

Mr. Call:

Who had the physical custody of the records at the time the subpoena was served?

Mr. Elconin:

The records reposed, as I already said, in the office of the organization and they were there at that time.

Mr. Speaker:

Who had physical custody of the records at the time the subpoena was served?

Mr. Elconin:

I wish you would interpret the question for me.

Mr. Speaker:

Who had physical custody means exactly that. Who was in charge and had physical custody of the records at the time the subpoena was served?

Mr. Elconin:

I have already given the name of the gentleman in charge of the office, but I am certain he had no power to release the records as they were the property of the local organization and he is the vice president for the whole of California. It would be up to the local to determine that and as I have already said I should be glad to communicate with the person in charge.

Mr. Millington:

Who made the entries in the books?

Mr. Elconin:

The financial secretary of the local has charge of making those entries.

Mr. Millington:

Under whose direction?

Mr. Elconin:

The individual is responsible to the executive committee of the organization.

Mr. Millington:

Just where do you fit into this situation?

Mr. Elconin:

As chairman of the organization; I am chairman of the executive board and as chairman of the executive board I simply preside at the meetings of the organization—at the regular monthly membership meetings and semimonthly meetings.

Mr. Millington:

Who puts the books away at night and takes them out in the morning?

Mr. Elconin:

I am not in the Union office so exactly which individual puts them away I do not know unless it is Mr. Mayfield or the office secretary.

Mr. Millington:

Do you ever touch them?

Mr. Elconin:

Yes, I touched them on certain occasions.

Mr. Millington:

How far do you go in the handling of those books and records?

Mr. Elconin:

I only observe them on very rare occasions, that is with the financial secretary when she is about to submit a financial report.

Mr. Millington:

If a man came in and the book was in the safe, would you take it out?

Mr. Elconin:

No. I would not take it out. The financial secretary would be the only one who has the responsibility of writing in the books or making entries.

Mr. Millington:

Who is the financial secretary?

Mr. Elconin:

A new secretary is elected. Florence Scott.

Mr. Call:

I would like to ask one question which may or may not be germane. Would this gentleman know at the time of the subpoena that he was unable to bring the records?

Mr. Elconin:

I have answered that. I did not have the authority. Yes, I knew that.

Mr. Call:

Why is it that you did not notify the chairman of this committee to that effect instead of putting the Assembly to this expense?

Mr. Elconin:

I should like to state that I expected no expense to be paid by this organization. I came here on borrowed money. The original telegram was for traveling expenses here and back to the hearings. The subpoena served me as an individual and testimony as an individual was required. It is for that I came to the investigation.

Mr. Carlson:

The witness evaded the question. He should either refuse or answer the question.

Mr. Speaker:

I would say the answer was sufficient.

Mr. Carlson:

I would personally like to have the witness answer or not answer the question. I would like to know why he did not advise the chairman of the committee about the books not being in his custody instead of wasting all this time.

Mr. Speaker:

I think he answered that.

Mr. Carlson:

He did not answer the last part about the Assembly being put to all this expense.

Mr. Clerk:

Why did you not advise the committee that you did not have the custody of the books?

Mr. Elconin:

I don't know. The subpoena requested me to be here with the records. I assumed that the committee wanted me whether the records came or not so I arrived as per schedule. I did then explain to the committee what had happened. The fact that the Assembly may have been put to some trouble was never in my mind or never in my intentions.

Mr. Voigt:

If your counsel had not advised you in regard to the records, would you have brought the records to the committee?

Mr. Elconin:

I would have had no authority to bring them without a meeting of the executive committee. If they had authorized it I would have brought them.

Mr. Millington:

Irrespective of the consent of the board of directors you could have taken the records up here, isn't that so?

Mr. Speaker:

I think the ground has been pretty well covered. I am going to return the witness to the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms until this body decides what they wish to do in the matter.

Mr. Speaker:

The witness is called back temporarily. It is the opinion in the minds of the members of the Legislative Counsel Bureau that no further questioning is necessary. However, I do not want to act in an arbitrary manner and I am going to call the witness back to the stand. No more questions than are absolutely necessary or germane are to be asked.

Mr. Millington:

Was there anything physically that would have prevented you from picking the records out of the safe and bringing them here?

Mr. Speaker:

That question is improper.

Mr. Tenney:

Does he receive any compensation in his official position?

Mr. Speaker:

That question is improper.

Mr. Tenney:

Does he receive his necessary expenses for anything official he has to do as an official part of his job?

Mr. Speaker:

That question is improper.

Mr. Williamson:

The gentleman refused to recognize the subpoena because he did not have funds to make the trip. This is a pertinent question because he is receiving a salary from another organization which is in addition to the $130 he receives.

Mr. Speaker:

Mr. Tenney, you may ask your first question again.

Mr. Tenney:

Do you receive any compensation in your official position?

Mr. Elconin:

No. I receive no compensation whatsoever.

Mr. Speaker:

What was Mr. Tenney's second question?

Mr. Clerk:

Do you receive your necessary expenses for anything official you have to do as an official part of your job?

Mr. Elconin:

The answer is no. I receive no expenses whatsoever.

Mr. Yorty:

I want to ask the same question as Mr. Millington. This is a very important question. I believe the question should be "Did anything outside of the advice of counsel prevent the witness from taking possession of the records when he was in the office waiting to reply to my wire?"

Mr. Elconin:

The answer is that while I was in the office all of the records were locked within the official places where they are kept and I had no such recourse to the records unless I wished to break in and I do not propose to break the law to obtain records.

Mr. Speaker:

The witness is returned to the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms to await the further order of the House.
